Will Rogers Remarks:

SAN JOSE, Oct. 19. [To the Editor of The Times:] Well, sir, if you just get in an automobile and start prowling around California I bet you can find more different kinds of countries, more different kinds of people, more nice gentlemanly motor cops, more good roads, more different kinds of hot dogs and hamburgers, and more different kinds of weather. In fifty miles in an open car you will put on your overcoat and take it off twenty-five times, exactly once to every two miles. We will be in Palo Alto in about twenty minutes, Mr. Hoover's old civic center. I think I will stop and hold a Democratic rally.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TAX RATES UNCERTAIN

Levy on Incomes May Advance

March Installment Figures Will Determine If 1929 Cut Can Stand

Despite Revenue Decline, Treasury Maintains Confidence

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—The country will have to await announcement of figures on the installment of taxes due next March before it will know whether the 1 per cent tax reduction that was applicable to 1929 incomes can be continued on those of 1930.

Detailed figures on collections for the first quarter of the current fiscal year, which were made public today, show an obvious falling off all along the line, but they fail to disclose whether the downward trend is sufficiently great to warrant the assertion at this time that maintenance of the present tax rates for the current year's levy is impossible.

At first glance, the reported decline of $62,471,504 on one-fourth of the year's collections would seem to indicate fading chances for the 1 per cent cut. Especially does this appear true when the bulk of American business is struggling to obtain a life-sustaining supply of oxygen. But the Treasury actually still feels that there is hope, because receipts from the taxes on corporate and individual incomes, as compared with the same three months of last year, are about as had been calculated, while the collections from

PERSHING'S TALE TOLD

'Times' to Print War Secrets

Absorbing Story Written by American Commander on European Experiences

Extreme Candor Employed in Detailing His Relations With Allied Chiefs

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) Gen. Pershing has completed his story of America's participation in the war, a revealing 260,000-word narrative as vigorous and direct as his handling of this country's fighting forces in Europe.

For one and a half years the great soldier who was commander-in-chief of America's lusty army has been working on his memoirs, which begin with his selection to lead the Army overseas and end with the armistice.

The story is a high climax to all preceding narratives by notable figures in the war. And in it Gen. Pershing reveals for the first time, with straightforward candor, the tremendous difficulties, entanglements and embarrassments he met and overcame.

"TIMES" TO PRINT IT

He gives absorbing details of the mighty part played by the American armed forces, how they blotted out the German drive on Paris, the way in which they turned the tide at Chateau Thierry, how the drive in the Meuse-Argonne cut the German lines and forced the armistice.

Newspaper publication of the memoirs will begin in January, and the story will appear in the papers of the North American Newspaper Alliance, of which The Times is the only member in Southern California. When newspaper publication, which will be in daily instalments, is completed, the memoirs will be issued in book form by the Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York.

With utter frankness Gen. Pershing discusses his relations with the chiefs of the Allied armies, his uncompromising refusal to allow his men to be brigaded with the French and British, his victorious insistence that the American Army was to be that in fact, and not a mere supplement to the French and British forces.

UNWAVERING ACTION

Gen. Pershing describes the unrelenting pressure brought by Foch, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, the British commander-in-chief, Field Marshal Haig, and by others, and his own unswerving and challenging determination to maintain the American Army as a separate fighting entity, though in close, efficient and friendly co-operation with the other forces.

The general tells of a dramatic meeting of the Supreme War Council, when, through hours of argument, at times bitter, he insisted that there was to be "no parceling out of our men." And finally, he recounts, Lord Milner of the British delegation stage-whispered to Lloyd George: "You can't budge him an inch."

Gen. Pershing speaks frankly of a lack of co-operation with the American command in the early days of American participation. And he does not hesitate to disclose defects in the war organization of his own country, the difficulties in obtaining supplies and trained men, and the deplorable state of aviation in America when the United States got into the war, and he refers unhappily to his country's "false notions of neutrality," observing that these prolonged the war and cost many lives needlessly.

GLIMPSE INTO PALACE

The general gives an interesting glimpse into Buckingham Palace, where he was received by King George when he was on his way to France, and he cites a blazing remark made by the King as an indication of his hatred of the Kaiser.

"For a moment I was surprised at his language," writes Gen. Pershing, "but I quickly realized that it was merely a solemn expression of profound indignation, quite the opposite of profanity."

Gen. Pershing has written his

SECRECY OF WAR LIFTS

Documents Tell Inside Story

State Department Publishes Foreign Relations Data on World Conflict

Frequent Attempts to Talk Peace Revealed in Negotiations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—The curtain of secrecy behind which many of the international negotiations preceding the entrance of the United States into the World War were conducted was removed today by the State Department.

In a 1000-page supplement to the 1916 volume of papers dealing with the foreign relations of the United States, the department made public for the first time documentary details of many of the events of that tumultuous period.

Many notes between the American government and the nations already in the World War and between this country and other neutrals at the time of exchange were made public. The supplement contained extensive exchanges of notes and records of conversations by State Department officials with diplomats of foreign countries on many questions of moment at that time.

ATTENTION ON BALKANS

The first document in the publication was the memorandum sent by Frank L. Polk, then counselor for the State Department, to Representative Fitzgerald in response to the latter's request for information on action taken by the department in protest to certain acts of belligerents in violation of international law. This memorandum mainly answered criticism that the department had been unneutral in its attitude toward the central powers.

The documents showed the principal attention of the world powers early in 1916 to be centered about the prospect of the smaller countries of the Balkans joining in the war, particularly Albania and Rumania, and the question of concerted unification of the Allies' efforts to stem the tide of defeat which threatened.

Closely following in interest were the early efforts toward peace, the documents presenting a number of communications between the State Department and American diplomatic and consular missions abroad on this subject. One of the messages was from James W. Gerard, then American Ambassador to Germany, on May 2, 1916, in which the diplomat said he had "best reason to believe Germany will welcome mediation of (President Wilson) and any steps he may take looking to peace."

PEACE TALK REVIVED

This message was sent to the State Department by Gerard after a lengthy conversation with the Kaiser. A few days later word came from Madrid that King Alfonso considered the time favorable and was ready to co-operate with President Wilson to obtain peace.

Throughout the year talk of peace revived sporadically becoming particularly prominent September 25, through a request by Germany that if President Wilson would make an offer of good offices in general terms Germany would accept and be ready to send delegates to a peace conference. In October the British Ambassador informed the Secretary of State his government regarded the German peace offer as "insincere" and as "propaganda to throw the onus of continuing the war onto the Allies."

Other overtures were made, mainly informally, in Germany and Austria-Hungary with a view to bringing about an end of the war.

Talk of peace also continued in the other belligerent countries and was the subject of extensive discussions, the documents showed, among the diplomats of neutral powers throughout the world.

OVERTURE TURNED DOWN

The Central Powers December 12, communicated a definite peace offer to the Allies which was transmitted by the American Secretary of State to the representatives here of the Allies on December 16 for presentation to the governments concerned. The overtures of the Central Powers were turned down by the Allies.

"In reality the overture made by

ROAD ENVOYS AT TIA JUANA

Resort Mayor Tenders Banquet to Proponents of International Pacific Highway

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Representative

TIA JUANA, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—A picturesque caballero in the middle of the banquet hall is singing "Rancho Grande" to the music of a light guitar. When the Americans are not standing up toasting health, wealth and joy to President Ortiz Rubio, the Mexicans are standing up toasting President Hoover.

At the end of the dining-room are the Mexican colors flanked on both sides by the Stars and Stripes. Mexicans who can't speak English are exchanging heart beats of eternal friendship with Americans who have no Spanish. It is the Mexican answer to the official launching of the International Pacific Highway last Friday.

The delegates to the road convention left Los Angeles in a big gray bus early this morning on a trip to inspect the roads of Southern California; it is a blackboard lesson prior to the beginning of the work of building the great highway through Mexico. It enabled the Mexican officials to see where we have made expensive mistakes in the past; and where we learned by experience.

The first stop was at San Pedro, where the bus stopped on the cliffs overlooking the harbor—dotted with great battle ships. A Catalina boat was gliding out through the ship-

LOS ANGELES FOOD PRICES SHOW DROP

Decline of 12 Per Cent in Past Year Reported; Recent Upturn Noted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Retail food prices in Los Angeles declined 12 per cent in the twelve-month period from September 15, 1929, to September 15, last according to figures issued today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

NATION-WIDE GAIN FOR MONTH SHOWN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Retail food prices in the United States increased 1 1-3 per cent in the month ending September 15, last, after falling steadily for almost a year, but still were 9 1-2 per cent below September, 1919, average.

The Labor Department, in announcing the increase, said it applied principally to eggs, certain meats, potatoes, beans and cheese. Decreases were reported for onions, cabbage, sugar, flour, tea and some fruits.

Of the cities in which the department conducts the food-price inquiries, forty-eight showed an increase for the month. The advance being greatest in Washington and Pittsburgh, where it amounted to 4 per cent. Three cities showing decreases were Butte, Mont.; Charleston, S. C., and Little Rock, Ark., which reported declines of less than half of 1 per cent.

Two Flyers Die in Race Crash

TRENTON (N. J.) Oct. 19. (AP)—Two airplane pilots were killed today in a crash of their ships as they rounded the first pylon in the free-for-all races at the all-eastern air meet. The men were B. W. Mackey of Valley Stream, L. I., and George Zinn, Philadelphia.

The accident occurred late in the afternoon about 1000 feet from the Mercer Airport, site of the meet. Witnesses said Zinn clipped the tail of Mackey's ship as they turned the first marker. Both planes fell to the ground, Zinn's in flames. Mackey's ship was demolished and the wreckage was strewn over a wide area.

Rescue parties from the Pequot Yacht Club found the overturned boat later, but saw nothing of the three others who had been clinging to it. They were all from New York, one being the survivor's brother George.

The victims besides Kennedy were Marvin Kennedy, his 6-year-old son, and Edna Tyler, 11, and Harold Tyler, 4, his stepchildren.

Mrs. Kennedy, 40, is in a dangerous condition in a Parsons hospital tonight. Charles Tyler, 16, eldest in the family of seven children, who was burned critically in a futile attempt to rescue his sister Edna, and the youngest child, Bernard Kennedy, 6 weeks of age, also are in the hospital.

Death Ensnares Boy With Rare Type of Blood

OMAHA, Oct. 19. (AP) — Because his blood was of a rare type that could not be readily matched with that of four normal classes of human beings, Leonard Eckdahl, 10 years of age, of Craig, Neb., died Sunday morning at a hospital while attendants stood helplessly by, unable to do anything to check peritonitis that developed from a cold.

Thirty-four persons, including physicians, nurses, the boy's parents, other relatives and prominent Omaha business men, volunteered to give blood in a transfusion, necessary to save the lad's life, but none had the needed type of blood.

PLAYHOUSE MAN BEATEN IN BAY CITY

Chain Theater Manager Fighting Unions Slugged and Left Unconscious

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19. (AP)—Charles V. Taylor, manager of the Castro Theater here, was attacked and severely beaten early today by unidentified assailants in what police described as another move in an asserted campaign against a chain of San Francisco theaters.

The attack took place as Taylor was leaving the theater. He told police several men leaped on him from behind and as he struggled one struck him with a heavy weapon. He said they fled leaving him semiconscious on the pavement. There were no witnesses to the attack, he said, and he lay on the sidewalk until he regained consciousness and staggered back into the theater.

The attack followed closely on the discovery of an unexploded bomb Saturday in the Alhambra Theater. Both houses are owned by the Nasser brothers, who have been engaged in litigation for several months over union-labor troubles growing out of the installation of sound apparatus in their theaters.

The musicians' union has sought a court order compelling the Nassers either to reinstate human orchestras or close the theaters. The owners applied for an injunction prohibiting the union members from interfering with the business by picketing or other means. A third theater, the Royal, owned by the Nassers, was bombed last June.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 19. (AP) Oscar Pearson, 22 years of age, was sentenced to death in the electric chair by a jury here last night. It was the second time he had been sentenced to the extreme penalty for the murder of a detective sergeant and two volunteer officers who had arrested him.

The verdict in his first trial was appealed and the Kentucky Court of Appeals granted a new trial.

SHIP LOST IN BLIZZARD

Lake Craft With Four Missing

Severest Storm of Years Paralyzes Traffic in Erie District

Northern New York Under Deep Snow Blanket; Autos Marooned

DETROIT, Oct. 19. (AP)—A sixty-three-foot combination sail-and-motor boat with four men on board was reported missing in the storm on Lake St. Clair tonight. The boat left Belle River, Ont., Thursday night and has not been reported since. Two of the missing men were Joseph Daoust, 23 years of age, Detroit, and Morris Tripanier, 35, who lived on the boat. The others were not identified.

FREIGHTER AND TUG BEST LAKE ERIE STORM

ERIE (Pa.) Oct. 19. (AP)—The tug Texas, arriving in the harbor here late tonight, reported an Anchor Line freighter which had battled a gale and snowstorm, and was believed foundering in Lake Erie early in the evening, is in no danger.

The freighter had dropped anchor and had sounded signals to other boats while the blinding snowstorm was at its height. The boat then pulled anchor and steamed away.

Fear also had been expressed for the tug which went out to the freighter, but the tug was none the worse for its encounter with the heavy water and winds.

Erie tonight mobilized its unemployed to fight one of the worst early-season blizzards of recent years.

Representatives of railroads, traction companies, and of the State Highway Department recruited helpers wherever they could be found, to battle snow that, whipped by a twenty-five-mile-an-hour wind, has fallen almost steadily for twenty-four hours and still is falling late tonight, bearing trees and telegraph and telephone wires to the ground and seriously hampering road and rail communications.

Automobile traffic ashore is almost at a standstill, with several cars abandoned in the face of driving snow and mounting drifts. On Lake Erie, shipping kept to port rather than breast the mountainous waves driven before the gale.

Ashore the snow had covered the ground to a depth of more than a foot, with drifts several feet in depth. Cold accompanying the fall is believed to have ruined the remainder of the Chautauqua-Erie grape-belt crop, and possibly crops still in the ground as well.

STORM PREVENTS AID TO GROUNDED SHIP

PORT CLINTON (O.) Oct. 19. (AP) Stormy weather has for two days prevented Coast Guard boats from the base here from going to the aid of U. S. Coast Guardboat No. 229, which is aground near West Sister Island.

The crew of six men abandoned the boat and took shelter on the island, where they will suffer no inconvenience from the blustery weather, Coast Guardmen said. It is believed the crew and boat can be brought back tomorrow.

NORTHERN NEW YORK IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Oct. 19. (AP)—With heavy snow still falling, the freak blizzard that struck Western New York Saturday, blanketing some communities and missing others in the same general area, tonight is tightening its grip on the south shore of Lake Erie. Traffic is blocked on highways, leading south and west out of Buffalo, but only a few scattering flakes fell in the downtown section of the city. South Buffalo was blanketed with six inches.

The heaviest fall of snow is reported at Angola, where it is four feet on the level. The situation is acute tonight in that vicinity. More than 200 cars from various States were stalled on the main road within a mile of the village and the occupants of the machines were cared for by residents. It is estimated that at least 1000 motorists were stalled between Wanakah and Dunkirk.

To add to the hardships, the village waterworks at Wanakah is out of commission, due to power wires being torn down. This afternoon the roof of the Angola Hotel caved

HOOVER VISITS WITH SON

President Motors to Virginia Mountain Camp Probably for Last Time This Year

ORANGE (Va.) Oct. 19. (AP)—President Hoover today paid what may be his final visit this year to his Virginia Mountain camp. The Chief Executive motored here this morning from Washington to see Herbert Hoover, Jr., who is ill, and expected to return to the capital early tomorrow.

It may be the last time Mr. Hoover will see his son before he is moved, about November 1, to Asheville, N. C.

The Chief Executive intends to go to Princeton next week-end to see the Navy-Princeton football game, and plans have been made to take his son to North Carolina the following week.

Alterations are being made to the home on Sunset Mountain at Asheville which the President's son will occupy and the family hopes these will be completed by November 1, as the Presidential lodge is not equipped for comfort in cold weather.

President Hoover was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sullivan of Washington, and Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician. Mrs. Hoover arrived earlier in the week to be with her son.

With the flow of water curtailed by the drought, the President found the water supply at his camp near the vanishing point. He was advised yesterday by Maj. E. C. Long, commandant of the camp marine detachment, that it will be undesirable to bring many guests to the lodge, as was his custom during the summer, because of the lack of water.

"SMITHY" BEATS HINKLER MARK

Kingsford Smith Arrives at Port Darwin, Australia

Flight From England Made in Less Than Ten Days

Lieut. Hill, Who Left Before He Did, Loses in Dash

PORT DARWIN (Australia) Oct. 19. (AP)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith, arriving here today from the Island of Timor, established a new record for flights between England and the Australian continent, and beat his friendly rival, Flight Lieutenant C. W. Hill, who left England four days earlier, to Australian soil.

The new mark is 9 days, 23 1-2 hours, considerably better than the previous record of 15 1-2 days, established in February, 1928, by Bert Hinkler. Kingsford Smith, who has made successful trans-Pacific and trans-Atlantic flights, left Heston Airdrome at 5:30 a.m. Thursday, the 9th inst., and landed here at 2 p.m. today (5 a.m. G.M.T. or midnight Saturday—Sunday E.S.T.) after the overwater hop from Timor.

HILL HAS HARD LUCK

Behind him on the Island of Timor he left Flight Lieutenant Hill, who Saturday morning on the verge of breaking Hinkler's record by a day himself overturned his plane on a beach between Peopang and Atapoepoe, Timor, damaging his plane. He escaped uninjured, but his mishap allowed Kingsford Smith to overtake him and get to Australia first. Had Hill arrived first he would have beaten Hinkler's record by a few hours and established a record of his own which would have held until Kingsford Smith's arrival today.

"Smithy," as Australia knows the airman, whose feats many consider to surpass those of Col. Lindbergh, appeared tanned and well as he descended from his plane. It was almost impossible to realize he had been through one of the most grueling flights in the history of aviation, and that the trip had been made against his doctor's advice. Kingsford Smith had two operations and two bouts with influenza in the few weeks preceding his start from Hesto, Middlesex.

HE ASKS FOR CIGARETTE

His first act on landing was to ask for a cigarette. He also was offered whisky and soda, but refused, replying: "No, thanks, I prefer flying on water."

Describing the last lap of his flight, over the dangerous Timor Sea, Kingsford-Smith commented it was the best he had ever made and he had averaged 110 miles per hour. He said he had to allow a variation of 5 deg., owing to a strong wind, but he had sighted Bathurst Island, near here, at the time he had expected.

He said he was grieved to hear of the accident to Flight Lieutenant Hill, who "put up a splendid fight." He was loud in praise of the 125-horsepower single-engined Avro "Avian" plane which brought him safely across 10,000 miles of terrain, including plains, mountains, jungle and sea.

Kingsford Smith will leave here Monday morning for Sydney, where his fiancee, Miss Mary Powell, whom he had hoped to marry shortly after his westward flight across the Atlantic, is awaiting him. The government, municipality, and old friends of war days are feting him while he is here, but now that he is this far he is eager to continue and complete the flight to Sydney, his home.

KINGSFORD-SMITH TAKES OFF FOR SYDNEY

PORT DARWIN (Australia) Oct. 20. (AP)— (Monday)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, continuing across continent his record-breaking England-Australia flight, took off from the airdrome here at 6:30 a.m., today for Sydney, where he will meet his family and his fiancee, Miss Mary Powell.

The Australian ace, flying in his airplane Southern Cross, Jr., sped away from the wild desert country of the northern territory of South Australia on what may be the last of his great long-distance flights. He is said to have given a promise to his fiancee that he will abandon such attempts after his marriage.

Half an hour after he had left for Sydney, Capt. R. F. Matthews, who also had flown from London to Australia, followed him into the air.

NEW YORK EX-WIFE INVENTS 'RENO RING'

Mrs. Nan Barclay

LABEL FOR DIVORCEES PROPOSED

Nan Barclay Applies for Patent on Ring to Be Worn by "Free" Women

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) Mrs. Nan Barclay, who recently procured a divorce from McClelland Barclay, prominent illustrator, has set about to label the divorcees so that nobody will mistake them for women with husbands.

Mrs. Barclay, titian-haired and attractive, who has returned to her home in London Terrace, New York, from a recent sojourn in Reno, has invented and applied for patents on the type of "Reno ring" which she wears to proclaim her status of divorcee.

The ring, of black onyx, is plain, like an old-fashioned wedding ring, and is worn on the third finger of the left hand, dedicated by tradition to the engagement and wedding bands. Inside the ring, where in wedding rings the initials of bride and bridegroom so often appear, are engraved the four significant letters, "Free."

The expedition stopped for luncheon at San Clemente and all the Mexican delegates were pleased pink to find that the illustrious caballero, Don Ole Hanson, has built a beautiful Spanish city where all other architecture is forbidden. It also impressed them to notice the names of the towns as we dashed by—Balboa, Laguna, San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente, San Luis Rey, La Jolla, San Diego—the flavor of Old Mexico.

TIA JUANA BANQUET

The car stopped for a few moments at San Diego to pick up Gov. Francisco Elias of Sonora who had come down ahead in a private car to visit a sister who lives there. The expedition crossed the line where a squad of Mexican motor cops took up the escort in place of the State police, who turned back.

We visited a palatial new schoolhouse on the hills above Tia Juana; then spent an hour at Agua Caliento—the Monte Carlo of the Western Hemisphere.

A banquet was then given in Tia Juana by the Mayor of that place in the name of Gov. Bernal of Baja California, who sent his felicitations and a warm welcome to Mexico.

The reason the delegates were taken to Tia Juana was to illustrate the value of a road for the tourist trade—our 9,000,000 tourists in one year—more than 4,500,000 cars. They were duly impressed.

under the weight of snow. Twenty-five persons fled from the place to safety when a bulging wall gave warning.

Twenty girls in a Y.W.C.A. camp at Brant, on the lake shore, are marooned with little food and no lights or heat. The camp is on a road off the main highway. Snow plows are at work trying to make the Brandt road passable.

Saranac Lake, in the heart of the cold north country, reported today a typical winter day, with snow flurries, a temperature below freezing and high winds. The surrounding mountains are mantled in white.

WARMER IN SOUTH

Plattsburgh reported somewhat warmer weather, but with snow in the Danne Mora neighborhood. The Adirondacks appear to have been a good barrier for the wintry blasts, for Glen Falls, seated on their southeastern rim, reported the temperature did not go below 39 deg.

The central part of the State shivered, with the temperature in many places around the 36 mark, with snow flurries and high winds. Syracuse reported a light snowfall tonight after flurries during the day. The lowest temperature there was 36, Albany's lowest, too.

The outposts of winter reached to the southern border, where Binghampton had high, cold winds. Poughkeepsie, down the Hudson Valley, reported similar weather.

A telephone message was received tonight by the Courier Express from a farm house, two miles east of Farnham, on the Lake Shore road, saying sixty-seven motorists were marooned in the place and that food was scarce. An urgent appeal was transmitted to the county authorities for the immediate dispatch of snow plows.

WINTER ADVANCES ON MASON-DIXON LINE

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19. (AP)—The advance guard of winter reached the Mason-Dixon Line today on a foray that began in the northwest last week.

Snow filtered through leaden clouds over much of the Middle West. Flurries reached the central section of Missouri before the sun broke through in a belated rearguard action for summer's cause.

Temperatures continue below freezing in Illinois and adjacent States. Generally fair weather is reported in the Rocky Mountain area. Autumnal showers fell in Oklahoma. Rains were general in North Texas.

Clear, cool weather prevails in Utah, Southern Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Colorado. Western Wyoming reported lower temperatures.

The maximum today in Dallas, Tex., was 65, slightly warmer than yesterday. Temperatures in Kansas City remained near the freezing point until noon. The low in Salt Lake City last night was 39, the temperature rising today to 60.

Wheat farmers of Missouri and Kansas welcomed the moisture as part of winter's contribution to the stand of grain next spring.

CHICAGO TEMPERATURE ABNORMALLY LOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Still in the grip of the Canadian-born cold wave, Chicago today shivered in abnormally low temperatures which dropped to 27 deg. earlier in the day, equaling the lowest reading recorded for so early in the season.

Prospects for relief here and in other parts of the Middle West were dim as the official forecast for tomorrow predicted continued cold with minimum temperatures between 24 and 28 deg. above.

EUROPE YIELDS ANCIENT RELICS

American Expedition Finds Dawn Age City

Bronze Age Artifacts Show Prehistoric Culture

Nordic Traces Seen in Much of Materials

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19. (AP)—Objects belonging to a period of culture more than 5000 years old have been unearthed by the Central European expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Philadelphia and the Peabody Museum, Cambridge.

Announcement of the discoveries was contained in a report from Dr. Vladimir J. Fewkes, a field director of the expedition, made public here tonight. The objects included pottery vessels, bronze earrings, bracelets, arrowheads and iron knives. They revealed, Dr. Fewkes stated, a settlement of people belonging to the earliest Bronze Age.

WORK DESCRIBED

"The second summer's work of the expedition," Dr. Fewkes's report said, "has produced a number of interesting and important finds. In the course of our excavations at Horovice, southwest of Prague in Czecho-Slovakia, we have uncovered objects that point to Slavic burials of the late Bronze and early Iron ages.

"In addition to this we have carried on extensive digging at Homolka, northwest of Prague, where the finds reveal a settlement of people belonging to the so-called Nordic phase of the Eneolithic or earliest Bronze Age period 5000 years ago.

"When the whole site has been completely dug it will mark the first time in the history of European archaeology that a primitive Nordic settlement has been excavated.

LONG OCCUPIED

"In addition to the Eneolithic objects, types of very primitive pottery have come to light which indicate the site was possibly occupied over a long period, or perhaps, that in this region a number of different cultures met and later merged into one.

"Extensive excavations have been carried on at Chrastany, west of Prague, where objects representative of Neolithic and Bronze Age cultures were found. The material recovered was most important including some beautiful Bronze Age pottery and a perforated hoe of the same period.

"The whole Central European region is archaeologically very important and as yet little understood, and when the finds of the expedition have been studied and the results published no little light will be thrown on the prehistory of man in Europe."

GRAND CANYON YIELDS ANCIENT POTTERY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) — The discovery of three unusually well-preserved pieces of Indian pottery in an old food cache high in the walls of the Grand Canyon has been reported to the National Park Service.

Park Ranger Arthur Soper with Caretaker Davis of Cottonwood Camp while looking for cliff-dweller ruins in Bright Angel Canyon, a branch of Grand Canyon, made the find.

In addition to a large olla he found a smaller one in a corner surrounded by slabs for protection. A small piece was missing from the larger olla and while searching for that Soper found under a rock in the wall a small ladle of black-on-white ware with a black geometric design on the bowl and inner curve of the handle. The smaller olla was of corrugated ware and blackened on the bottom by age-old fires.

They will be added to the park museum collection.

The documents dealing with the question of neutral rights, most of which previously had been published, traced the development of American policy on this question, and culminated in the United States declaration to Germany that continued unrestricted submarine warfare would lead to this country's entrance into the war.

KEMAL PARTY WINS ISTANBUL ELECTION

ISTANBUL, Oct. 19. Liberal partisans assert the People's party used illegal means to insure their victory. "Elections like this," the opposition paper Yarin said, "prove what has been given us in the guise of liberty is merely a spoonful of soothing syrup."

Edward V. Valentine

SCULPTOR OF SOUTH SUCCUMBS

Edward Valentine, Famed for Statue of Southern Leader, Dies at Home

RICHMOND (Va.) Oct. 19. (AP)—Edward Virginus Valentine, sculptor, known principally for his recumbent statue of Robert E. Lee in the Lee Chapel at Lexington, Va., and other southern subjects, died at his home here today. He would have observed his ninety-second birthday on November 12, next.

Mr. Valentine had been in failing health for several months but his death came unexpectedly.

He was twice married, in 1872 to Alice Churchill Robinson, who died in 1883, and later to Katherine Cole Mayo, who died in 1927. There were no children.

RATE OF INCOME TAX UNCERTAIN

LEVEL HOLDING UP

The detailed statistics showed corporation tax receipts in the first three months of the fiscal year to have been $302,675,618, or only $14,055,350 below those for the same period last year, while collections from individual incomes were $251,050,206, or a decline of $41,684,842.

Thus, it was shown that of the total decline of $62,471,504, $55,740,192 was traceable to a falling off in income taxes and only $6,731,312 from miscellaneous sources. Obviously, with business conditions in their present reputed state, this latter item could have been much greater and the loss still would have occasioned no particular surprise.

While taxes on the great list of miscellaneous sources from which the government takes toll to supplement the levies on incomes totaled only about $607,000,000, or approximately one-fourth of the internal revenue receipts for the last fiscal year, it nevertheless has been encouraging to those in charge of the finances to see the level hold up.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

Against this optimism, however, must be set the falling off of customs receipts, a natural consequence of decreased buying power in this country with its obvious effect on imports on which duties are paid. Customs authorities, usually less involved by politics in their administrative functions than some other governmental agencies, explain that the winter and early spring months are better revenue producers than late summer and fall. So there may be a change in the aspect of customs receipts in advance of March 15, 1931, and this factor cannot now be judged accurately.

The Treasury's routine statement, itemizing the first quarter's receipts, show declines as compared with the months of July, August and September of last year, in thirty out of thirty-six items. Receipts from taxes on corporate and individual incomes obviously are the two largest of the thirty. Only three others showed losses of a million dollars or larger in the quarterly period compared with the corresponding period of last year. These were $5,314,147 in stamp taxes on capital stock sales and transfers; $1,350,770 in stamp taxes on bonds of indebtedness, capital stock issues, etc., and $1,694,626 in collection of delinquent taxes assessed under laws since repealed.

TOBACCO TAXES

There was an increase of $3,769,201 in taxes on estates of descendants and $1,861,286 in taxes on the ordinary cigarettes, because this form of tobacco yields the great bulk of tobacco tax. Tobacco taxes of every kind combined showed a gain of less than $10,000 in the three-month period over the same quarter last year, because the gain on cigarettes was offset by losses in cigars and manufactured tobacco taxes. The yield from the cigarette tax in the first three months was $97,894,061 compared with $96,036,941 for the same months last year.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue does not expect the tobacco tax to increase this year, but it anticipates something near an even break with the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1930. And thus this considerable item of revenue can be counted on to help out in the end, it is thought.

EDITH RANSOM SEEKS LIBERTY

Lawyer Engaged by Bay City Actress Held in Jail

Writ May be Asked Today to Get Her Out of Cell

Sanity Hearing Plan Evokes Prisoner's Defiance

SEATTLE, Oct. 19. (AP)—Edith Ransom, San Francisco stage player who arrived here yesterday from the Orient on the American liner President Taft, and who is being held in the City Jail "for safe keeping," today laid initial plans in her fight to regain her liberty.

Miss Ransom, ill, nearly penniless, and in a nervous condition, was turned over to the Travelers' Aid Society on arrival here. She was taken first to the City Hospital and later to the jail. She retained a lawyer when she was informed, she said, she is to be taken before a sanity commission tomorrow.

WRIT MAY BE ASKED

Her lawyer said he will apply for a writ of habeas corpus tomorrow unless a charge is filed against his client. He said at present she is merely held for safe-keeping on complaint of the Travelers' Aid, no formal charge having been filed.

The attorney said he also is considering having his client examined by physicians in advance of any contemplated examination by State alienists.

"I may be temperamental, but I am not crazy," Miss Ransom was quoted as saying when she learned of the proposed hearing. "It is a serious thing to charge a person with insanity. Whoever is responsible for this will have a lot to answer for. I am not in the least upset about facing any commission. I think I can look after myself."

ILLNESS RECOUNTED

Miss Ransom left Honolulu on the steamer Malolo, being transferred to the Taft at Yokohama. She said she became ill while visiting friends on the ship, on which she had formerly served as hostess. The Malolo was at sea, she said, when she recovered.

She is endeavoring to get in touch with prominent people in California, Washington, D. C., and Hawaii, from whom she is seeking aid in her present plight.

NEGRO PLAY IN GERMANY CAUSES RIOT

Audience Protests Drama Purporting to Show Race Oppression in America

STUTTGART (Germany) Oct. 19. (AP)—An unprecedented demonstration against a play purporting to describe the oppression and exploitation of Negroes in the United States tonight brought out police riot squads here and caused the closing of the theater in which the performance was being given.

The police used their clubs on the demonstrators. The play is "Shadows Over Harlem," written by Osip Dymov. Its opponents confined their protest at first to catcalls and the blowing of police whistles, but when the author appeared on the stage they broke into pandemonium.

The disorder spread to the street and the riot squads were called out, surrounding the audience and closing the theater.

GEN. PERSHING RELATES STORY

story in soldierly fashion, which intensifies its drama. It is straight to the point, courageous, telling. And with its grimness there also is humor; the day, for instance, when the general went to Adenkirke to be received by the King of Belgium. The train arrived ten minutes early, and while the general battled his way into his boots and a fresh uniform the King waited on the station platform.

"Sir," cried the agonized aide, "the King is standing at salute!"

It was not until the welcoming band was on its fourth rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" that Gen. Pershing, presumably somewhat hot and bothered, was properly apparelled to appear.

But the King seemed to relish the situation, and later gave Gen. Pershing something to chuckle over himself when he inquired with amused curiosity about the habits of American Congressmen, having received a war-junketing delegation of these.

Democratically, some of them had addressed him as "Albert," and one, even more friendly than the rest, slapped the Belgian monarch on the back and exclaimed: "King, you're the right sort of fellow."

First Aid to Victim Balks Card Party Hold-up

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (AP)—Twenty-three persons at a card party in suburban Beverly Hills were held up early today by two men who gave first aid to one victim who suffered a heart attack and then failed in their mission when another intended victim slipped away and obtained police help.

One of the guests, Mrs. Gertrude Ilg, used one arm to hold up her other when the "hands-up" order was given. The robbers allowed her to lie down when they were told she was partly paralyzed. Mrs. Ilg's husband, fearing for his wife's condition, collapsed in a heart attack and the hold-up men gave him first aid.

WOMAN QUIZZED IN CHILD DEATH

Ground Glass Discovered in Vitals of Denver Girl

Stepmother Hysterical After Long Questioning

Bloody Tire Iron in Car Also Provides Clew

DENVER, Oct. 19. (AP)—While detectives quizzed Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin for hours today in an effort to obtain clews to the brutal murder of her stepdaughter, Leona O'Loughlin, 10 years of age, toxicologists announced they had found ground glass in the viscera of the child, whose body was discovered last Friday in the shallow waters of a city park lake.

Hysterical and weeping, Mrs. O'Loughlin was arrested and taken to police headquarters, and after almost four hours of questioning, the detective force announced she apparently is able to shed no light on the manner in which the child had eaten the glass.

BLOODY IRON FOUND

Clark said a tire iron, bearing blood and strands of the tam-o'-shanter worn by the child when she disappeared, had been found in the automobile in the O'Loughlin garage. Fingerprints, he added, had been discovered on the handle of the tire iron. He expressed the belief that two wounds found on the scalp of the child were inflicted with the iron before her body was thrown into the lake.

Physicians announced Leona had swallowed the glass Tuesday night. She disappeared either that night or early Wednesday morning from her home. She was reported absent by her father, a city detective, on Wednesday, only a short time before he became violently ill. The father now is in a Denver hospital where an analysis of his stomach is under way.

Doctors said O'Loughlin exhibited symptoms of having eaten glass.

GLASS WOULD KILL

While the ground glass eaten by Leona, they said, would have caused death within five or six hours, they did not believe this killed her. Blows from the tire iron rendered her unconscious and she was thrown into the lake in that condition, in their opinion.

Mrs. O'Loughlin told detectives that she had been sick for two days prior to Leona's disappearance, and believed she had been made ill by the ground glass, as had her son, Douglas Millican, 8. The woman insisted that blood found on a towel stuffed between the cushions of the automobile was the result of a nose bleed suffered by her son.

Mrs. O'Loughlin was lodged in the matron's quarters of the City Jail for the night.

Car Hints Fate of Federal Man

SPRINGER (N. M.) Oct. 19. (AP)—A posse aiding Federal prohibition agents late this afternoon began dragging a lake near Taylor, N. M., in search of the body of Dry Agent Ray Sutter, now missing two months, whose automobile was found today covered with brush in a deep arroyo.

So carefully had Sutton's car been hidden that until this afternoon the hiding place had escaped posses of hundreds of men and a Colorado National Guard plane, which combed the mountains of this region for Sutton and his car after the dry agent disappeared August 28.

SCRIBE'S RACE IN VAIN; REAL RACER GETS GIRL

ST. GEORGE (N. Y.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive) — Jimmy Driscoll, a Staten Island newspaper reporter, after racing ninety miles to Philadelphia, couldn't talk fast enough after he got there to prevent his fiancee from marrying a real automobile speed demon he revealed today after a shower return trip to St. George.

The girl he lost, Miss Florence Force Turner, 20 years of age, of Westleigh, S. I., married her man, Herman Schurch of Hollywood, Cal., automobile racer, Saturday, in a race-track ceremony at the Langhorne Speedway, Philadelphia.

Miss Turner met Schurch, Driscoll said, when she became an amateur racing driver. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turner and her father is the wealthy head of the Turner Construction Company.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Hollywood immediately after the ceremony.

Negro Shot by Mob After He Wounds Chief

WELDON (N. C.) Oct. 19. (AP)—An hour after Buddy Jackson, 30-year-old Negro, shot and seriously wounded Chief of Police Crew, who was attempting to arrest him on a minor charge, a crowd of armed men surrounded Jackson on the outskirts of Weldon and shot him down.

Bank Bandits Tie Up Cashier

CASHTON (Wis.) Oct. 19. (AP)—Tying and gagging Harold Larson, assistant cashier, and placing him in the vault, two men late Saturday escaped with $5337 from the Farmers' Exchange Bank here. Larson was found unconscious on the floor today.

Larson was discovered by his father, Carl Larson, and his sister, Ruth, who went to the bank in search of the young banker when he had failed to return home.

Young Larson still was in a dazed condition tonight but told authorities of Monroe county he had been working alone in the bank until 4 p.m. Saturday when the two men entered and attacked him.

Gold Dredges Get Millions in Old Field

SEWARD (Alaska) Oct. 19. (AP)—Five gold dredges operating in old placer workings in the Fairbanks district are gleaning nearly a ton of the yellow metal a week, it was learned here today, from the diggings which were abandoned years ago by the "hand" miners who discovered the deposits. Under primitive mining methods it was possible to recover only the more accessible of the gold.

The dredges started operating about June 1, last, and it is expected will be able to continue until the end of the present month before work is halted by cold weather. Operators estimate the dredges should yield approximately $10,000,000 for the season.

STEAM BOMB ROCKS PRISON

Panic at San Quentin After Slayer's Death Attempt

Prisoner Critically Injured as Result of Explosion

Blast Device Made of Tube and Wet Cardboard

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) — With a roar that rocked San Quentin prison and roused the countryside for a mile around, a bomb manufactured by a convicted murderer in his cell as a suicide attempt exploded early this morning, critically injuring the maker and sending prison inmates into temporary panic.

The maker of the bomb is William Kogut, a huge Polish lumberjack convicted in Butte county for stabbing to death Mrs. Mayme Guthrie, proprietor of a rooming-house, May 29, last. He has been in San Quentin since June 18 and his execution, set for August 22, was deferred pending the outcome of an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The bomb was devised by the use of a hollow steel tube removed from the metal bed in the cell. It was filled with torn bits of water-soaked playing cards and the end plugged with a broom handle. Kogut held the metal tube over a kerosene combination lamp and stove and as steam formed within to the explosive point, he placed the right side of his head to the hot metal.

BEAR VALLEY DAM IMPROVED

Crew of Men Gives Coating to Exterior Walls

First and Only Multiple-type Structure in West

But Engineers Declare That it Is Success

BEAR VALLEY, Oct. 19.—The Bear Valley Mutual Water Company, owners of the Bear Valley dam, with headquarters in Redlands, has a large force of men making improvements to the big dam. Gunnite coating is being applied to the exterior of the dam where time has brought checks and cracks to the outside surface.

J. J. Prendegast of Redlands, president and manager of the water company, stated that the work was done to improve the appearance of the dam and also to prevent further inroads through cracks caused by the action of the weather, freezing and thawing. Engineers have just completed thorough inspection of the dam and have reported that it is as sound as the day it was built.

This was the first large multiple-type dam built in the West and engineers are still watching it carefully to determine just how it will stand up. So far there has never been the least indication of a weakening of the dam anywhere.

At the present time there is two feet more water in the lake than there was at this time last year, and with one rain of more than two inches to start the season, there is hope that the lake will again be filled this year.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS DISCUSSED

Police Chief Tells of Work With Youngsters and Results Obtained

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 19.—Cases of juvenile arrest on liquor-law violations have decreased materially in Santa Monica during recent months, Police Chief Webb declared today. Following a juvenile "crime wave" of unusual proportions, which the beach city has experienced recently, the police executive declared that youthful indulgence in modern "parties" of the cocktail variety could not be blamed for the series of auto and other thefts which local officers have combatted. A large number of the offenders were not local residents, but runaways who had come to the beach amusement zones.

Well known for his constructive and widely adopted methods in handling juvenile cases, Chief Webb expressed his conviction that good judgment on the part of police agencies at the time of any juvenile arrest was the most important corrective factor in reclaiming the young offender to good citizenship.

POLICE CHIEF WEBB

"No effort should be spared," the Chief stated, "in investigating the juvenile first-offender's home surroundings. If his family is of good character, shocked at the lapse of this individual member, and if there is good reason to believe that hereafter strong pressure at home will be brought to keep the guilty member going straight, then there should be no criminal complaint filed, provided proper restitution is made to the injured party in the crime, or the injured party is willing to cooperate for the sake of the youngster's reclamation.

ATTITUDE CONSIDERED

"Of course, the attitude of the juvenile prisoner at the time of arrest must be taken into consideration also. Unless the youngster shows he understands fully the gravity of his offense, both against society and himself, then his best chance for arriving finally at such an understanding might lie in a sentence to a corrective institution. But if there is any other way out, the juvenile's best chance is another opportunity to live at home, where he can make good again among his friends and with their help."

Chief Webb related some interesting cases in which good families had been partially responsible for the waywardness of a juvenile member. Carelessness and lack of intimate, personal supervision of the youngster's affairs frequently led to trouble, he stated. He told of a case in which a boy repeatedly brought home valuable automobile accessories, explaining to his too-lenient father and mother that he had "traded something for it." When the boy was arrested for stripping numerous cars, his easy-going parents got a severe jolt. Another lad who had been given a new car by his father offerd a unique explanation when he was found guilty of stealing an expensive accessory from another car. "Some one stole a spare tire from my car," he explained; "and when I took this motor meter I thought I was just getting even." This lad declared later he couldn't understand how he had been so foolish.

CRIME "SUCKER GAME"

"If you can show the average juvenile offender that crime is a sucker game," Chief Webb contended, "you have made a big start toward his reclamation. I have talked with so many boys who stole a car because they wanted one so badly they just couldn't resist the temptation. Their richer friends went to school in automobiles, and, perhaps the girls were more friendly toward youths with cars to drive than toward their less-fortunate brothers. I have also talked with boys who had developed an idea that the life of a crook was exciting and an easy road to riches. But when I showed these boys the official records of many crooks who thought they were smart enough to beat the law, only to pay the inevitable penalty in the end, the false glamour of the life died a natural death. For after all, the hardest-working slave in the world, poorly paid, unhappy and constantly hounded, is the fellow who is trying to evade justice."

Woman Hurt as Train Hits Car

ONTARIO, Oct. 19. — Persons in the vicinity of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks and Euclid avenue feared death and destruction, when shortly before midnight they heard a crash, a grinding of steel and wood, and the terrified screaming of a human being.

The woman was Mrs. Dove Pierce, Negress, who was driving alone to her home on the south side of Ontario.

When crossing the railroad tracks an unobserved freight train crashed into her car.

The automobile and occupant were hurled for some distance, and Mrs. Pierce sustained several injuries, including cuts about the face and hands and two broken ribs.

The train was the second section of Southern Pacific No. 98, in charge of C. S. Courting, conductor, Los Angeles. It had slackened speed near the crossing, which probably saved the woman's life. As it was, Mrs. Pierce's automobile was demolished.

She was taken to San Antonio Hospital at Upland.

CHILDREN FORM "UNCLE WIGGILY'S" BIRTHDAY CAKE

Five Hundred Youngsters of Sierra Madre Honor Oliver T. Weidman

This human birthday cake, requiring tall candles placed in the form of the figure "66," was an outstanding feature of the largest birthday party ever staged in Sierra Madre, when children of that city gathered to observe the natal day of their friend and playmate, Oliver T. Weidman of Long Beach, known to them as "Uncle Wiggily."

SIERRA MADRE, Oct. 19.—A human birthday cake bearing tall candles and the figures, "66," fashioned by 500 children, proved the outstanding feature of the biggest birthday party ever staged in this city, when Oliver T. Weidman, better known to local children as "Uncle Wiggily," yesterday celebrated his sixty-sixth birth anniversary in the City Park.

The birthday cake, even to the candles, electrically lighted, was formed by the children, who were seated in a huge circle on the green grass of the park. Boys formed the outer circle while the girls formed the inner one and the figures in the center.

Following the formation of the birthday cake, a program of stunts and dancing followed, with W. R. Humphries acting as master of ceremonies.

"Uncle Wiggily" assisted his young friends in various acrobatic acts which he has taught them while playing in the City Park. Much to his surprise, Uncle Wiggily was presented with two huge boxes bearing huge cards of birthday greetings, which proved to contain the Jacob twins, who after being extricated from their respective containers, executed one of their dances, as part of the program.

Although Uncle Wiggily always stresses that there shall be no gifts of any kind, he was presented yesterday with a gold watch from the kiddies of Sierra Madre. The presentation was made by Humphries, who stated that Uncle Wiggily would have to let the rule concerning gifts be broken this once. The party was climaxed when Uncle Wiggily treated all of his little guests, with their mothers and fathers, to ice cream and cake in the City Park house.

Although Weidman's home is in Long Beach, he spends most of his time in this city, much to the delight of the little folk. Yesterday he received many cards and letters from girls and boys he used to amuse years ago, and who are now grown up and live in other cities.

Uncle Wiggily states that his love for children has healed the wound in his heart caused by the death of his son during the World War. Everywhere he goes he makes friends with children of all ages, and, they in turn know him as "Uncle Wiggily" their friend, playmate and confidant.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATION

Mt. Wilson Telescope Undergoes Major Repairs at Hands of Astronomical Surgeons

PASADENA, Oct. 19.—The most extensive, if not the most delicate face-lifting operation ever performed, was completed recently by Mount Wilson Observatory astronomers, it was learned today.

The "patient," the world's largest telescope, is reported to be resting easily and the astronomical surgeons report that the new face of the 100-inch mirror leaves nothing to be desired.

Due to rapid corrosion, it has been found necessary to renew the mirror's silver face every six months to maintain the telescope's efficiency. While ordinary mirrors are silvered on the back, the reflecting telescope mirror is silvered on its face.

An unsteady hand in removing the four-and-a-half-ton reflector from the telescope mounting might deprive the world of an instrument which has solved countless riddles formerly hidden in the depths of space.

After the old face has been peeled off with acids, the surface is washed and covered with a silver solution which is confined by an airtight band about the mirror. The silver is precipitated on the surface and the balance of the solution drained off. A thorough polishing with a chamois pad completes the operation.

Intricate machinery is required to remove and replace the reflector.

The Belt Line will serve the inner and outer harbors.

The girl's parents told police detectives that they had objected to her receiving letters from a sailor, but that she met him yeserday in San Pedro.

FLOWER SHOW IN SILVER JUBILEE

Pasadena Organization Will Celebrate

Miss Virginia Evans Displays Choice Blooms

Twenty-five years ago next Wednesday the first Pasadena flower show was held, and on this day the annual event will open in observance of its silver jubilee. An exceptional showing of rare and new flora will be seen at this year's show, which closes on Friday, it is announced.

PASADENA, Oct. 19.—Twenty-five years ago next Wednesday the first Pasadena Flower Show was staged in a hall on the second floor of the building at the northeast corner of Raymond avenue and Green street. This event will be celebrated by a notable gathering of horticulturists and garden clubs of Southern California on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee Flower Show, to be produced in the new Telephone Building, 338 to 342 North Hudson avenue, beginning Wednesday and closing on Friday.

Flower growers and garden enthusiasts of twenty-seven communities from Santa Barbara to San Diego have made entries in this notable Pasadena Flower Show, now the largest exhibit of flowers in the Western United States. All space has been reserved by those who will show the latest in flowers and rare plants in the huge exhibit hall.

Garden clubs of Glendale, Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Alhambra, San Gabriel, San Marino, Monrovia, Eagle Rock, La Canada, Altadena and Temple City, under the leadership of Mrs. Lida Harrington of San Gabriel, vice-chairman of the Los Angeles Federation of Women's Clubs, garden section, will enter floral baskets, cut flower collections, and individual exhibits. S. T. Jarvis, president of the Horticultural Association, states that the twenty-fifth Pasadena Flower Show will be the most notable of all the series.

Among the exhibits will be seen the rare collection of orchids produced this year by Armacost & Royston, Sawtelle, new roses by Paul Howard, who has engaged a space 100 feet long for his showing, and new subtropical flowers and ornamental plants by D. W. Coolidge of Altadena. These three exhibits alone will be of great interest to those planting gardens, reflecting the influence of Spain and Mexico in gardens of Southern California, it is said.

The Silver Jubilee Flower Show will reveal to winter visitors in Southern California the fact that flowers here can be grown the year around, and that many of the floral natives of Central and South America and Mexico do well under cultural conditions here. The All-Year Club of Southern California, which has been featuring the Pasadena Flower Shows in eastern advertising, will have a representative at the opening ceremonies Wednesday evening, when Uncle John Daggett of KHJ, and Miss Peggy Hamilton, style expert, will appear.

Citrus Crop to Be of Goodly Size and Price

REDLANDS, Oct. 19.—Exchange officials are looking for a California citrus crop of about the same quantity as 1927, according to J. D. Langford, manager of the Crown Jewel Groves, and representative from this district on the board of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. Langford says that the crop will be of good size and prices should be good. But he also says the exchange has on deposit $17,000,000 more money this year than last year, despite the small crop.

In the season of 1927 the exchange handled about 41,000 cars of oranges. The exchange is credited with handling about 75 per cent of the total crop, so a crop of 50,000 cars of oranges for the coming season is just about right. It may be that the crop will be lighter than this. Langford himself is convinced that it will be 10 per cent less. He does not believe that the Valencia crop will total nearly 28,000 cars, although that is the estimate.

Langford has just received reports from all districts showing that the weather has been almost ideal and the fruit is in excellent shape.

PALM SPRINGS, Oct. 18.—With the idea of perpetuating the picturesque Indian traditions and customs of the region, prominent residents of this city have formed a community organization to be known as the Palm Springs Associates. The new association will take over the production of the 1930 Desert Play, "Tahquitz," to open on November 15, and continue it as a nonprofit community enterprise.

The Palm Springs Associates are sponsored by the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, of which A. S. Hicks is president, and the organization is headed by Dr. Henry S. Reed, as president, and Warren B. Pinney, as general chairman. Personnel of 1930 Desert Play producing committees will be announced soon.

Desiring to elaborate the annual Desert Play, which was instituted almost a decade ago by the late Garnet Holme, wizard of California pageantry, the Palm Springs Associates have engaged Phil Whiting, of Ramona and Fieste de Los Angeles fame, to rewrite "Tahquitz" for the 1930 offering. New costumes are being designed and the play will be presented by an augmented cast in its famed outdoor setting, Tahquitz Canyon, adjacent to the city limits of Palm Springs.

Director Phil Whiting will have Arthur Belasco, widely known dramatic artist, as his production manager, and he plans to engage prominent celebrities of the footlights and screen for the cast of the play.

FUTURE HINGES ON DAM REPORT

Hydraulic Engineer Savage to Recommend Site

His Views May Result in New Battle on Location

Adherents of Mission Gorge and El Capitan Waiting

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 19.—With Hydraulic Engineer H. N. Savage's report on San Diego River development slated for presentation to the Council the middle of this week, the old fight between adherents of Mission Gorge dam site and backers of El Capitan site is expected to break out again with [illegible].

Savage's future as hydraulic engineer here admittedly hinges on whether his report is accepted or rejected.

Advocates of El Capitan, which lies upstream about [illegible] five miles from the mouth of the river, suspect that Savage will recommend development of the Gorge, as he did a number of years ago. They have announced [illegible] they will fight to the [illegible] to prevent diversion to the [illegible] of funds voted for a dam at El Capitan and unspent because litigation held up the work.

Savage has made no advance announcement of the contents of his report beyond stating that it would recommend immediate river development with money now available and without additional bond issues. Should the engineer revise his recommendation of several years ago on El Capitan, the report would have the enthusiastic co-operation and backing of the El Capitan committee. This would be the engineer's "easiest" course, as Mission Gorge adherents for the most part would follow the recommendation.

William Araiza lived for [illegible] years on Hermosa avenue in Alta Loma. He acquired a tract of [illegible] desert land at that time and developed it into one of the [illegible] orange groves of the district. He also operated a livery stable in conjunction with his ranching [illegible].

He died at the age of [illegible]. He leaves a widow, Consuelo Araiza; six daughters, Beatrice [illegible], Nevada; Rosie Alexander, Cucamonga; Ann Wainwright, Cucamonga; Josephine Govan, Cucamonga; Esther Araiza, Cucamonga; [illegible] Credelle, Cucamonga; three sons, William Edward and Andrew J., Cucamonga, and Louis G., San Bernardino, and one sister, [illegible] Domingona.

JAPANESE STILL RANKLED BY BAR

Feeling on Exclusion Cited by Foreign Policy Body

Resentment in Nippon Seen as Preventing Accord

Prospects for Congressional Action Viewed as Good

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Japan's resentment against the exclusion clause in the American Immigration Act is as deep-seated today as when the act was passed by Congress six years ago, according to a report on Japan's foreign relations published today by the Foreign Policy Association. The report, which was written by T. A. Bissona with the aid of the research staff of the Foreign Policy Association, traces the fundamental changes which have taken place in Japan's foreign policy during the past ten years.

Dealing with Japanese-American relations, the report states:

NIPPON'S ATTITUDE

"The relations between America and Japan from 1906 to 1921 were disturbed by a series of delicate problems, chiefly resulting from their conflicting policies in China and from the immigration question. Events since the Washington conference have largely allayed this friction. The one significant issue still separating the two nations is the exclusion clause in the Immigration Act passed by the United States in 1924. The Japanese people regard this statutory exclusion as an act of discrimination amounting to a national humiliation and refuse to accept it as a closed incident."

QUESTION REVIVED

The Japanese immigration question was brought suddenly to the fore early this year when at a farewell dinner in Tokio give in honor of former American Ambassador and Mrs. Castle, Masanao Hanihara, one of Japan's leading statesmen, broke a six-year silence on the subject with an appeal to Ambassador Castle to use his influence to restore the traditional friendly relations between Japan and the United States. This incident was immediately followed by an announcement by Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the House Immigration Committee, that he would introduce an amendment to the immigration law which would remove the exclusion stigma and place Japan on a quota basis.

It is understood Representative Johnson intends to offer the amendment at the December session of Congress and, although the chances are there will not be time for its consideration in the forthcoming "short" session, it is believed the prospects of its ultimate adoption are excellent. President Hoover is said to favor a quota for Japan.

EMPIRE PARLEY AIDS LABORITES

Party's Strength Increased by London Conclave

Developments May Insure Its Return to Power

Opposing Political Groups Weakened by Rifts

LONDON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—If the Imperial Conference now sitting in London fails to do anything to strengthen the empire, it already has done much to strengthen the British Labor party, and may, if things go on as they have been going, insure its return to power at the next general election.

Political experts declare that Prime Minister MacDonald and his associates must regret bitterly that the Indian conference is following so closely on the imperial meeting and precludes an immediate election, for now is the time for the Laborites to take advantage of the mistakes and divisions among their opponents. Alone among the three parties the Labor party seems to be looking forward confidently to the future.

The Liberal party is broke and last week sent out an appeal for funds for a campaign chest. There are at least three conservative groups, perhaps more. The three that can be identified are under Stanley Baldwin, Lord Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook and the leaders and members of these groups seem to hate each other worse than they hate the Laborites.

BY-ELECTION LINE-UP

At present there is a by-election in the West Paddington (London) division, and to date there are five candidates in the field, a Laborite, a Liberal and three Conservatives.

Sir Herbert Lidiard, the official Baldwin candidate, was asked a couple of weeks ago by Lord Beaverbrook, leader of the Empire Crusaders, if he would vote even against his party for taxation on foreign food. He said he would, and Lord Beaverbrook indorsed him. Then party headquarters got busy and Sir Herbert resigned. Now Lord Beaverbrook has put up Admiral Ernest Taylor as a full-fledged food taxer, while Lord Rothermere, the leader of the Empire Free Trade party, is running Mrs. Stewart Richardson who stands for food taxes, economy and a lot of other things, including Fascism, which Lord Rothermere indorses.

RESULT IN DOUBT

West Paddington is nominally overwhelmingly a conservative seat but no one knows how it will go this time. To make matters worse, R. W. Bennett, Canadian Prime Minister, who went to Mr. Baldwin on his arrival here and tried to play him off against the government in an effort to force Great Britain to adopt food taxes, now tells his friends that he is disappointed in Mr. Baldwin.

The latter, after hesitating on the brink for several days, took a plunge last week, declaring against food taxes and favoring a "system which Mr. Bennett doesn't like, and which is a policy of the Labor government."

CHAMPION IRISH ORATOR INVITED

Hollywood High Eager to Hear William Hayes

Finalists in Constitutional Contest Arriving

Eighteen Thousand Apply for Admissions

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Among the scores of speaking invitations being showered upon the international finalists, who are assembling here from all points of Europe and North and South America for the International Oratorical Contest finals next week, is one from the Hollywood High School to William Hayes, Irish champion. Randolph Leigh, director-general of the contest, says that this invitation, both in its form and its assertion with the contest in its early stages, is one of the most interesting that have come to his attention.

It is interesting from the standpoint of the history of the contest because the Hollywood High School produced the speaker, Herbert Wenig, who in 1926 carried off the grand international prize for the United States in the first international meeting.

CANNOT ACCEPT

The invitation itself is significant as coming from the students of the history department of the high school. The invitation is signed by the president of the student body and carries the approval signature of Louis F. Foley, principal.

In addition to the principal, those signing the invitation are Robert Spare, for the history classes; Stephen S. Myrick, head of the social science department, and Charles Hunter, president of the student body.

Mr. Leigh advised those extending the invitation that it will be impossible for the Irish speaker, who is also noted as a singer, to go to the Pacific Coast because he must speedily return to Ireland to take advantage of a coveted university scholarship which has been made available to him on the strength of his brilliant showing in the International Oratorical Contest.

SPEAKERS ARRIVING

Five of the international finalists will reach New York within a few days of each other. The South American champion, Senor Clemente Perez-Zanartu of Chile, landed yesterday from the Santa Maria, after a three weeks' sea voiage from Santiago. The German orator, speaking for Central Europe, arrived on the steamer Dresden today. The Irish, English and French speakers, William Hayes, Jack Mallard, German and Andre Fioux, also landed today from the steamship America.

The Mexican champion, Javier Vivanco, and the United States champion, Edmund Gullion, are already in Washington. The Canadian champion, Paul Leduc, who speaks in French, will reach Washington next Wednesday. Ticket applications for the international finals are heavier than at any time in the history of the contest, according to headquarters officials. The applications total slightly more than 18,000 and the auditorium holds less than 5000 people. Some of the written applications have been on file for more than a year.

MARATHON DANCERS QUIT AS HOPES OF CASH VANISH

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (AP)—This was the one thing these marathon endurance dancers—they had been going since August 31—would not endure.

Nine of them were left, stumbling groggily about the floor of a North Side ballroom last night. Their perseverance had been unduly taxed through the evening by the disappearance, consecutively, of the trainers, nurses, judges, musicians and cooks. But thoughts of the $2700 in cash awardas for the three surviving couples kept them on their blistered and bunioned feet.

They just had entered the 1168th hour when a detective took the center of the floor to make an announcement. One of the promoters, he said, had left, and the gross receipts of the enterprise had been tied up in a court action.

This was the one thing the marathon endurance dancers would not endure. They quit—1671 hours short of what they claimed to be some sort of a record.

WILL FIGHT DISCLOSES MARRIAGE

Woman Asserting She is Widow of Typewriter Man Asks Share in Estate

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) Mrs. Anna B. Burridge, who says she is the widow of Francis Ogden Burridge, typewriter manufacturers, has started suit for a share of his estate. She asserts Burridge banished her from New York twenty years ago and compelled her to live incognito. Throughout a notable social career here Burridge posed as a bachelor, and newspaper accounts of his death stated he had never married.

The existence of Mrs. Burridge came to light when her counsel asked Surrogate O'Brien for leave to contest Burridge's will. This document, dated April 14, 1930, ignores Mrs. Burridge's existence, but left $50,000 to "my friend, Miss Helen Gilmore," and the residuary estate, except for a few legacies to his cousin, Herbert S. Smyth, who is named executor. Burridge died September 25, last, at the age of 72.

Mrs. Burridge's story is that she married Burridge in 1910 when he first was perfecting the typewriter patents that made him a millionaire. He was president of the Sun Typewriter Company at the time of his death. They were never divorced, she asserted, but he grew restive under the marital yoke and persuaded her to go away, promising to provide for her.

Former Judge to Be Quizzed in Parole Case

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (AP)—State Senator Victor P. Michel of Peoria and Chauncey H. Jenkins, former judge and State Director of Public Welfare under former Gov. Small, have been subpoenaed by the Cook county grand jury for questioning in connection with a parole granted George (Red) Barker, labor union racketeer.

Barker was paroled from the penitentiary a year ago after serving less than a year of a ten-year sentence for larceny. The parole was granted by the late Judge T. N. Greene of Peoria, State Senator Michel appearing in court as Barker's counsel.

Assistant State's Attorney Dodge, in announcing the subpoenaes had been served, said the two men will be questioned concerning an $11,000 fee reported to have been raised to finance the Barker parole case. He refused to comment on Jenkins's asserted connection.

STATE PRISON BOARD PAROLES WICKERSHAM

SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—Sam Wickersham, sent to San Quentin penitentiary from Los Angeles, was the only one of twenty-three prisoners whose cases were considered by the State Prison Board here yesterday and today to obtain a parole. Although Wickersham had been in the prison but a year and was sentenced to consecutive terms of ten and five years, he was granted an immediate parole. The board did not explain its action. He was convicted in connection with the sale of rugs and paintings in Los Angeles.

BUSINESS HITS SOUND STRIDE

Insurance Executive Notes Returning Prosperity

Comparison With Average Years Favorable

Cheap Money Bright Augury of Better Times

This is the fourth of a series of articles by leading business men of the nation discussing commercial conditions and the general trend. Other articles will appear in The Times from time to time.

BY FREDERICK H. ECKER
President Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) No person who has been through previous periods of our industrial depression need be pessimistic in his outlook for the future.

It is true that conditions in many lines of business have seemingly been unfavorable, but most of the comparisons are made with the peak year of prosperity and not with the average and normal year. When we compare the volume of business now being done with that of no longer ago than 1928 we are not as badly off as some think.

Granting that business progress in the sense of sales has not shown the increase in many industries that was expected in view of the previous records from year to year, the fact remains that the industrial structure of the country is sound. How soon we will emerge from the present slump is hard to say. But emerge we will.

FORMER SLUMPS

Business men of long experience can look back on the periods of depression in 1903, 1907, 1914 and 1921 and realize that in each case the country went on to greater prosperity once business actually struck its stride again. I believe that history will repeat itself and that we have coming another era of better times—better than ever before.

I have been through other times as bad or worse than those we have been experiencing during the last year and, while I would hesitate to predict just when we will have a decided turn for the better, I am confident that increased prosperity is on the way. Certain reports already show signs that are encouraging to many business leaders.

We have been suffering from the aftermath of overproduction and generally unfavorable business conditions all over the world. Now that inventories have, in many cases, been greatly reduced, there should be a pick-up in sales sooner or later. Once it comes, business in general will be stimulated.

WRONG ATTITUDE

There is a disposition among many persons to look too much on the gloomy side, with the result that many whose incomes have not been reduced have curtailed their spending, even in the necessities, to say nothing of the so-called luxuries. This tends to restrict consumption, with a corresponding drop in sales in certain industries.

Their mental outlook will likely undergo a change when the signs of coming improvement are evident to all. When everything is said and done, the American people will not lower their standard of living. They have become accustomed to such service and comforts that they will be unwilling to return to a lower standard.

The condition of Americans is being constantly improved regardless of temporary industrial setbacks. Every time the standard of living is bettered the people of this country reap a direct benefit. Instead of any lowering in the standards of living, I am confident that there will be a constant and a healthy growth in this respect. New reserves of capital are built up in such times as these and a sound structure is being created for the prosperity that is most certain to come.

PLENTY OF MONEY

Money is cheaper now than it has been in a long time. There is an abundance of it available for the real estate mortgage market. Now mortgage money is seeking a field for sound investment instead of being so much sought after by would-be borrowers as was the case during the high prosperity period of 1929.

This may be helpful in bringing the real estate market out of the slump that hit in many places. Generally the trend in this field follows the course of the security market. It may not advance or decline as rapidly, but it is almost certain to follow the same course eventually. There are evidences now, in New York City, at least, that conditions in this line are more favorable.

It is interesting to note that building permits for the country showed an increase of 6.5 per cent last month over August. Incidentally, this is the first increase in September compared with August since 1917, according to government reports. This is offset somewhat by the fact that permits for September were some $35,000,000 less than in September, 1929, but it may very well be that the easier money market will bring about a building boom.

INSURANCE BETTER

Life insurance on the whole has not suffered in loss of business during the depression. In fact, it is running a shade better than it was in the peak year of 1929. The increase for the first nine months of the year as reported by the principal companies amounts in round figures to $16,000,000. This applies to new life insurance purchased by the public and does not include revivals, increases or dividend additions.

Group insurance, which covers employees and usually is paid for jointly by the employer and the employee, is 2.1 per cent ahead of last year, with ordinary insurance and industrial insurance less than 1 per cent in advance of 1929. In this connection, it might be said that group insurance seems to hold great promise of eradicating a sore spot that involves both the individual and industry in general and certainly one that is reflected in the economic balance. It is the problem of the superannuated worker. In increasing numbers, as our industrial conditions continue to expand, men and women are wearing themselves out in service and are reaching the age of impaired efficiency or physical inability to continue their labors without having provided for themselves a competence sufficient to carry them through their declining years.

UNSCIENTIFIC

The fact that many are continuing at their jobs with resulting loss of efficiency because of the unwillingness of the employer to turn them out unprovided for, or are retired to exist on well intentioned but unscientific generosity of the employer, does not change the situation.

The plan of group insurance annuities, already in operation in many industrial organizations and increasing its field year by year, points a way to the solution of the problem. It places the burden of cost jointly on the employer and the employee.

If this program were effective interchangeably throughout industry, it would be possible for a worker to go from one job to another without sacrificing anything in the way of provision for his old age; the annuity earned by him in each capacity would be insured to him by the underwriting company.

The problem of the superannuated worker must be met. It is in this direction that the great effort of he insurance industry must be exerted. How sensibly it is met will have a considerable bearing on our national stability.

COUPLE WAKED BY NIGHT BEAR

It Isn't Any Dream, Either, As Pair Shudder to Find Bruin Sitting on Bed

COLBURN (Idaho) Oct. 19. (AP)—What would you do if you were awakened to find a 400-pound black bear perched on the foot of your bed?

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stradley, ranchers living near here, were faced with this problem early today.

Mrs. Stradley screamed and Mr. Stradley said "scat," but bruin held his perch and blinked in wonderment at all the confusion.

Two shots from a rifle gave the bear a good start toward becoming an excellent rug.

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOL DROP

Census Bureau Statistics Given to W.C.T.U.

Rate From 1928 to 1929 Shows Turn in Tide

Liquor Killed Total of 182 in California Last Year

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—A decrease in deaths from alcoholism in the United States from 1928 to 1929 was reported today by Dr. T. F. Murphy, chief statistician for vital statistics of the Census Bureau, in a statement to the naional Woman's Chrisian Temperance Union.

Death rates have not yet been computed beyond 1928 but the population of the country increased from 1928 to 1929 so the alcoholism rate will show a decline.

Total alcoholism deaths for 1928 were 4627; for 1929 they were 4339.

Completed census figures, previously reported, through 1928 show alcoholism as a cause of death almost cut in two since the saloon era. The saloon era average death rate from alcoholism from 1910 to the closing of the saloons by wartime prohibition was 5.2 per each 100,000. Since the saloons closed in 1918 the national average has been 2.87. Under the impact of the bootleg drive the past five years saw a gradual increase in alcoholism in the wet States.

According to Dr. Murphy's tabulation there were 182 deaths from alcoholism in California in 1929 as compared with 177 the preceding year.

NINE DEATHS BLAMED ON POISON LIQUOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Nine men died today, apparently, police said, from bad liquor, and an investigation was started by health authorities, police and prohibition agents.

Hospital authorities expressed belief the liquor may have emanated from the same source that spread death through Newark, N. J., recently.

All of the nine died in Manhattan, three of them on the lower East Side, where deaths from poisonous alcohol called "smoke" have been numerous.

Teller Admits Robbery Hoax

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19. (AP)—Charles L. Grubb, 25 years of age, a teller in the Front-and-Market-street branch of the Franklin Trust Company, confessed last night that the purported robbery of the bank yesterday was a hoax and that he had hidden the money, about $59,000, in a brick wall in the basement.

The money was found where he said he had placed it.

CITY OF SACRAMENTO SUED IN AIR CRASH

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 19. (AP)—Jack Jordan, 22 years of age, Oakland aviator, has filed a $1535 damage suit against the city of Sacramento as a result of an airplane crash at the Municipal Airport here on the night of May 14, last. Jordan, with Miss Helen Shallue of Piedmont as a passenger, crashed into two oil company buildings, wrecking them and his plane and injuring his passenger and himself. The aviator asserts the airport lights were turned off before he had cleared the place, thus imparing his vision.

FARCICAL IDEA MAIN DIVERSION

Show Backers and Show Girls Battle it Out in "My Girl Griday"

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

What the well-dressed butter-and-egg man will do to provide himself with a giddy holiday, followed by plenty of grief, is the naively important thought exploited in "My Girl Friday," by William A. Grew, which opened last night at the Vine-street Theater. John T. Murray, Esther Muir and Nita Cavalier are apearing in this production, which evolves a farcical idea that is better as a mere idea, than it is in its actual unfoldment.

We learn during the course of the piece that the chorus girl in real life is neither as dark nor as gawdy as her make-up, and that men (in stage plays, at least,) still manage to get themselves into bothersome and compromising difficulties through their indiscreet playfulness. "My Girl Friday" is surely nothing very weighty, or, for that matter, different in essential elements, but it contains a few laughable situations and climaxes, and the first night audience appeared to enjoy most of it, though not without reservations.

"My Girl Friday" was rated shocking enough to receive some censorial attention when it was presented in New York about a year and a half ago. For local attention it may possibly have been somewhat tempered. Shockingness in the ultra sense of that word is only delicately suggested, though the plot itself is peppery in its implications.

Most of the play happens at a Long Island house party, whither go three chorus ladies to provide an enlivening evening for the backer of their show and two friends. The visit is forced upon the girls, as is set forth in a short opening scene back stage. Two of the trio are sophisticated in such adventure, and one is not, but all prove a match for the men in blithely outwitting them before the story is over.

Unexpected enlivenment is afforded when the strong-man husband of one of the chorines invades the Long Island manse and threatens revenge, while almost simultaneously wives of two of the partying gentlemen arrive to cause additional excitement. However, the news that sleeping powders were surreptitiously dropped into the cocktail glasses of the spouses the night before by the chorus ladies averts domestic disasters.

The play probably could have made considerable of its farce ingredients, if the lines were consistently bright, but they seem to lack something of the requisite glitter for this type of entertainment. More reliance appears to have been placed on the clowning, and there is plenty of that, with Murray giving an effective account of himself as an inebriated out-of-town sojourner from Buffalo. He is easily the most consecutive amuser and invests many of the lines allotted to him with a jovial significance.

Esther Muir, who appeared in the New York production, is convincing in her portrayal of the girl who plots and plans confusion for the masculine contingent. Her presence added some worth to the presentation. She received various floral tributes at the close of the second act.

Nita Cavalier enacted her role, the girl Friday, with fair distinction, especially in the later acts, and others who had more important work to do included Charles Giblyn, Edgar Reeves, Frances Morris, Harold Kinney, Harry Vejar, William Lawrence and others. The tempo of the play, the spacing of the lines and the acting could all stand betterment.

Noted Comedian to Perform at United Artists

EDDIE CANTOR

Eddie Cantor will appear in person at both evening performances of "Whoopee" at the United Artists Theater tonight. He will be seen and heard on the stage before each showing of his film comedy. The noted comedian will sing a few of his latest songs and will tell many of his stories.

"Whoopee" ends its second week tomorrow night, having played to filled houses at practically every performance. It is a Technicolor picture and was produced by Samuel Goldwyn and Florenz Ziegfeld.

Cantor's appearance tonight will be the only one he will make in conjunction with "Whoopee," it is asserted.

Eva Tanguay Show Postponed

A scheduled performance at the Shrine Auditorium by Eva Tanguay Saturday night failed to materialize. Miss Tanguay came upon the stage and said that because of the smallness of the assembled group, due, she divined, to insufficient advertising of the appearance, the show would be postponed for two weeks.

TECHNICOLOR SCENES BENEFIT "WHOOPEE"

The perfection with which Technicolor brings black and white to the screen in their true values is said to be conspicuously demonstrated in "Whoopee," the Eddie Cantor starring vehicle created by Samuel Goldwyn and Florenz Ziegfeld, now at the United Artists Theater.

While the many hues of Nature are beautifully screened throughout this production, many of the costumes have a predominating note of black and white. This is particularly true in the feather costumes which are said to create a new standard of beauty on the screen.

NEW PLAY REFLECTS POMP AND DIGNITY

"Courtesan of Rome" Presented at Theater Mart by Capable Cast

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Accoutered with the splendor that was Rome's and moving with that swift necessity which is essentially Greek in form, "The Courtesan of Rome," by Mrs. Alice Pike Barney, now being given production at Theater Mart, reverberates with that strange vehemence sensed in the drama of religion.

The dignity of the work itself, built upon biblical theme, is emphasized by the silvery consonance and flowing lyricism of the lines, which reflect pomp and circumstance. Heroic in concept, universal in inflection, the spiritual fervency and emotional beauty of the drama achieves a cumulative effect. Indeed, the author has struck a melancholic chord of truth, which seems to have sprung from the mystic past.

Impressive in polemics, the play deals with conflict in religious beliefs, as well as personalities, contrasting the old Hebraic religion of an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" with the doctrine of the gentle Nazarene with his "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." Again the contrast, the bellicose Rachel, Princess of Judea, the smugly self-righteous wife, with her cry for revenge upon Acte, the courtesan.

The disintegration of the so-called righteous woman's soul, and the regeneration of the most alluring courtesan of them all makes poignant drama. The concept of the boy, Julius, is logical and consistent.

Within the limits of the theater intime, Francis Josef Hickson, responsible for staging and direction, created an illusion of exoticism in pageantry, which was an achievement. The music of Charles Arthur Ridgeway added its gift of color to the performance. The costumes designed by Mrs. Barney illumed the drama with their chromatic and symmetrical harmonies.

Of the characters perhaps Luz Alba as the injured wife deserves first honors. She acted with fire and vital sweep. Jeraldine Dvorak, a Norse beauty, brought to the spiritual moments of the name part a beauty which was appealing. In her dramatic scene in the first act, there was a faultiness in voice and diction, which could be remedied. Ramon De Burgos, a romantic young Spanish actor, in the part of Julius, revealed a sympathetic understanding and a voice of charming inflections. Paul Anhalt, George Northover and Doris Booth also appeared.

Blossom Seeley Will Appear as Guest of Honor

Through the courtesy of the R.-K.-O. Theater, where she headlines the current stage show, arrangements have been made to present Blossom Seeley as the guest star tonight at the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel. Benny Fields will accompany the comedienne.

At the R.-K.-O. Miss Seeley, who gained the start in her stage career in Los Angeles, and Fields offer new songs, dances and fun. Her list of impersonations includes the stage character, Lulu Belle, and the Spanish heroine in "The Command to Love."

"Africa Speaks" is the screen attraction at the R.-K.-O. this week.

"Temptations" Revue Proves Popular Show

"The Temptations of 1930," is now playing in its fifth week at the Mayan Theater. This spectacular stage show was due to close, but in view of having and continuing to break records at the theater, the run has been continued by the management.

With a cast of musical comedy notables, and 100 girls—this musical show is proving popular with patrons, many returning several times to see it again. To accentuate this "repeat" business, Franklyn Warner is improving the show by adding new personalities, girl numbers, specialties and sketches.

COMEDY OF YOUTH TO OPEN RUN

"Young Sinners" Due at Belasco Theater Tonight; Celebration Planned

As the attraction to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the Belasco Theater as a leading playhouse, the management has chosen Elmer Harris's comedy of youth, "Young Sinners." This unique farce, with Marian Marsh, John Darrow, Cecil Cunningham and Molly O'Day in the featured roles, will open at the Belasco tonight.

When the Belasco opened four years ago the first attraction was "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." "Young Sinners" is described as a story of the younger generation, and is said to tell a strong tale of the regeneration of a youthful wastrel.

Others in the cast besides the featured players are Ben Taggart, Emmett King, Polly Ann Young, Marguerite Warner, William Robeyns, George Berliner, Billy Seay, Josephine Challen, Lucian Self and Thomas Turner. The play was staged by Edgar MacGregor.

French Farce Presented at Egan Theater

BY JACOB COOPER

Those who like farce comedy that ripples lightly along its entangled way will enjoy "Pour Avoir Adrienne," by Louis Verneuil, that is, if they understand French. This play opened Saturday night for a week's run at the Egan Theater, and features the French players under Andre Ferrier.

It presents one of those embarrassing situations where a husband is in danger of his wife's learning of his private amour. The blackmailing comedian is in love with the man's wife and manages to force himself into the household as a secretary

This final touch of leaving everything to the audience's imagination is indicative of the restraint put into the production of the piece. Though the action is fast-moving, the director was able to instill a subdued and deft effect. There was no overacting and no burlesque, and the lines were read in a sophisticated, continental manner. The lightness of the French language itself helped keep the tone from becoming too turgid.

Andre Ferrier played the role of the wife's lover. His sense of comedy is very fine indeed, and he was able to achieve some forceful effects with a well-modulated voice and expressive hands. The part of the husband was played by Georges Simondet, who both looked and acted his part—that of a Babbittry architect.

The acting of Jeanne G. Ferrier added very little to the whole. Her role was merely one of a visible and audible cause for the goings on and was not conducive to any great effort. The small part that Rene Borloz played revealed an actor who can achieve highly desired effects with trained insouciance. Helene Strause, as the maid, was not quite in step with the rest in the matter of restraint, but her cuteness was a refreshing touch.

Seat Sale for 'New Moon' to Start Today

Seats go on sale at the Biltmore Theater box office today for all performances of Perry Askam in Lillian Albertson's stage presentation of the operetta, "The New Moon," which starts on the 27th inst. The run is limited to two weeks.

The company in support of Perry Askam, who plays the swaggering role of the pseudo-bondservant, is practically the same as seen here before, and includes Myrah Hubert, Earl Askam, Gary Breckner, John Merkyl, Charles Boyle, Myrtis Crinley, Dorothy McCormick, Howard Nugent, John Wagner and Ed Russell, and the now famous male chorus of forty voices.

Cecil Stewart will conduct the augmented symphony orchestra.

GENTILITY FEATURE OF NEW FILM

Leading Ladies Reveal Vocal Accomplishments on Orpheum Screen

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

It would serve the purposes of reviewing admirably to declare at the outset that "A Lady Surrenders," the new film at the Orpheum, typifics the photographed stage play—but for one inescapable fact. "A Lady Surrenders," before becoming an audible celluloid, was "Sincerity," a novel by John Erskine, but there are no records anywhere to show that it ever came within manuscript length of a theater at all. Now, however, that the suggestion has been so boldly launched, we might as well go further and say that if it had been a spoken drama, this is exactly the way it would have been done in talking pictures.

"A Lady Surrenders" is interesting. For one thing, it contains an object lesson in gentility, administered by two refined young ladies named Genevieve Tobin and Rose Hobart, respectively. You may be of two minds about whether or not the real Mary or Isabel would talk and act in real life like their screen prototypes, but you will have to admit that their cultivated accents fall a whole lot more easily on the ear than the accents of ninety-nine out of 100 others that you know of. For my own part, I would rather listen to Miss Tobin, for instance, than all the 100 put together.

This is no digression: "A Lady Surrenders," being the sort of all-talkie that is heard and not seen, owes whatever measure of attraction it boasts to the ingratiating vocal manner of an able cast, and to these two members of it in particular. It is the sort of film which borrows wholly in technique and execution from the theater, and the theater-goer will extract a mild satisfaction from following it through to its conclusion. The movie-goer may find it something else again.

The triangle is played to a finish in the modern manner. Winthrop Beauvel is a husband whose wife—one of those lady novelists—regards him as pretty much of a necessary nuisance, and not so darned necessary at that. Mary Allen, another lady novelist (and what lady isn't nowadays?) sees him in a very different light. The complications become acute when the wife starts divorce proceedings, changes her mind without bothering to inform the husband, and permits him to walk straight into unholy matrimony with the second lady novelist.

All this is accomplished to pleasantly undistinguished dialogue which, because of its informal delivery, may seem better than it is. Conrad Nagel plays the two-time husband in his accustomed capable fashion; and others are Basil Rathbone, Carmel Myers, Franklin Pangborn and Edgar Norton. I recognized, too, Grace Cunard, serial queen of the dear dead days, in the role of a maid.

The film was directed by John M. Stahl and produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. The adaptation was made by Gladys Lehman, and Arthur Richman wrote the talk with William Hurlburt.

Knute Rockne is being featured currently by the Orpheum in "Football," a lesson in gridiron tactics. The very long show also provides nonsense in a "Nick and Tony" comedy, and news by Pathe.

Romance Starts on Golf Course in New Picture

Romance may be found in strange places, even in a sand trap on a golf course, generally the most disagreeable spot in which a golfer finds himself. Such is the place where Robert Montgomery and Dorothy Jordan discover themselves victims of love at first sight in "Love in the Rough," starting Thursday at Loew's State Theater.

Benny Rubin, J. C. Nugent, Dorothy McNulty, Tyrrell Davis and other farceurs are the cast of this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talkie version of the stage play, "Spring Fever."

Charles F. Reisner directed and Joe Farnham and Robert E. Hopkins wrote the humorous dialogue. Will Rogers in "So This Is London" closes Wednesday.

Maryon Aye in "Up the River"

Maryon Aye, who will be remembered as one of the first group of thirteen Wampas baby stars, is back in Hollywood. After spending a year or longer in San Francisco stage appearances, she returns to take a try at the talkies. She has a small part in "Up the River" at the Criterion Theater, which serves as a stepping-stone in the new medium of motion pictures, and she is looking forward to other opportunities.

Miss Aye was in pictures for many years beginning with the old Horkheimer plant in Long Beach when Roscoe Arbuckle was climbing his way to comedy success. She was one of the original Mack Sennett bathing beauties who traveled throughout the East with "Yankee Doodle in Berlin." She recently completed her work as the feminine lead in Olga Printzlau's stage play, "The Ostrich," which was witnessed by local audiences at the Filmarte.

ACTRESS ON FIRST FILM TRIP OF YEAR

Virginia Sale is away on what, for her, is the first "detached" location trip of the year, at Sonora, Cal., where she is spending a fortnight with "The Great Meadow" company, in which she plays the role of Hannah Lucas, a young mountaineer wife.

Although Miss Sale has had a very busy ten months in 1930, most of her parts, it happens, have been in films made in the studios. She recently finished a part in "Ex-Mistress" for Warner Brothers.

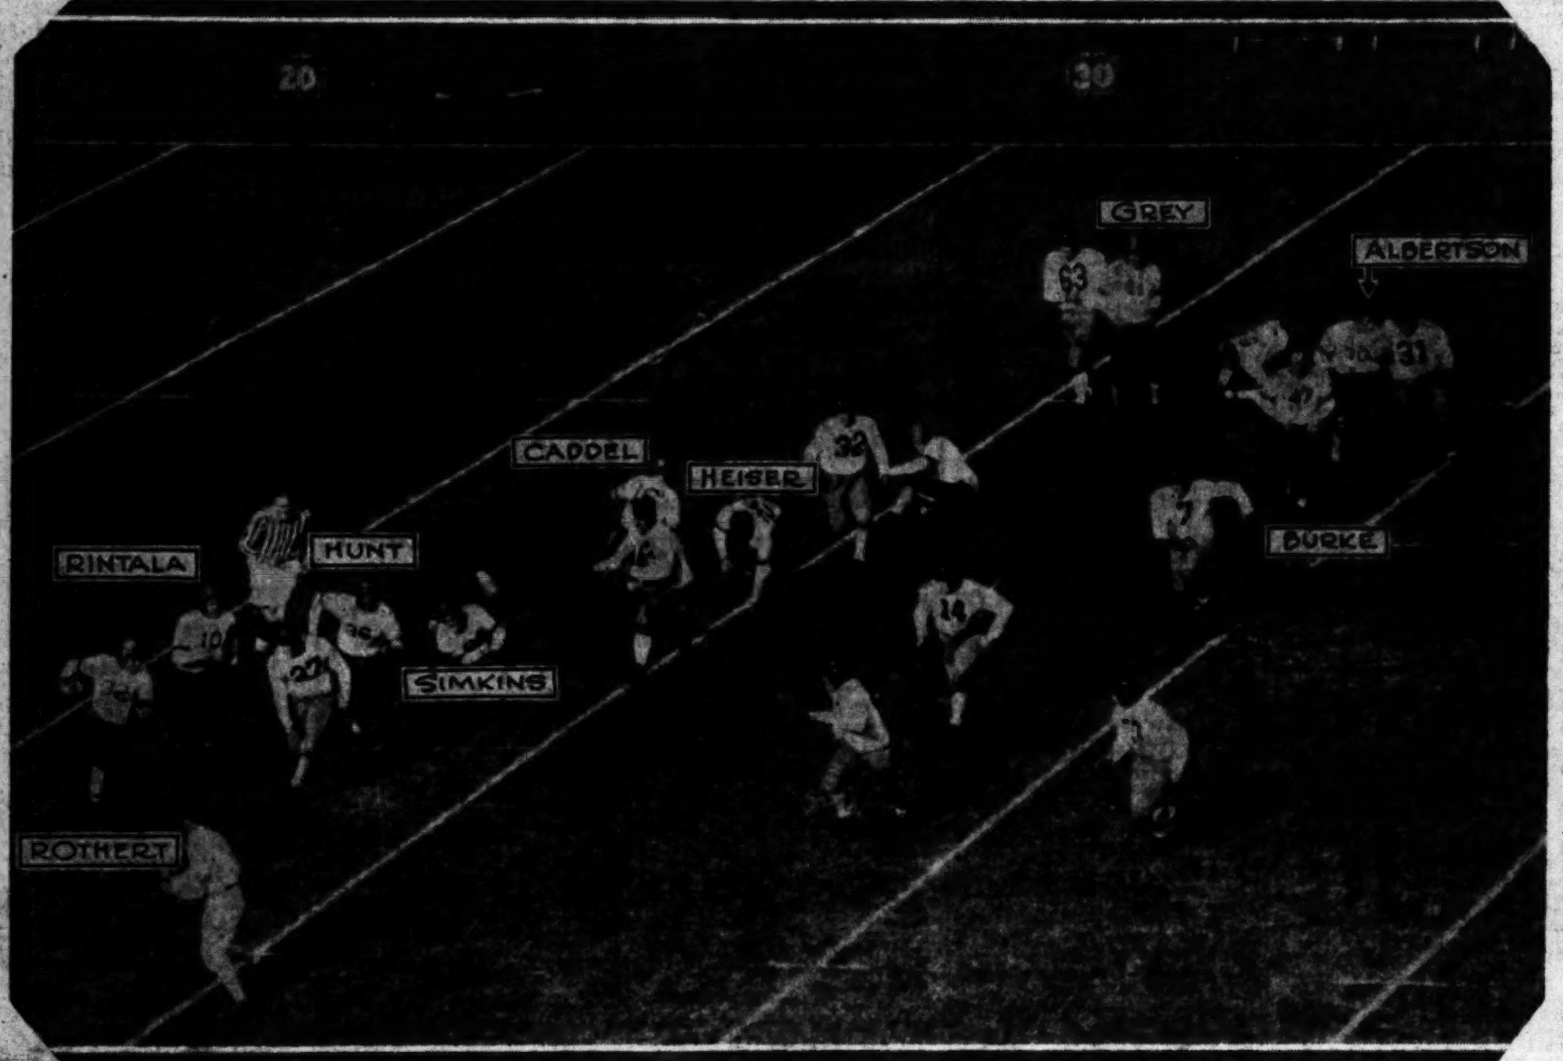
over the week-end, when twenty-three spotless teams suffered defeat for the first time, leaving but forty-three with clear records.

Of this total, only thirty-two are boasting perfect records, as ten others have played tie games.

Teams knocked out of the running Saturday in- Carnegie Tech, Co- Georgetown, Harvard, Illinois, Oklahoma, Rice, Syracuse, Ten- Washington.

WHAT THE TROJANS HAVE TO FACE SATURDAY

Here's a sample of what the Southern California varsity is in for at Palo Alto next week-end. Photo shows Harlow Rothert, iron-man of the farm, going around right end escorted by plenty of interference. The play is taking place deep in Stanford territory. Note that Mr. Warner gets considerable interference into this play, which will be headed around the end generally guarded by Dutch Wilcox of the Trojans.



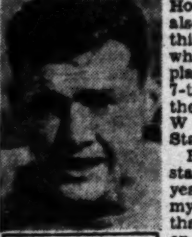
CARDS HAVE SLIGHT EDGE

Psychological Advantage and Law of Averages Make Stanford Favorite Over Southern California

BY BRAVEN DYER

This is one of the weeks when football nuts work themselves into a frenzy calculating how the dear old alma mater can or cannot win next Saturday's all-important game. Locally the situation applies to the Stanford-Southern California engagement at Palo Alto and from now until game time all dyed-in-the-wool followers of the sport will be knee deep in comparative scores, weights, returning veterans and what not.

Psychologically the situation favors Stanford ever so slightly in that the Cards haven't trimmed S.C. in three years of play. Howard Jones also has something of a whip over his players in that 7-to-6 defeat at the hands of Washington State.



PHIL MOFFATT.

From the start of the year it has been my contention that Stanford, on the law of averages, will likely win Saturday. And it may be another one point defeat for the dope at this writing indicates one touchdown for each team. If the Trojans can kick goal they may win; certainly get no worse than a tie. But the dope is generally knocked all over the place and such will probably be the case Saturday.

Nobody expected to learn much about the Trojans from last week's game with the Utah Aggies. There was no excuse for such a contest even if the Trojans did want a rest prior to Stanford.

But out of the game came Ernie Smith, Black and Beatty, all of whom may prove valuable against Stanford inasmuch as Troy's reserve list, while long, is decidedly lacking in quality. Smith played tackle so well that he can fill in for Tay Brown anytime without much difference being noted. Black subbed for Jess Shaw so splendidly that it seems likely he will start against Stanford. Beatty carried the ball as well as either Duffield or Mohler, which is saying plenty, and did it when he had only mediocre aid.

LINE-UP UNCERTAIN

Jones said yesterday he will announce no starting line-up for Stanford until the night before the

Reds Beaten at Uplifters by 9-to-6 Margin

Blue poloists rode to a 9-to-6 victory yesterday over the Reds at the Uplifters' Club field. Brandeis was the leading scorer with five tallies to his credit. Snowy Baker led the attack for the Blues but only scored twice. Dick Smith registered one goal and Felix one goal.

Will Rogers, Jr., tallied three times for the losers. Crawford scored once and Carl Beal once. T. Lyel Puckett failed to break into the scoring column for the first time in many weeks.

Seraphs Wind Up Season by Annexing Both Games by 7-5, 6-4 Scores

BY BOB RAY

Call it jinx, Indian sign, just a better team or whatever you want to, but these Angels of Jack Lelivelt can certainly trim the Hollywood Stars. They wound up the Coast League season yesterday by nosing out the Sheiks twice, 7 to 5, and 6 to 4, to capture the final series, 5 to 2, and finish on the long end of their season's play with the Vittmen, 18 to 11.

Win Ballou, a veteran, and Chuck Moncrief, a youngster, hurled the Cherubs to their double victory yesterday. Funny part about the two clashes was that both clubs were battling tooth and toenail and one would hink they were just starting the season instead of winding it up. The play-off for the championship is going to be a wild and wooly affair unless we miss our guess.

The bargain bill saw the arbiters chase three players to the showers. Umpire Jack Powell chased Hank Severeid out of the first game for protesting a called third strike and in the nightcap

MAGYARS THUMP SCOTS

Come From Behind to Score Victory in Soccer Game at Loyola Field; Hollywood Also Wins

In the most exciting soccer game of the current season, the Magyars just barely saved themselves from being upset by the fighting Scots yesterday afternoon at Loyola Field when they rallied in the second half to score two goals after trailing one goal to none at the end of the first period. In the preliminary game, the Hollywood eleven, champions last year, had it all their own way in defeating the Victorias, 4 to 1.

During the first half of the game between the Scots and Magyars, the Scots just out-tricked the Mags, who seemed to be troubled with overconfidence. The losers scored first when D. Young kicked to Laurieson, who headed the ball into the net for the tally. Coming back with determination in the last half, the Mags kept the ball near their opponents' goal most of the time with Steve Heppell and Monsterratt each tallying within a few minutes apart, to win the ball game.

In the opening game, the situation was somewhat similar, the Vics holding the league champions to a 1-all tie during the first half of the game. However, the crown holders stiffened and brought forth three goals during the last period to clinch the honors. G. Sutherland copped starring honors with two goals, while J. McDill and J. Ramsay each scored once. Max Seedorf scored for the Victorias.

In what many fans called the most interesting game played at the Pasadena field to date, the L.A.A.C. Mercuries defeated the Pasadena C.C. eleven, 1 goal to 0. Hepburn, center forward, was responsible for the glory reaped by his squad when he chalked up the only tally of the encounter. The Vikings, who are coming along right nicely, won over Richfield Oilers, 2 goals to 0, in the first game played at the Crown City field yesterday afternoon. The game

ROSENBLOOM TO DEFEND CROWN

Light-Heavyweight Honors at Stake Wednesday

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, veteran champion of the light-heavyweights, offers the principal relief from the nation-wide boxing drought this week by defending Abie Bain, young Newark (N. J.) scrapper. Except for this one title-defense, big-time boxing has come almost to a standstill throughout the country.

Rosenbloom, who has weathered a large number of fights, is overwhelmingly favored over Bain, who has only fought a few times as a light heavyweight, although he has a fairly long record in other divisions. The Harlem cuffer is expected to have only one difficulty—that of making the 175-pound limit—and he is reported to be close to the mark. The bout is to go the regulation title distance of fifteen rounds.

Two heavyweight battles head the week's program in Boston. On Tuesday night Jack Gagnon and Con O'Kelly, both Bostonians, clash

LONG BEACH CALLS OFF $3500 OPEN TOURNAMENT

Junior Chamber Says "No" to Ten Per Cent of $61,000 in Prizes Asked by Pro Organization

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the $10,000 open, has definitely taken the stand that not one penny shall be paid to the Professional Golfers' Association of America tournament bureau, which demands 10 per cent of the $61,000 in purses posted by California cities for 1930-31 midwinter open golf tournaments.

The P.G.A. could profit by giving thoughtful consideration to the fable of the goose that laid the golden egg, for as sure as little green apples lead to a tummy ache, the present tactics of the powers that be, if pursued, will effectively kill Southern California's money tournament.

WALTER HAGEN

Fed up with past experiences and demands, the young men's division of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce will write to Bob Harlow, P.G.A. tournament director, today to the effect that the $3500 open tournament scheduled for January 2, 3 and 4 is off.

Officials of the young men's division and those who have backed the tournament in past years make no bones about the fact that the action was taken following the receipt of a letter from Harlow, which requested that 10 per cent of the prize money, $350, be turned over to the tournament bureau.

ANSWER IS NO

"The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce," said Cliff Rawson, secretary-manager of the local organization, last night, "discussed Harlow's demands last Friday and an immediate reply was made by air mail.

"The answer was—No!

"The junior chamber went into lengthy details in explaining the situation to Harlow, pointing out among other things the fact that the Pacific Southwest P.G.A., an offspring of the national body, had gone on record as disapproving of the 10 per cent tribute."

"Solely by our own pioneering efforts, and the expenditure of approximately $2000 a year in national advertising, professionals were able to compete for $89,000 in prize money a year ago and almost as large an amount this year. The P.G.A. wants this 10 per cent cut only to further its interests and build up a string of money tournaments throughout the south

FULLER IS MERCURY GOLF KING

Trojan Divot Digger Wins in Battle With Bullock-Webster

Winston Fuller, Los Angeles Country Club golfer and runner-up in no end of important tournaments since he broke into prominence a few years ago, passed the also-ran stage at the Riviera Country Club yesterday when he defeated Capt. A. Bullock-Webster of Hollywood C.C. 3 and 2 in the finals of the L.A.A.C. allied clubs' tourney.

WINSTON FULLER.

The young intercollegiate star from U.S.C. was 1 up on Webster at the end of the eighteen holes of morning play and came back in the afternoon to win the match after the ex-British player had evened the count on the twenty-fourth hole. Fuller won the twenty-fifth, halved the twenty-sixth and then went 2 up on the twenty-seventh when his opponent dubbed a short putt, Webster's biggest failing all day.

The players halved the twenty-eighth and then Webster won the twenty-ninth, making him 1 down. That was the last hole he won, however, and Fuller made his victory more conclusive by winning the thirty-first and thirty-third holes. Webster had a chance to prolong the match on the thirty-fourth green, but his putter failed to connect for a birdie and he halved a par 3 to end the match, 3 and 2.

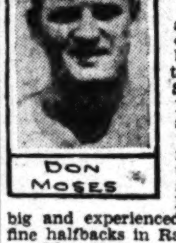
SMOKE-EATERS PERFORM IN GAME HERE TONIGHT

Bill Blewett, coach of the Los Angeles Fire Department football squad, turns his fire laddies loose against the Santa Barbara eleven tonight under the arc lights at Wrigley Field.



DON MOSES

The game starts at 8 o'clock and will be the fourth of the season for the Smoke-Eaters. It looks like an almost certain victory for the fire boys, although reports are that Santa Barbara has a big and experienced line with two fine halfbacks in Ray and Steinert.

Blewett has announced that he will start off with his power backs, which means Don Moses, "Boots" Byers, Milt Noland and Capt. Les Grimes will be in the game. They always give the fans their money's worth.

On the line the fire boys will use Royce Wheeler and Herdina, ends; Tex Zumwalt, the 37-year-old fireman, and Artman, tackles; Hasenauer and Jack Wheeler, guards, and Larry Casey, center.

Women and children will be admitted free tonight, Departmental Athletic Director E. O. Barnett being anxious for the entire family to see the Smoke-Eaters in action. This year the big game of the season will be against North Dakota University at the Coliseum on Christmas Day. Other games are with Oneonta Military Academy, San Diego Marines and Submarine Base and Arizona State College.

Knute Rockne Has Another Typical Notre Dame Football Team, Sighs Steffe

IRISH DISPLAY SCORING PUNCH

Offense, Defense Great in Carnegie Tech Game

Teamwork Features Victory Over Tartan Horde

Dartmouth Continues Way to Unbeaten Grid Record

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—When asked about his 1930 outfit last month, Coach Rockne of Notre Dame had this to say: "I'll either have another good team or a total bust." Judging from the manner the South Benders took the powerful and veteran Carnegie Tech eleven into camp last Saturday, football fans in this section feel assured that the wily mentor of Notre Dame hasn't any "total bust." In fact, he has another great team. Judge Walter Steffen, nominal coach of the Tartans, readily admitted that much today.

"Rock has another typical Notre Dame team," is the way the Chicago jurist put it. "It may be beaten this year, may be beaten badly, but it will take a strong, well-trained, hard-playing outfit to pull the trick. Our boys couldn't quite make it."

Notre Dame, which did not show much against either Southern Methodist or the Navy, did show its real power Saturday. Rockne's 1930 pupils are all big men and as well trained in fundamentals as any team Rockne ever piloted. The former Ramblers' line which Rockne recently said was "green" held like a stone wall against the Tartans' crashes last Saturday even though the two regular tackles, Donoghue and Leahy, were out of the game. In their places Saturday two big thick-legged fellows, Kurth and Culver, played a great game.

Notre Dame's offensive and defensive play this year it developed Saturday are both well diversified. The team's bristling defense was the bulwark of Saturday's victory. It was backed by powerful rushing and a splendid aerial attack operated by Marchmont, Schwartz, Kosky, Capt. Conley and Quarterback Carideo. It was passes by this trio that accounted for two of three touchdowns. A fumble by Armentrout on Notre Dame's 3-yard line accounted for the other one. Out of nine attempts they completed four passes for 87 yards, while the Tartans attempted eight passes and completed only two for 46 yards.

STRAIGHT FOOTBALL

But Notre Dame showed the Engineers something more than passing. For instance, in straight football the South Benders gained 261 yards from scrimmage to the Tartans' 189. These gains accounted for sixteen first downs for Notre Dame and seven for Carnegie. Time and again the South Benders opened gaping holes in the Tech line to let through backfield men for imposing gains. Tech was shown also some nifty tackles and blocking.

It was noticeable Saturday that no one man stood out. Rockne had the team functioning like a Diesel engine. Perhaps that was due to the fact that Rockne knew the Carnegie players would pay a good deal of attention to Savoldi. Jumping Joe, however, was far from being stopped. His 29-yard run followed by his first down immediately after paved the way for the first score.

Quarterback Carideo demonstrated he is just as good a kicker this year as he was last. His lengthy punts kept Carnegie in a hole most of the time and his unerring toe accounted for three extra points, all place kicks. Rockne will take his team to Los Angeles the first part of December to play the Trojans and that game should again be one of the highlights of the season.

Another team that will make its appearance on the Coast this year is Dartmouth, which last Saturday ran all over Columbia University of New York for a score of 52 to 0. The big green-sweatered boys will go against Pop Warner's Cardinals. Whether that game will be up to expectations or not remains to be seen.

Saturday's game at Hanover judging from the reports was only a set-up for Dartmouth, who scored almost at will. The statistics of the game tell the story. Dartmouth made twenty-six first downs, while Columbia made fourteen.

DARTMOUTH STRONG

Dartmouth lost the ball on downs only once, Columbia twice, yet Dartmouth gained 210 yards from scrimmage, while Columbia could make only 123. Dartmouth completed five out of eight attempted passes for 89 yards, and Columbia completed nine out of thirteen attempts for 86 yards. The Hanoverians intercepted three of Columbia's passes. Dartmouth lost 130 yards on penalties to 45 lost by the New York school. Columbia's poor punting kept them defending their goal line practically all through the game. The first score in the first period was the result of a poor punt when Hewitt kicked from behind his goal to his 34-yard line. Two rushes and 15-yard penalty put the ball on Columbia's 1-yard line. Morton plunged over for the touchdown and Wolff converted the extra point from placement.

The second period opened up with Dartmouth on Columbia's 13-yard line. Morton made 3 yards, then pass to Wolff, who ran over the goal then passed to Wolff, who ran over the goal line. Wolff failed to convert. Columbia passed to Dartmouth's 13-yard line, but lost the ball on downs after another pass failed. The big green boys took the ball on its own 10-yard line, but lost it on downs. Hewitt of Columbia then threw a forward pass which Porter intercepted and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. McCall tried a forward pass for the extra point but failed.

In the third period, Hodupp and Sheridan barely nipped Wolff 4 yards from Columbia's goal. Sutton drove through guard for the touchdown and Wolff added the extra point from placement. On a last down with 3 yards to go, Morton passed behind the line to Wolff, who scored an easy touchdown, and Wolff again added the extra point from placement. After the kick-off Columbia could not gain and Sheridan punted to McCall who ran 80 yards for a touchdown and then added the extra point from placement. On the first play after kick-off Toothacker who replaced McCall, cut through right tackle and ran for a touchdown and he added the extra point by running around end after the ball had been fumbled but point was not allowed.

In the fourth period it was the same story. After smashing up and down the field getting nowhere, Columbia got possession of the ball in midfield. Sheridan threw a forward pass, which was intercepted by Kimball, who ran 50 yards for a touchdown. Lee failed to kick goal.

The details indicate that the New Yorkers are no match for the New Englanders who will be forced to meet considerably stronger opposition from now on. Their skill at passing, intercepting and rushing will have to be judged from later games. Perhaps the same thing may be said of Stanford, who made a very poor showing at Minneapolis the 11th inst., and whose 13-to-7 defeat of Oregon State was not so impressive.

THREE TEAMS UNBEATEN

Oregon, Washington State and Stanford Leading in Race for Coast Conference Championship

BY HOWARD JONES
Football Coach University of Southern California
[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

As a result of Saturday's games in the Pacific Coast Conference three teams remain undefeated in the race for the championship. They are Washington State, Oregon University and Stanford. Of the three Oregon has the best chance of remaining unbeaten, due to the fact that Doc Spears's eleven, in the games to come, does not face the competition which will be sent against Washington State and Stanford.

HOWARD JONES

Oregon cleared her hardest hurdle Saturday by defeating the University of Washington, 7 to 0, in a hard-fought game at Portland. The only touchdown came soon after the start of the second half on a pass from Londahl to Kitzmiller, the play netting 50 yards. Oregon, according to all reports, had much the better of the going all day long, although the game was bitterly fought and might have been tied up had Washington received a break or two late in the battle.

Stanford, although given something of a scare, won over Oregon State, 13 to 7. I saw this game and the Stanford team apparently was in there with the idea of taking things as easy as possible. Coach Warner used largely second-stringers throughout most of the first half, and it was apparent to all of us that this line outplayed Oregon State's first team, which indicates considerable reserve strength at Stanford.

Phil Moffatt, a very good halfback, scored Stanford's two touchdowns just before the first half closed, racing 13 yards around end on a reverse lateral for the first and followed this up by taking a 20-yard pass from Rothert to scamper 15 yards over the line.

Oregon State used passes and line plays to carry the ball 70 yards in the third quarter and then Little went over from the 12-yard line.

Coach Warner told me before the game that he might be defeated inasmuch as little attempt had been made to fire the players. It was evident that the Stanford men were not extending themselves and this can mean only one thing—that the Cardinals are pointing for Southern California next Saturday. Not that most of us do not already know this, but I merely say this in order that fans may not be led astray by the small score against Oregon State.

California lost to the Olympic Club, 13 to 7, but Nibs Price used only one regular all day long, employing his reserves and saving his first-string players for next Saturday's game with Washington. Fred Schlichting, former California halfback now playing with the club, scored both touchdowns for the winners.

Southern California had an easy time with the Utah Aggies, winning, 65 to 0. The Utah team did not live up to advance predictions and as a result the game was considerably more one-sided than had been anticipated.

U.C.L.A. lost to St. Mary's, 21 to 6, in a night game on Friday.

In the Southern California Conference the San Diego State team seems to be headed for its first championship, having defeated Pomona and Occidental, usually two of the strongest elevens in the circuit.

Utah continued on its merry way in the Rocky Mountain Conference, swamping Brigham Young, 34 to 7. Denver University showed strength by trimming Colorado College, 6 to 0, while Colorado University won over Colorado Mines, 36 to 7.

CORNELL TEAM DESERVED WIN

Roper Says Ithacans Were Entitled to Victory

BY W. W. (BILL) ROPER
Princeton Football Coach
(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

BILL ROPER

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 19.—A well-drilled Cornell team defeated a hard-fighting but inexperienced Princeton team, 12-7. Cornell on the form displayed, deserved to win. The Ithacans had a decided advantage in the first half and gained rather consistently. Cornell used a single and double-wing back formation, bucking inside and outside of tackle.

The Princeton defense was hard put to stop Cornell's rushing game in the first half. Cornell also used a long forward pass to good advantage at the proper moment in the second period. The Ithacans had been bucking the Princeton line and from midfield threw a long pass over the heads of the Tiger wing backs. The Cornell quarterback showed very good judgment in using the pass at this time. He had set up the play by a series of line bucks and used the pass with telling effect at just the proper time.

Early in the first half Princeton had a very good chance to score, but failed to do so. A couple of forward passes put the Tigers on the 10-yard line, but unfortunately, the Cornell line held, and Princeton was forced to relinquish the ball on downs.

At the end of the first half it looked as if Cornell were going to run away with the game. But conditions of play were reversed in the second half. In this half Princeton showed to much better advantage. The fumble of a punt gave Princeton the ball deep in Cornell's territory, and in half a dozen plays the Princeton attack scored a touchdown. From then on Princeton had the advantage, but wasn't strong enough to score again.

In analyzing the game, I would say Princeton threw too many forward passes in the second part of the game. It is always an easy job to see why plays don't go after a game. But more running play would have set up the passes. The Princeton team showed full spirit in the second half.

Cornell has a good team. The plays run off smoothly and the attack is very well balanced. It was a hard-fought game with the best of feeling on both sides.

The Army defense was a trifle too sharp for Harvard. The Army forwards were able to put sufficient pressure on the Crimson forwards to spoil Harvard's attack before it got going. West Point has a hard-charging line and it showed to good advantage.

Yale came back in great style against Brown. Stevens started Booth instead of holding him out until the second period. Yale showed power and drive on the attack and a first-class defense. The Yale eleven looks very strong.

I was surprised at the size of the Darthmouth-Columbia score. Dartmouth has a versatile attack. Columbia showed the need of good substitutes. Fordham and Holy Cross had a close game, with honors slightly in favor of Fordham.

Pittsburgh showed considerable latent strength against Syracuse, winning by two touchdowns. Lafayette staged a fine someback after the 41-0 defeat at the hands of Colgate and held State to a scoreless tie. One of the upsets of the day was Duke's defeat of the Navy. Amherst and Williams both showed plenty of scoring power against Worcester Tech and Hobart. Villanova showed much improved form against Boston College.

ROSENBLOOM TO DEFEND CROWN

over the ten-round route with the prospect of the winner's meeting another of their townsmen, Jack Sharkey. Thursday, Johnny Risko, Cleveland's Bounding Baker, takes on Dick Daniels, Minneapolis heavyweight, in another ten-rounder.

Tod Morgan, former junior lightweight champion, heads the card on the west coast, meeting Hector MacDonald in a ten-round lightweight encounter at Los Angeles.

Other bouts on the week's national program include:

Tuesday—At Portland, Or.: Herman Ratzlaff, Minot, S. D., vs Red Uhlan, Oakland, Cal., middleweights, ten rounds. At Indianapolis: Harry Dillon, Winnipeg, vs. Chuck Burns, San Antonio, light-heavyweights, ten rounds.

OLYMPIC PLANS BOUTS

Wadhams May Go East for Material, Tod Morgan and McDonald Mix Tomorrow

Broadening plans for bigger and better matches Promoter Jack Doyle may send Matchmaker Wad Wadhams east to book outstanding fighters. Jimmy McLarnir, who is tentatively booked for Los Angeles in January, is in New York.

JACK DOYLE

The club also wants to bring Al Singer, lightweight champion, west, to meet Tod Morgan providing the ex-junior title-holder makes good in his premiere tomorrow night.

Morgan is fighting Hector McDonald, Canadian and Coast champion, in a headliner on a card of three ten-round bouts. Paulie Walker boxes Sammy Aguirre in one and Bobby Pacho is paired with Charley Ernst in the other.

Doyle sent Wadhams to New York soon after the new boxing law was made here five years ago. The matchmaker came back with two stars—Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion, and Mickey Walker, welterweight king.

Both of these matches made money for the old Vernon arena, resulting in sell-outs. Kaplan defeated Bud Ridley and Walker knocked out Bert Colima.

Two outstanding bouts are already made for the Grand avenue club in November. Newsboy Brown will meet Claude Varner in a rematch on November 4. Tommy Freeman, welterweight champion, boxes Sammy Jackson over the weight on November 18.

Morgan is choice over McDonald for tomorrow night's bout. McDonald has made good fights at Hollywood, where he defeated Goldie Hess recently.

It was the Hess victory that gave the Canadian claim on the Coast lightweight championship. He lost to Johnny Lamar and Cecil Payne in close fights.

P.G.A. DEMANDS DENIED

Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce Refuses 10 Per Cent Requested by Pro Organization

and other sections of the country, but Southern California opens are not held for that purpose."

DEMANDS RESISTED

"And furthermore," says Rawson, "the P.G.A. tournament bureau is going to meet a concentrated resistance all along the line. There are many interesting developments and I have had letters from Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Glendale and Pasadena, all of which I am sure are refusing to pay the 10 per cent.

"I am sorry to see Long Beach drop out. As for the Los Angeles open, if Walter Hagen, Horton Smith, Tommy Armour and the others want to stay out, it's perfectly all right with us, the tournament will be held for those who do want to compete."

"The whole business is unnecessary and unfair," concluded Rawson, "and won't be tolerated for a minute."

The P.G.A. tournament bureau was organized last year with Hal Sharkey, eastern newspaper man, as the director. Hal attempted to get the money from the tournament heads, but met with little or no success, and then asked each player to contribute 10 per cent of his winnings. Some of the players did, and some didn't and bad feeling was generated throughout the professional ranks.

APPEARANCE MONEY

This year Harlow was put in command. Bob, you know, is the personal representative of Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, and the handwriting was plainly to be seen on the wall. The next step if this 10 per cent business had been a success, it is generally believed, would be a request for appearance money, as Harlow has already intimated that Hagen and Smith would not play in any tournaments unless they were tipped on the side.

In a letter to A. H. (Ollie) Painter, Southern California tournament director, dated the 7th inst., Harlow seems to think that everything is hotsy-totsy.

Quoting from the letter, Bob writes as follows:

"With regard to the battle of the 10 per cent, I am not doing any worrying over this particular item. The bureau decided that it was not sound to ask the players to contribute their prize winnings—and that will stand. There is no reason why the places obtaining dates on the schedule should not contribute something for the upkeep of this bureau and I have no question but that this situation will be satisfactorily worked out to all concerned. It is not my intention to do anything to antagonize the Southern California gentlemen who have been kind enough to put up a large amount of prize money for the professionals. Southern California as a matter of fact is the backbone of the winter tournament schedule.

WELL, WELL, WELL

When I get the set-up for this tournament bureau, we do not intend to do all the work and then take what the boys decide they want to give us—but to decide ourselves what we consider this service to be worth, and to get it. Those cities which do not wish to pay will simply have to get along without our services. I think we will make the bureau sufficiently strong, and the service sufficiently attractive, that they will play with us."

Bob is certainly not bashful.

It is to be hoped that Long Beach will come back in the fold. The Long Beach open has been a leading event each year, and the tie between Joe Kirkwood and Olin Dutra last winter was one of the features of the winter tournaments.

"Long Beach has soured on the pros," explains Verne Wickham, a member of the young men's division who directed the tournament a year ago. Each year we have gone out after the prize money and we could get it this year, but that 10 per cent letter of Harlow's was the last straw.

APPROPRIATION MADE

"The city had the $3500 prize money on its budget this year, but a new administration came in with an economy program and the city fathers decided that as interest was lacking in the open that amount could be just as well saved and the appropriation was taken off.

"We have had to battle for the money every year, however, and I could go out and get it without any trouble, but what's the use? Two of the biggest men in Long Beach, both of whom have been enthusiastic backers of the tournament in the past and could underwrite the prize money are disgusted with the attitude of the professionals and want nothing to do with it."

The attitude taken by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and other communities should stabilize the midwinter schedule, however, and the national P.G.A. certainly ought to get the idea that their demands are not to be taken seriously.

Southern California can easily get along without the pros, but we don't see how the pros are going to get along without Southern California. It's a soft touch for the eastern paid-to-play boys, who can't work at home during the winter months to come to the sunny Southland for the winter and play for upward of $100,000.

The junior chamber is to be complimented on its stand.

TOBEY TO OFFICIATE AT NEWSIES' BOXFEST

Dan Tobey will be master of ceremonies at the boxing and vaudeville show to be staged at the Main-street club November 24 to raise funds for the annual Thanksgiving Day dinner for the Los Angeles newsboys. For several years Tobey has aided in making the annual affair a success. Carlo Curtis has completed a check of the newsboys in the city and indications are that fully 3000 newsboys will be guests at the free dinner. Curtis arranged the first annual dinner eight years ago. It has grown from a 250-plate affair to the largest newsboys' event of the year.

Fleet Champs Given Pasting

LONG BEACH, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—San Diego Submarines, Pacific Coast fleet football champions for the past five years, suffered its first defeat since 1925 here, this afternoon when Manuel Laraneta's Longshoremen scored twice in the fourth quarter for a 12-0 victory.

Mike Drye, local quarterback, smashed over from the 3-yard line for the first score after a fumble and a 15-yard penalty against the invaders gave the Longshoremen possession only 3 yards from the goal line. A few minutes later, "Gunboat" Hartjes, Longshoreman halfback, went over from the 3-yard line again after Sam Thomas had recovered a San Diego fumble on the Sub 25-yard line, and Drye had fired a 20-yard pass to Gleaton, who was downed on the 5-yard mark.

STANFORD HAS SLIGHT EDGE OVER TROJANS

game and even then he may hold up his decision until starting time.

My guess, if you care for it, is that Duffield, who did so well against the Cards last year, will start at quarter.

It is hard to figure Stanford this season, inasmuch as the Cards have played under wraps in nearly every game. Trust Pop Warner to have his team fired up by Saturday, and trust him also to cut loose with some new stuff. There is no question but what Stanford is a better football team than she has shown to date.

Defensively, it looks as if Stanford has the edge Saturday. I find the following points on Stanford's side:

(1.) More powerful line than S.C. and better line reserves. This line was not scored on by the Trojans last year.

(2.) Line, while not as good as in 1929, due to loss of Heinecke, Preston, Muller, Artman, etc., is, nevertheless, better than present Trojan line.

(3.) Backfield not as good defensively as last year, particularly if Warner uses Hillman, Simkins and Rothert in there at the same time. These men cannot, because of their weight, defend well against S.C.'s passing attack and passes will be Troy's main hope Saturday. Hillman, backing up the line, is not as good as Smalling and Fleishhacker have been in the past.

As for Southern California's defense we find:

(1.) Line not as good as last year's, lacking experience and reserve strength. However, last year's line prevented Stanford from scoring.

(2.) Backfield defense only fair, particularly against passes, which may also be Stanford's main offensive hope. Better on defense against passes with Mohler and Shaver in there than with Duffield and Musick. Shifting Musick to backing up line has helped and Duffield is sure to be at his peak against Stanford, which means he will be better on pass defense than he was against Washington State.

Offensively, I think the Trojans have an edge, thusly:

(1.) Less punch than last year but a more versatile attack, use of which is, of course, dependent on quarterback's remembering to call plays not yet employed.

(2.) Unlikely that Mohler and Duffield will be bottled up all day long. Musick and Shaver real threats at middle of Stanford's line, particularly with Heinecke gone and present guards no stronger than those of 1929.

MOFFATT CARD ACE

Stanford's offense, as far as Southern California is concerned, may be summed up as follows:

(1.) Phil Moffatt. This chap is the only player on Stanford's team you call dangerous. Clark approaches this classification. The Trojans have always stopped big men. Schwartz didn't hurt them much at Pullman; it was Lainhart and Ellingsen who did the ball carrying.

(2.) Tremendous power with Hillman, Rothert, Caglieri and Simkins, plus knowledge that sometime, someplace this power is going to score a touchdown. Whether it can do so Saturday remains to be seen.

(3.) Superior punting. Moffatt and Rothert have been kicking exceptionally well and this edge may hurt the Trojans a lot. However, if Jones gives his quarterbacks orders to employ only Shaver or Kirkwood on kicks from punt formation the Trojans will not be outclassed enough to make any difference.

If Stanford couldn't score on Minnesota it is unlikely that the Cards will register against S.C., is another line of reasoning. But there you get back to the beginning again where it was pointed out that Pop Warner has not fired his men for any game this season. When Pop sends his boys into action Saturday you can wager all the wolves in Wall street that they will be primed for their greatest effort of the season. Pop said as much at the close of last year.

ANGELS ANNEX TWIN BILL

Seraphs Wind Up Season by Defeating Hollywood by Scores of 7 to 5 and 6 to 4

Carl Dittmar for protesting a decision on second. We thought the arbiter was right on both decisions, but at least it showed the athletes were battling.

The second game, scheduled for seven rounds, went eight innings before the Angels pushed over three runs to the Stars' one to gain a verdict. The opener was decided by Carl Dittmar's home run with one on in the eighth that wiped out a one-run lead gained by the Sheiks in the sixth, when Jess Hill homed with a man on. The Angels, however, scored another run in the ninth to make their cause a bit safer.

DITTMAR SHINES

Both sides fielded spectacularly, Dittmar making a super catch in the nightcap to provide the best effort of the afternoon. Lee, Barbee, Carlyle, Burns, Jacobs and Statz also made sensational catches and if the fans didn't get their money's worth they must have been sound asleep.

George Hollerson opposed Ballou in the opener but was lifed for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Vance Page finished. In the nightcap Augie Johns gave Moncrief a whale of a hurling battle but lost because of two bad rounds in which the Angels scored all six of their runs.

With Mickey Heath nursing an injured instep as a result of fouling off a ball on his hoof in Saturday's game, Emil Yde held down first base for the Stars in both games. The Angels, however, wound up the second game with a believe-it-or-not infield, Truck Hannah going to third base and Jigger Statz to short after Dittmar was run out.

The nightcap started off with Moncrief and Johns dealing blanks for the first four frames. The Angels broke the ice in the fifth with three runs when Jacobs was hit by a pitched ball, Statz singled, Dittmar sacrificed, Skiff singled, Johns threw Moncrief's bunt high to first and Burns singled.

The Stars got one run back in their half of the fifth on a walk to Lee, errors by Statz and Parker and Jones's sacrifice fly.

SHEIKS TIE IT UP

Hollywood tied it up in the sixth on singles by Bassler and Johns, who scored on Gazella's double off the center-field fence.

In the Angel eighth Parker beat out a bunt, but was forced by Burns. Moore and Schulmerich singled to score Burns and then Jacobs doubled to bring in Moore. Statz was purposely walked to fill the bases. Hannah spoiled the strategy by singling to left, Schulmerich scoring. Jacobs, however, was out at the plate, Hill to Gazella to Bassler.

Bassler, Hill and Barbee, the latter batting for Johns, opened the Hollywood eighth with singles that filled the bases, but Moncrief got out of the round with but one run scoring. The lone tally came in when Statz, Parker and Jacobs were turning Gazella's grounder into a double play. Parker tossed out Lee to end the game.

Missions and Seals Divide

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19. (AP)—The lowly Missions took the series from the San Francisco Seals by halving a double-header here today. The Missions copped the opener, 3 to 2, but dropped the seven-inning encounter, 6 to 5. They won the series four games to three.

The Missions sewed up the first game before the Seals made their first tally in the eighth. Hufft for the Missions and Sheely for the Seals each collected a home run.

The nightcap turned into a batting orgy with the Missions pounding out sixteen hits off Perry and the Seals retaliating by finding Darrough and T. Pillette for twelve safeties which they bunched effectively.

MARITIME LINES IN NEW COMBINE

Kerr Services Merge With Java Pacific Fleet

New Schedule of Operation Set for First of Year

Lack of Tea-Taster at Port Delays Nippon Liner

BY WALDO DRAKE

Combination of the three British-flag services of the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc., (Silver Line, Ltd.) with the Dutch fleet of the Java-Pacific Line, pioneer in the East Indian-California trade, was announced in advices received yesterday by Capt. Harry H. Birkholm, district manager of the General Steamship Corporation. The latter will be local agent for the new combine, to be known as the Silver-Java-Pacific Line.

The new schedules, to be inaugurated January 1, 1931, will include operation of approximately twenty fast refrigerated freight vessels in three services, running from the Pacific Coast to the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, the Straits Settlements, India and Burma. Pacific Coast ports of call will include Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver.

It is expected all of Silver Line's seventeen motor ships will be retained, with the exception of four slow vessels now in service to the Philippines-Straits range, and that Java-Pacific Line probably will place seven Dutch vessels in the combine. Only four 11.5-knot vessels are now operated by Java-Pacific Line in its California-East Indies service.

Silver-Java-Pacific Line will be represented at Los Angeles by the General Steamship Corporation, at San Francisco, by the Trans-Pacific Transportation Company, at Portland and Seattle by Burchard & Fisken, Inc., and at Vancouver by Dingwall, Cotts & Co.

Shipping observers a month ago predicted the Silver Line and Java-Pacific merger as an effort to check the inroads being made into East Indian-Philippines trade by American operators.

MOTORSHIP REQUIRED TO MAKE EXTRA STOP

Again the lack of a government tea taster at Los Angeles Harbor compels another Los Angeles-bound ship to put in at San Francisco. It is the new Osaka Shoshen Kaisha motor liner Kwanto Maru, on her maiden voyage on the Japan-New York run, which normally makes Los Angeles the only Pacific Coast port of call.

The ship, due here late this month, has more than 1000 bales of silk for transhipment overland from here to New York. However, it also has a consignment of tea, and when line officials ascertained no tea expert is stationed at Los Angeles Harbor, the ship was ordered first into San Francisco. The consequent delay in dispatching the silk from Los Angeles will be approximately thirty-six hours.

That the situation will be remedied was assured by customs officials yesterday, who declared such a tea expert will be assigned here within thirty days. The remedy is said to have been ordered after A. G. Arnoll, secretary-manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, appealed to Washington.

More than 1000 delegates to the Los Angeles convention of the Telephone Pioneers of America took passage on the Wrigley liner Catalina yesterday for an afternoon at Avalon, led by Fred Smith, manager of telephone companies at the harbor. They were to return to the mainland last night, as the final event of the national gathering. The liner Catalina today will go off the run for a month for general cleaning and overhauling, being relieved by the liner Avalon, and the latter's schedule will be taken over by the liner Cabrillo.

Allocation of the 42,000-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, now completing in a British yard, to an around-the-world cruise early in 1932, with stops at Los Angeles Harbor and San Francisco in March, was announced yesterday. Two days will be spent at each of the California ports.

The Empress of Britain goes into Quebec-Southampton service next spring and will make the Atlantic crossing over the St. Lawrence route in five days. A new feature of the giant liner will be radio telephones, by which passengers may converse from their cabins with friends ashore, in either North America or Europe, while the ship is in mid-ocean.

New bids on four $4,000,000 liners for the Panama Mail Steamship Company will be opened at New York tomorrow by executives of W. R. Grace & Co., parent concern of Panama Mail. Ship yards on both coasts will present tenders for the job, including the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, whose officials hold renewed hope of the contract since the original bids, wherein eastern yards were low, were rejected as too high. Since then specifications have been changed.

Panama Mail's liner Ecuador, due from San Francisco this morning, will sail with 100 passengers and capacity of Pacific cargo tonight for Central America and New York. Among the travelers are ten from Los Angeles on a special tour, leaving the ship at Panama for trips to South America, Cuba and Mexico City. Others include W. Binnie Tait, vice-president of the Annandale Golf and Country Club, Pasadena; Edwin Rhodes, president of the Chino National Bank at Chino, and A. E. Hughes, Olive rancher, and Mrs. Hughes, who will pass the winter at Havana.

The trans-Pacific Dollar liner President Jackson arrived from China via San Francisco yesterday to disembark two-score passengers and discharge 1400 tons of oriental freight. She will sail back at noon today after taking on forty travelers and loading 1200 tons. Among the departures are Lieut. John E. Murphy, U.S.N., Mrs. Murphy and daughter, Miss Patricia of Swissdale, Pa., en route to his new post at Manila.

KETTLEMAN OIL AT NEW HURDLE

Leasing of Fee Lands Near Proven Area Active

Conservation Committee to Meet Fresh Problem

Double Unit Plan Adoption May Prove Solution

The leasing of acreage in close proximity to the more productive wells on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field and the fact that much of the new field activity is on fee land is considered of such importance to the oil and gas conservation committee that considerable emphasis will be placed on the double-unit plan now being considered by the operators in that field.

In the Kettleman Hills field there now are nine active drilling projects. Five are preparing foundations for derricks, several projects are rigging up and another is building derrick. Six months ago, activities in the entire field had simmered down to perhaps a half-dozen tests.

Much of the new activity is centralizing on Sec. 36, 21-17. It is there that fee land may be leased to operators. Union, North American, Richfield, Midland, Shell and Elsinore Oil have so far obtained acreage on that section, and it is expected that at least a half-dozen wells will be drilled there during the next few months.

The proposed double-unit plan, major operators believe, may prevent a competitive drilling campaign which would increase the daily production, now estimated at 25,000 barrels from eight producers, to a point where it might seriously affect the State-wide curtailment program.

The Standard Oil Company at present leads all other concerns at Kettleman Hills in point of operations. Standard is drilling three projects and grading location for two more. Three of its wells offset the Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1, now the record producer for that field, and the company's two other wells protect its acreage from possible drainage.

Superior, Petroleum Securities, Associated, Milham, Pacific Western and Continental each have increased their drilling operations at Kettleman Hills within the past two months. Superior is pouring foundation for Huffman No. 2; Petroleum Securities is rigging up Felix No. 3; Pacific Western's No. 12 is drilling below 4221 feet and Shell's Dixon No. 1 is drilling at 6030 feet. Union and Richfield, newest operators on the north dome, are active in leasing property in already proven areas.

RAMSEY OIL MEN BACK IN LOCAL FIELD

Brother Developers of Signal Hill Unit Will Open Office Here

The Ramsey Brothers, who developed one of the Long Beach municipal leases at Signal Hill when that oil field was at the height of its glory, have returned to California and are opening offices at No. 737 Roosevelt Building, Los Angeles.

W. E. Ramsey, who has been here for several weeks, and who maintains a winter home at Santa Monica Palisades, will be in charge of the local offices, while W. R. Ramsey will continue to direct their affairs in Oklahoma, where they have headquarters in Oklahoma City as the Ramsey Petroleum Corporation.

Within the next few weeks the company will establish a land department here, and will bring several geologists from the Oklahoma office. In the Mid-Continent field the Ramsey Brothers have been quite successful for the past few years. They were successful with several wildcat wells, and are credited with having discovered at least two different oil fields.

Little Bonanza Reports Strike

SONORA, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Six months of concentrated effort on the Little Bonanza, one of the several mines owned by the Ottis-Monnette Mining Company, has rewarded the owners with a new four-foot quartz vein contacting black slate and porphyry.

The mine is now one of the best equipped in the Mother Lode district, being electrified throughout, including telephone and electric lights in the workings. Included in the Ottis-Monnette group are the Fairview and Graham properties.

WYMAN TO TAKE NEW STATE JOB

Succeeds Abel as Chief Engineer of Corporation Commission

L. C. Wyman, for eight years an engineer with the Division of Corporations, has been named to succeed Walter D. Abel, chief engineer of the division, whose resignation was announced several days ago. Announcement of Wyman's selection was made yesterday by Corporation Commissioner Arthur H. Garland. Wyman has been transferred from the Sacramento office to the Los Angeles office of the division and will have his headquarters in the southern branch.

He is a graduate of the Case School of Applied Science of Cleveland, O., and before entering the State service had practical mining experience in Mexico and several western States. He is familiar with oil and mining conditions in these States and particularly in California.

Mr. Abel's resignation becomes effective today after a service with the corporation division since 1923. He will engage in the private practice of his profession. Chiefly, he said, his plan is to act as associate with attorneys and mining men and as consultant with engineers, co-operating with them and advising them in oil and mining matters for presentation to the corporation division. He has established offices in the Quinby Building.

PROMISING TUNGSTEN PROPERTY

Strike in Boriana Mine Near Kingman Declared Unusually Valuable

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Oct. 20. (Exclusive)—Tungsten ore, of quality declared "wonderful," is being found in raises from a 2000-foot tunnel on the Boriana property. The ore is both sheelite and wulframite. A flow sheet is being worked out for a mill that soon will be ready for operation, with capacity for 100 tons of ore a day.

The White Horse shaft at Mineral Park is being sunk from the 300 to the 500-foot level, with lateral work to be pushed on both levels. Good values are reported found on the 200. Water was struck in considerable volume on the 300, where there was change in the character of the ore.

From Searchlight camp, across the Colorado in Nevada, are coming good reports of discoveries that have followed recent explorations for gold ores. The Duplex property is to be equipped with a fifty-ton mill. T. A. Hahan and H. Comfort of Los Angeles are at the head of the Cyrus Noble operations, where work is to be resumed on two levels. It is probable that something will be done soon toward resuming work on the well-known Quartette property.

Mine Concern Plans Smelter in Local Area

The probability that a smelter may soon be built at Santa Ana or Huntington Beach looms large as a result of action recently taken by the Copperconda Mines Company, operating near Kingman, Ariz., and in the southern part of that State.

At a recent meeting of Copperconda stockholders, in Kingman, consideration was given to the idea of floating a bond issue for the purpose of building a smelter at Santa Ana or some neighboring point where an adequate supply of gas would be available.

The company plans to produce zinc oxide, for which there is said to be a permanent and satisfactory market.

Texas Revenues From Gasoline Tax Totals High

AUSTIN (Tex.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—During the fiscal year ending August 31, 1930, the 4-cents-a-gallon gasoline sales tax brought to the State a total revenue of $32,221,529.78, according to the annual report of State Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Refunds were made to farmers for fuel used in tractors and to other claimants under the law amounting to $2,292,535.56, leaving a balance of $29,928,994.22, of which $22,446,745.67 went to the State highway fund and $7,482,248.55 to the available public-school fund.

GASOLINE PLANT CONTRACTS LET

Two Natural-Gas Projects to Cost $500,000

Campbell Equipment Called for in Each

Combined Capacity Fixed at 80,000 Barrels

Contracts involving an investment of more than $500,000 and calling for the construction of two natural-gasoline plants, whose combined capacity will be 80,000 gallons per day, have just been placed—one with the J. A. Campbell Company, natural-gas engineers of Long Beach, and the other with the Stearns-Roger Manufacturing Company of Denver, the Mid-Continent representative of the Campbell Company. Both contracts specify Campbell equipment throughout. These two contracts are said to be among the largest placed during 1930 dealing with the construction of natural-gasoline plants.

One of the contracts calls for the construction of a 450 pound high-pressure gasoline plant for the Belridge Oil Company, to be located on the Belridge lease, and to handle the gas from their well No. 15. Construction, which is now under way, is scheduled to be completed on or before December 8.

The second contract, awarded to the Stearns-Roger Manufacturing Company, calls for the construction of a 30,000-gallon plant for the Louisiana Gas and Fuel Company, at Sugar Creek, near Arcadia, La. This installation specifies equipment built for a gas pressure of 500 pounds, which will produce 30,000 gallons of gasoline per day. Fabrication of equipment and construction will be handled by Stearns-Roger. This plant, the second built for the Louisiana Gas and Fuel Company within the past two years specifying Campbell equipment, will, according to J. A. Campbell, be in operation within ninety days.

GUILDFORD GOLD MINE OPERATING

Crew of Twenty Put to Work on Properties at Poverty Point

Operations have been started at the Guildford gold mining properties at Poverty Point in El Dorado county, near Placerville. These properties lie on the South Fork of the American River and have a record of approximately $500,000 worth of gold production.

Work now being conducted consists of reopening two tunnels and cross-cutting on the vein in what is known as the New York shaft, which is at the depth of 180 feet. The properties are all electrically equipped and have a ten-stamp mill ready to run ore. A crew of twenty men is now working under L. F. S. Holland, mining engineer. Other officers of the company are John McKean, former vice-president of the Richfield Oil Company; Claud B. Andrews, attorney; John M. Barteaux and Vernon L. King.

This company controls 840 acres of patented property at and near this location on the Mother Lode. These properties have been consolidated over a period of several years by Mr. A. Bering-Gould.

Completion in Texas Opens Up New Oil Field

AUSTIN (Tex.) Oct. 20. (Exclusive)—Report has been made to the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of the opening of a new oil pool in Crane county by the Cranfill Brothers Oil Company of Dallas. At a depth of 4295 feet on its J. D. Tubbs lease the company brought in a well that flowed 100 barrels in five minutes, before being shut in to await storage. The oil is sweet and it tests 38 deg. gravity. The gas flow was estimated at 10,000,000 cubic feet daily.

The discovery well is about fifteen miles from the nearest production in Ward county and eighteen miles from the Crane-Upton county pool. The Gulf Production Company has an interest in the well and lease. Cranfill Brothers Oil Company is drilling a second test about two and one-half miles south of the discovery well.

Olympic Mining Lays Plans for Winter Activity

TONOPAH (Nev.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—The Olympic Mines Company reports a strong ledge of profitable ore has been developed in the north drift from the 200-foot level, and that preparations are being made for steady production during the winter season. Good ore is also showing in other sections of the property, which is located four miles from the Simon district. Ores carry gold and silver.

Rich silver-lead ore has been opened at a depth of 1100 feet in the property of the Lucky Boy Consolidated Company, near Hawthorne, according to the management. The ore was uncovered by a winze from the main tunnel. A second winze is said to show an orebody running high in silver.

Sidetracking Job at Buttonwillow

BUTTONWILLOW, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—The Nordon Oil Company plans to side track the fish in its Salisbury No. 1A. Total depth is 5065 feet. In fishing for frozen drill pipe, Nordon recovered 4748 feet. It has been cemented in place and will be sidetracked. Nordon is the only operator drilling in the Buttonwillow district.

Almost 6600 feet of hole have been made by the Shell Oil Company in its Williams No. 1 test well on Sec. 17, 27-23 at Semitropic Ridge in Kern county.

SCHEELITE FIND AT RANDSBURG

Strike in Elkhorn Property Believed Important

Showing Mixed Through Gold and Silver Deposit

Discovery Near Famous Old Atolia Tungsten

From the Elkhorn mine at Randsburg comes word of a scheelite discovery which is believed to be of considerable economic importance. Miners have uncovered a six-inch vein of scheelite, commonly known as tungsten, in a new drift which is being driven on the 220-foot level. The workmen have been following a gold and silver vein for some time, and they found the scheelite running along with the more precious metal.

The Elkhorn is a comparatively new property, having been opened a year ago. The scheelite strike is in virgin ground about a mile and a half from the once famous Atolia tungsten mines, and four miles from Randsburg.

In the Randsburg district the Tonopah Mining Company, operating at Anvil Springs, is running a fifteen-ton stamp mill and shipping high-grade lead. The ore is gold-silver-lead. The property is sixty-two miles from Shoshone, on the west side of the Panamint range, in Inyo county, at an elevation of 5000 feet.

General Lays Foundation for New Taft Hole

TAFT, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—On Sec. 26, 11-24, General Petroleum Corporation has the foundation in for its Orloff No. 1 and is assembling material for construction work. Brown shale formation at more than 3000 feet is being drilled through by General Pete's Moco No. 218 on Sec. 35, 12-24.

Shale and oil sand have been cored through to nearly 4200 feet in Standard's 3D-67, while rigging of rotary is in progress for Standard's No. 33G-112.

The Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company's No. 88 is being rigged up following the company's recent completion of its No. 87 on the same section for a reported production of 600 barrels of oil daily.

Mine Exhibits Attractions at Arizona Fairs

PHOENIX, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Never before has there been such general interest in Arizona exhibits of mine ores and operations, according to P. D. Overfield, secretary of the State Fair Association. Much new material will come next month to the State Fair here, for housing in a handsome brick building, the best on the grounds, furnished and erected by the larger mining corporations of the State.

Around this structure will be exhibits of mining and reduction machinery and processes, while there will be continuing screen shows of mine work. This feature was found of very large interest last year. Practically every mineral of value in the State will be shown by the University of Arizona.

Even the agricultural sections have had mineral exhibits at many local fairs, with inclusion of the Coconino county fair, at Flagstaff, the Cochise county fair at Douglas and the Santa Cruz fair at Sonoita, while showings are planned for the Graham county fair at Safford, the Southside Maricopa fair at Chandler, the Northside fair at Glendale and the Pinal county fair at Coolidge.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT AT GOLD ESTATE

Idaho-Maryland Reports on Progress at Mine

Value of Ore Developed Set at $2,500,000

Stamp Mill Runs Steadily on $12 to $15 Ores

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—The Idaho-Maryland Consolidated Mines, Inc., operating gold properties at Grass Valley, reports development of an ore body of over 1000 feet on five levels, including the 1500 and 1950. This block of ore has been developed to a vertical depth of 500 feet, is said to contain over 200,000 tons of fairly rich mill ore, and is valued by the management at more than $2,500,000. The company estimates that extraction of this ore should yield net profits exceeding $1,500,000. The management states another vein of high promise has been developed on the 2000-foot level, and that plans are advancing for construction of a 150-ton milling plant. At present twenty stamps are dropping steadily on ore milling $12 to $15 per ton.

The Acme Mine & Mill, Inc., operating at Oat Hill mine in Napa county, reports the October output is expected to approximate 100 flasks of mercury, compared with eighty flasks in September. Development of new veins is said to be proceeding favorably, with the outlook promising for a long period of profitable operations. The corporation is said to have sold its La Joya quicksilver mine to the Lucky Strike Mining Company for $85,000.

The Gold Hub Mining Company, working quartz-gold claims near Downieville, is installing mine equipment, building an electric power line to the property, and arranging for extensive mining. Two tunnels have been started and the old shaft is to be dewatered and sunk to a depth of 300 feet. One tunnel is said to have disclosed a four-foot ledge of promising ore. Southern Californians are understood to be largely interested.

The Shenandoah Gold Mining Company of Los Angeles, is arranging to sink a vertical shaft on its Mayflower property in the Canada Hill district, east of Nevada City. The 400-foot Greenman shaft was recently dewatered and is being enlarged preliminary to vigorous work on the bottom level.

A letter from Mr. Charles R. Hook, President of the Company, to which reference is hereby made, and of which copies will be furnished upon request, is summarized by him as follows:

The Company is the largest manufacturer in the world specializing in high grade iron and steel sheets. Directly or through subsidiaries the Company also manufactures culverts, bolts and nuts, reinforcing rods, bars, forged steel wheels and wire products. The Company has developed and patented a method for the production of iron and steel sheets and light plates by a continuous rolling process from the ingot to the finished product which has been in successful operation for over six years and has revolutionized the sheet industry. General licenses for the use of this patented process have been issued to The Weirton Steel Company, The Wheeling Steel Corporation, The U. S. Steel Corporation, The Republic Steel Corporation, The Otis Steel Company, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Gulf States Steel Company and The Great Lake Steel Corporation.

Purpose of Issue

The proceeds of the sale of these Notes will be used to retire indebtedness incurred in connection with the Company's recently completed expansion program and will provide additional working capital.

Balance Sheet

The consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its subsidiaries as of June 30, 1930, adjusted to give effect to this financing, shows net tangible assets, after deducting all liabilities other than funded debt, of $117,897,704. Total funded debt amounts to $44,291,300. Current assets, including the proceeds of this financing, amount to $44,559,804 and current liabilities to $3,411,187.

Earnings

Consolidated net income of the Company and its subsidiaries (not including Sheffield Steel Corporation which was acquired in 1930), after depreciation and depletion but before interest and Federal income tax, for the two years ended December 31, 1928 and 1929 (the first two years in which earnings of the Columbia Steel Co. and Norton Iron Works were included), as certified to by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, amounted to $6,185,097 and $8,307,239, respectively, or more than 2.8 times and 3.8 times the annual interest requirements on the total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of this financing. For the six months ended June 30, 1930, such net income (including earnings of Sheffield Steel Corporation), as reported by the Company, amounted to $2,760,504 or at the rate of more than 2½ times such interest requirements.

The unsatisfactory industrial situation now prevailing will undoubtedly be further reflected in the current earnings of the Company, but there has recently been a substantial increase in the volume of bookings which, it is hoped, marks a definite improvement in the demand for the Company's products.

Equity

Dividends on the Company's common stock are being paid at the rate of $2 per share in cash and 5% in common stock per annum. The outstanding preferred and common stocks at present quoted prices have an indicated market value of more than $60,000,000.

Authorized and presently to be issued, $15,000,000. Coupon Notes in denomination of $1,000. Interest payable May 1 and November 1, without deduction for any Federal income tax up to 2%. Principal and interest payable at the principal office of Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

Redeemable as a whole or in part at the option of the Company at any time on 30 days notice at 101% and accrued interest to and including November 1, 1931; thereafter to and including November 1, 1932, at 100½% and accrued interest, and thereafter at 100% and accrued interest.

MEXICO ALTERS MINING POLICY

West Coast Operators Get Labor Concession

Reduction Allowed in Labor Crews at Properties

Number of Native Workers Required Also Cut

NOGALES (Ariz.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Though attended with difficulty, owing to the government's labor policy, the mines of the Mexican West Coast appear to have been successful in securing some reduction of forces. There is report of cancellation of the Department of Labor order that permitted mining companies to reduce by 50 per cent without special permission.

One concession given is permission to employ as low as 75 per cent of Mexican labor, instead of 90 per cent.

Other important changes include perpetuation of mining concessions, provided assessment work and taxes are kept up; treatment plants may be erected without special authorization; foreign corporations may lease and operate mines and own shares in Mexican mining companies; there has been reduction of annual assessment requirements; mining claims may be grouped, as is the custom in the United States, and work done on one claim may suffice for the entire group.

The Boleo Copper Company, a French corporation operating in the southern end of Lower California, has petitioned for permission to drop 3500 of its 5000 employees. Its camp wholly is dependent upon company employment and serious maintenance conditions may result. There has been approval of decrease of force and of wages in El Tigre camp, south of Douglas, this with governmental permission, while the Tigre Leasing Company, operating in Jalisco, has been permitted to shut down and drop 160 men.

Globe Vanadium Property Ships Car to Europe

GLOBE (Ariz.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—A carload of vanadium concentrates has been dispatched hence for San Pedro, there to be shipped to Europe, and two carloads a month are to go out in the future.

The concentrates are from the mill of the United Canadium Corporation, at Dripping Springs, where the company has spent $100,000 already and is continuing on a program of expansion and betterments.

More than fifty men are employed, directed by G. Nadeo, who comes from the company's vanadium property near Wickenburg. There is a steady market for the product in Europe, where it is used in the manufacture of dyes. James G. Scarborough of Los Angeles is president of the corporation.

Bassett Sights Gain in Africa Copper Supply

MIAMI (Ariz.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—That at some time in the future 25 per cent of the world's copper supply will come from South Africa was predicted at a recent club dinner here, in honor of William H. Bassett, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

The guest spoke especially of the large market for copper afforded in the manufacture of alloys, a use that appears to be increasing year by year. He called attention to the fact that three of the recent defenders of the America's cup have been built of bronze. The use of copper in automobile construction is increasing, he says.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Not Beryl

BRAWLEY, Oct. 1.—Question: Please find in attached package three samples found in the Chocolate Mountains, in the northeast part of Imperial county, California. Please tell me what they are through your In the Earth column. Do they represent any commercial values? X.

Answer: Sample No. 1 is iridescent (rainbow) quartz, and represents a comparatively low commercial value for use as so-called Brazilian diamond. No. 2 consists of three thumb specimens of low-grade quartz which are not transparent and practically of no value. No. 3 is of two samples of quartz crystal; one of them is low-grade yellowish citrine quartz, and the other one is crystal quartz much clouded, impure with iron-manganese oxide. Nos. 2 and 3 might be sold to universities and mineral collectors as impure specimens at a low price each. The crystals of quartz are striated transversely, or at right angles to the axis of the prism. The fracture of the two minerals is widely different. Beryl breaks into smooth planes, the faces of which are at right angles to the axis of the crystal, while the fractured surface of quartz is invariably conchoidal (shell-like.) Crystals of beryl are striated longitudinally.

Quartzite

LOMPOC, Oct.1.— Q.: Under separate cover I am sending you a sample of mineral which I believe is quartzite. Does it carry any free gold or other minerals. This sample was taken on the surface of a large deposit near Briceburg, Mariposa county, California. Please publish results through In the Earth column of The Times. X.

A.: The sample is probably quartzite, colored slightly with chromite. Traces of iron oxides present on one side, with bare traces of microscopic mica, microscopical pyrite and traces of microscopic sphalerite (zinc sulphide.) Free gold absent. The United States Geological Survey bulletins refer to quartzite as a sandstone in which the grains are so cemented by silica that they break across the rock when it is fractured. The sample is impure with the matter stated and it does not represent building stone and doubtful regarding such mineral for the same uses as quartz.

Quartz

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—Q.: Please advise me. What is this sample of rock? Has it any commercial value? What is it used for? Found north of Barstow, San Bernardino county, California. W.

A.: It is milk white greasy quartz of good grade. Such quartz sells at very low prices. It might be used for paint mixtures, as flux, and as a heat- and sound insulator. Value probably $2 per ton, f.o.b cars.

A Mixture

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—Q.: Is gold or silver present in this specimen? Is it a close ally of either metal? It was taken from workings five miles from Tecate, San Diego county. O.

A.: Quartz, biotite (black mica of the mining boys in the hills,) and hornblende are more or less present in the rock. Free gold is absent and low gold values occur in some varieties of hornblendic rock. It is not a close ally, however. Please consult assayers further on such rock.

Altered Rock

GLENDALE, Oct. 3.— Q.: I am inclosing a small sample of a dark green mineral found in Pacoima Canyon near San Fernando. Will you kindly give me the name of the main mineral constituent? X.

A.: The small chips of rock contain some pyroxene now altered to hornblende. Without the locality named from which the samples were taken, we cannot give you quantitative work regarding the main constituent, and then only by having a larger specimen to analyze.

Free Gold Present

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 4.—Q.: I am a subscriber to The Times. Will you please give me a qualitative analysis on each of the six samples of ore which I am sending you under separate cover. These samples are from Eldorado county, California, near Greenwood, between Auburn and Placerville, and were taken from various outcroppings of deposits and ledges on land not exceeding a twenty-acre area. My father owns the land, and is very much interested in the looks of this ore. We would appreciate very much your opinion of the advisability of following up these leads for commercial purposes. C.

A.: Five samples is the usual limit for analyses, in one shipment. All of the specimens carry iron oxides. Specimens numbered 1, 2 and 6 contain more or less native gold in very low percentages, and show up as follows: Sample No. 1 (the big specimen,) is altered quartzitic rock carrying quite a percentage of limonite (hydrous iron peroxide) and some free gold. No. 2 a grayish quartzitic rock; microscopic pyrite sparingly present, and the five pieces of rock were tested together; flour gold was found in three flakes. No. 3 (ferruginous quartz) contained no native gold. No. 4 is milk-white quartz. No. 5 is limonite. No. 6 is of three specimens of quartz. The white specimen gave three spots of microscopical, crystallized gold. The other two samples panned traces of flour gold. For other gold and silver values please consult assayers.

Of Doubtful Value

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—Q.: I found this in my own yard at a depth of about twelve inches in the earth. Please tell me if there is anything of value in it. MRS. R.

A.: The sample carries no copper. It is a mixture of silica, aluminum silicate (clay,) carries traces of chlorite, and the green color is owing to the presence of iron.

Chiefly Silica

AVALON, Oct. 6.—Q.: Will you please classify the specimen of rock I am sending you. It occurs in a large outcrop in the Andesite and is from Catalina Island. R.

A.: Quantitative work called for on similar mineral.

TONOPAH MINING ACTIVITIES TOLD

Report of Rich Strike in Old Mizpah Stirs

Memories of Pioneer Days of Camp Revived

Gold Metals at Manhattan in Paying Ore

TONOPAH (Nev.) Oct. 20. (Exclusive)—The discovery of high-grade ore on the surface of the Mizpah mine by Booth & Moffatt, leasers, has revived stories in Tonopah of rich finds made years ago by miners and carefully concealed. Booth and Moffatt secured a lease on the old Mizpah when the property was opened to leasers by the Tonopah Mining Company, and are said to be mining high-grade from a vein two feet wide. The product is reported to sample $80 gold and several ounces of silver to the ton.

Several other miners have opened rich ore on leases recently taken in the Mizpah. This mine is the oldest in Tonopah and the scene of the original strike by Jim Butler, which started the wild Tonopah rush more than thirty years ago and a new mining era for Nevada. Many old-time leasers are said to have concealed strikes in the early days of Tonopah when their leases were about to expire, and waited patiently for many years until they could again obtain leases on the ground containing the rich ore.

The new drift from the second level of the Gold Metals mine at Manhattan, has entered rich ore, according to the semiofficial reports from the property. The management is withholding details until more work is performed and a thorough sampling of the ore made. On the first level the rich shoot has been developed for more than 100 feet. Mill ore is going steadily to the International Smelter, and another shipment of high-grade will be made shortly to the smelter at Selby, Cal.

Los Angeles interests have acquired the Burns group of gold properties in the Goldyke district, east of Mina, and started shipments to customs mills. It is said the new owners are arranging for installation of a complete plant of mine machinery, to be followed by comprehensive developments. The group embraces the Lucky Jim mine, credited with containing strong veins of commercial ore.

KERN FIELD OPERATIONS REPORTED

Four New Projects in Widely Scattered Areas Started During Week

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—Four new oil wells were spudded in last week in Kern county. They are located in scattered territories from Devil's Den to the Weed Patch.

The Fruitvale field, which has had little drilling activity for many months, is being tried out by the L. O. Oil Company. It has spudded in its No. 1 well on Sec. 21, 29-27.

The Standard Oil Company has begun drilling its Alferitz No. 1 well on Sec. 14, 25-18, in the Devil's Den district.

The Mohawk Petroleum Company has begun drilling its No. 1 on Sec. 32, 30-29, in the Weed Patch district.

The General Petroleum Corporation has started another well on its Sill lease in the Kern River field. It is No. 7 on Sec. 26, 28-27.

Two tests for water shut-off were reported for the week—the General Petroleum Corporation's Berry No. 1 in the Belridge field on Sec. 30, 28-21, and the Standard Oil Company's No. 68 in the Sunset field on Sec. 5, 11-23.

Two deepening jobs are under way for the Doyle Petroleum Corporation on its Maricopa Flat property on Sec. 8, 11-23. The wells are Berta Wier No. 3 and Son-Crail No. 7.

Revenues From National Parks Mount Yearly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—That the national parks and national monuments under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior are beginning to support themselves was proved by the fact that for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, over $1,000,000 was turned into the Treasury of the United States from funds collected in these areas.

This is the largest amount ever collected in the parks and monuments, and the sum is particularly interesting in view of the fact that travel generally has suffered during the past year of financial uncertainty.

The revenues are derived from franchise fees, from the operation of the park public utilities and from automobile license fees.

Development of New Elwood Area Started

First efforts to develop production on the Bishop-Evans 100-acre lease northwesterly of the Elwood field have been started by the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination. Location is expected to be made within a few days and drilling is scheduled to start by November 7.

The Bishop-Evans property was leased more than two years ago. It has never been tested and is regarded as a possible continuation of the Elwood Terrace oil field. It adjoins Barnsdall-Rio Grande's Doty lease, where the operators' Doty No. 7 is standing recemented with bottom of the hole at 3447 feet. Top of the oil sand in this project was tapped at about 3400 feet.

CINNABAR MINE DRIFT ADVANCES

Nevada Quicksilver Concern Reports Headway

Montgomery Estate Project in Excellent Ore

Nightingale Tungsten Plans to Quit Operation

LOVELOCK (Nev.) Oct. 20. (Exclusive)—The Nevada Quicksilver Company reports a drift from the main tunnel in its Montgomery mine has advanced 150 feet in excellent grade ore, with the material still showing uniform strength and values. The main drift is said to be advancing on a vein carrying exceptional values. Good ore continues to be mined in the principal working of the Juniper property, and the plant is operating at capacity on the product of both mines.

The Antelope Springs Mercury Company of Los Angeles is rapidly completing the installation of a twenty-ton rotary furnace and other equipment on its cinnabar properties in the Antelope Springs field, and expects to start production within three weeks. Development of ore reserves is proceeding vigorously. A small electric plant has been provided to light the mill, mine and camp.

Shipments of rich gold ore continue steadily from leases in the McCoy district, with new strikes recently reported from the Gold Dome and neighboring properties. Owners of the new custom mill state that it will be necessary to add a cyanide unit to the plant, as test runs have shown that amalgamation alone does not make a sufficiently close gold recovery.

The Tungsten Production Company has practically discontinued work on its Nightingale properties near Mill City, due to the unsatisfactory tungsten market. The management states that substantial reserves of ore have been demonstrated, and that production may be resumed early in 1931.

Supt. J. H. Hooper of the Elkora Mines Company, operating gold properties at Jarbridge, denies widespread reports that the ore reserves have been exhausted. Hooper states that the workings contain sufficient ore for a year's steady operation, and that reserves are as satisfactory as at any time in the history of the mine. Extensive prospecting is contemplated. The Elkora has been Nevada's principal gold producer for several years, and its productive life is understood to have been prolonged by recent strikes beneath the bed of the Jarbridge River.

MARICOPA FLAT HOLE PRODUCES

Recompleted California Western Well Flowing 1250 Barrels Daily

MARICOPA, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) The California Western Oil Company has recompleted its Havenstrite No. 1 well on Sec. 17, 11-23, of Maricopa Flat, for a yield of 1250 barrels daily. The well was brought in at 3600 feet, although bottom of the hole is at 4015 feet. It was necessary to plug back to the former depth. This is the only active well the company has in the field.

At Maricopa Flat, on Sec. 17, 11-23, the Barnsdall Oil Company is swabbing its Hazelton No. 4, which has a total depth of 3336 feet. More than 125 feet of perforated liner has been landed at the bottom.

Three hundred barrels daily are the flow credited to the North American Oil Company's most recent completion at Maricopa Flat, known as Sunset-Extension No. 6, on Sec. 8, 11-23. Total depth is 3138 feet. The oil is 22 deg. gravity with a cut of 2 per cent.

The Union Oil Company's Son No. 2 on Sec. 8, 11-23, at Maricopa Flat is a producer of 148 barrels of 21-deg. gravity oil. Total depth of the well is 3462 feet. It is on the pump.

RICH STRIKE IN OROVILLE MINE STIRS

Three-Foot High Grade Gold-Bearing Vein Held Cut in Old Toadtown

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 20. (Exclusive)—Considerable excitement prevails at Oroville over the rich strike made recently in the old Toadtown mine, now operated by Arthur Richards of Hollywood. A three-foot vein of gold-bearing ore is said to have been uncovered in virgin ground, with an eight-inch seam running more than $20,000 to the ton. The high grade is said to be widening slightly as drifting advances.

The Douglas Flat Mining Company is speeding up development of its acreage in the Angels Flat district following discovery of a rich vein of gold ore on the 130-foot level. A strong vein containing shoots of high grade is said to have been opened in new ground and the management plans early production.

The Honey Lake Mining Company, operating on Diamond Mountain near Susanville, reports the ore body tapped by the new tunnel shows a width exceeding six feet, with the material carrying commercial gold values.

MENACE TO PEACE SEEN BY TARDIEU

Premier Making Address to Veterans Says Events Imperil Nation's Policy

BELFORT (France) Oct. 19. (AP) Premier Tardieu in an address to war veterans here today said "events abroad have endangered French peace policy."

The French Premier reiterated the thesis of his government, "organization of peace with arbitration as procedure, security as its fundamental basis, and reduction of armaments as a consequence," but added the policy "has not always met the support hoped for."

"Thus France," he said, "has been forced to insure by its own means conditions of security which exact respect for frontiers and respect for treaties.

"Before long, in Parliament, I shall have opportunity to establish that no government has done more toward world peace than France."

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19. (AP)—His tear-gas pen was for use in case he encountered a hold-up man, Robert Palmer told police last night. The police decided to check his story.

Palmer, who said he is office manager in Los Angeles for the Ajax Laboratories, was arrested in a hotel here after authorities received information he was carrying a pen containing a gas cartridge.

PHONE CALL SAVES WOULD-BE SUICIDE

KENOSHA (Wis.) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—A telephone call from a niece at Libertyville probably saved the life of Mrs. Sadie Wagner, 34 years of age, who tried to take her life in the basement of her home here today. Her husband William went to call her to the phone and found her unconscious with the gas heater pouring fumes near her head. The husband called police, who revived her with a pulmotor. He explained that he and his wife had quarreled. They have a 14-year-old daughter, who was not at home at the time.

WHEELED CIGAR BURNS UP RAILS

Zeppelin-Shaped Car Runs 100 Miles an Hour

Driven by Airplane Motor With Propeller

Inventor Hopes to Replace Long, Heavy Trains

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

HANOVER (Germany) Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—A long, silver-gray, cigar-shaped railway coach, eighty-five feet over all and driven by a 400-horsepower airplane motor with a propeller, slid out of a forest near here at sunrise yesterday and tore across a moor on a disused railway track at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Looking like a cross between the late Sir Henry Segrave's Golden Arrow and a Zeppelin on wheels, the strange monster attained a speed of sixty miles an hour within sixty seconds after the start. Two types of brakes, railway and automobile, brought it to a smooth halt at the end of the stretch, which is famous for having been the scene of Fritz Opels's first attempts with a rocket car. Earlier secret trials of the new vehicle are said to have resulted in a speed of 114 miles an hour.

Franz Kruckenberg, director of the traffic experimental station here, which is under the wing of the State railways and is devoted to developing cheaper and swifter transportation, is the inventor and builder. He hopes his swift omnibus-Zeppelin will solve the problem for railways of the competition presented by motor cars and airplanes.

FASTER THAN TRAINS

Herr Kruckenberg contends his invention is much faster than normal trains and also safer and cheaper to build and operate than airplanes. His goal is to have one of these luxuriously appointed coaches speeding swiftly along all the main railway lines at half-hour intervals, replacing long, heavy trains.

Driven by a gasoline motor, the car weighs twenty tons, and has room for forty passengers in parlor-car seats. A single pair of wheels fore and aft supports the body on axles sixty-five feet apart. At the center of the car, where the entry vestibule is located, a double periscope permits observation of both pairs of wheels. This is necessary since the body of the coach comes so close to the tracks that only a tiny segment of the wheel is visible from without. Rigorous application of the principles of stream lining is observed throughout.

The propeller projects from a point of the stern slightly tilted upward to help keep the car on the tracks. A single window runs the whole length of the passenger quarters in the upper half of the cylinder.

LITTLE VIBRATION

The construction, which involves a considerable number of cross struts within the cabin, is so balanced that running is practically vibrationless, and it is possible to write smoothly at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

The normal speed is calculated at 100 miles on the basis of the known safety factor of curves on main-line tracks. A larger motor, the inventor explained, would naturally produce higher speeds. On the basis of yesterday's test it seems probable that a motor of less than 400 horsepower could do the job effectively and it is planned to substitute Diesel engines for gasoline motors later in order further to cheapen costs.

It is understood that the inventor wants to conduct further tests on curves before he will be satisfied of his invention's ability to keep to the rails. After that he plans to try it out on the Berlin-Hamburg stretch, which offers the minimum of curves on any German stretch between large cities. It is estimated that the car would reel off the 180 miles between Berlin and the seaport in two hours, whereas the fastest trains require more than three.

USE WHEAT FOR CHARITY SAYS M'ADOO

Ex-Secretary Suggests Farm Board Holdings be Given Hungry Men

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, issued a statement today suggesting wheat now held by the Farm Board be used to feed "hungry and distressed human beings" during the coming winter.

"The Farm Board, using the money of the taxpayers of the United States, has bought some 60,000,000 bushels of wheat, which it is holding, presumably for a higher price," he said. "This can come about only through a general lifting of the price level for wheat. Certainly there is no prospect that the government will soon be able to market its holdings of wheat at a higher price or even at the purchase price. Why, then, should it be hoarded instead of being used for the benefit of the people—its real owners?

"When Congress reconvenes in December the first thing it ought to do is to authorize the use of as much of this huge wheat store as may be needed to feed hungry and distressed human beings during the coming winter. To what better use could it be put?"

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO
Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

En el séptimo párrafo de mi Plática anterior dice "a numerosas variedades de las que ni conocimiento tenga", y debe decir "o a numerosas variedades de las que ni conocimiento tenga". En el duodécimo párrafo dice "¿No lo fue el sabio . . ." y ha de decir "¿No fue el sabio . . ."

Como substantivo o substantivado, sigue diciendo la Gramática de la Academia Española, pregunta "cuál" por personas o cosas; v. g.: "¿A cuál de las tres eliges? — ¿A cuál de las tres escoges?" (Bretón, "Marcela", III, II); "¿Cuál es mejor, mi cueva o vuestro techo?" (B. Argensola, "Don Francisco, aunque llames", Epístola); "¿Cuál te parece peor, — Emborracharse o ser loco?" (Alarcón, "El semejante a sí mismo", I, 5).

El uso de "cuál" como substantivo neutro ha quedado anticuado y en su lugar empleamos hoy "qué". Así, en el último ejemplo del párrafo anterior, y también en éste de Cervantes, "Quijote", II, 8: "¿Cuál es más, resucitar a un muerto o matar a un gigante?", diríamos hoy: "¿Qué te parece peor?", "¿Qué es más?"

Contestan a este interrogativo, según los casos, los adjetivos calificativos, ya como atributivos, ya como predicados, o los pronombres demostrativos, o los nombres.

El señor Bello nos dice en su excelente Gramática lo siguiente: "Qué" y "cuál", cuando se construyen con sustantivo o lo son ellos mismos, suelen usarse uno por otro: PRIMERO.—En poesía: "Dime, de qué maestro, — En cuál oculta escuela, — Se aprende?" etc. (Jáuregui). SEGUNDO.—Cuando se indica elección o preferencia: "¿A qué" o "¿A cuáles providencias puede apelarse sino a las más rigorosas?"; "¿Qué es más", o (como dijo Cervantes) "¿cuál es más, resucitar a un muerto o matar a un gigante?" En este sentido es más propio "cuál".

"Cuál" excluye a "qué" cuando es adjetivo que se construye con sustantivo tácito: "¿En cuál de las ciudades de España reside la corte?"; entiéndese "¿en cuál ciudad?". "No se ha podido averiguar cuál sea la causa de los terremotos": "cuál causa" (práctica, sin embargo, que no fue constantemente observada en los mejores tiempos de la lengua: "Si soy vuestro Señor, ¿qué es el temor que me tenéis?" (Granada); hoy se diría "cuál es"). "¿Qué es el peligro que os espanta, sino una infundada aprehensión?" No sería propio "cuál", porque en el "qué" no se subentiende "peligro"; pero por una razón contraria diríamos: "En medio de tantas seguridades ¿cuál es el peligro que os espanta?"

Nos hace observar asimismo el señor Bello que "cuál" se resuelve en "qué tal"; resolución aún más usual que la de "cuanto" en "qué tanto", pues se extiende a todo género de proposiciones interrogativas y exclamatorias: "¡Qué tal será la obra en que tales aparejos hay!" (Granada). A veces esta resolución es obligada, pues no cabe decir, "¿Cuál le ha parecido a usted la comedia?" sino "qué tal"; lo que sin duda ha provenido de la necesidad de distinguir dos sentidos: con "¿cuál es la casa que usted habita?" se pregunta "qué casa"; con "qué tal es la casa" se preguntaría "qué calidades tiene".

La misma diferencia debe hacerse cuando se hable de personas: "Si estos son los vencedores, ¿qué tales serán los vencidos?" aludiendo a las calidades personales; "Si ellos no han sido los ejecutores del hecho, ¿cuáles o quiénes fueron?" aludiendo a la distinción de personas.

Una novedad del uso del "qué", sustantivo neutro interrogativo, nos dice el propio gramático, es el construirse con el artículo, práctica que sólo tiene cabida cuando la interrogación se reduce a las solas palabras "el qué": ". . . Quedamos — En que corre de mi cuenta . . . — ¿El qué? Dejar cuerdo y sano — Al loco de tu marido" (M. de la Rosa). Si se llenase la elipsis, sería preciso omitir el artículo, diciendo, por ejemplo, "¿qué es lo que corre por tu cuenta?"

Un estimable lector de Fullerton me pregunta en qué regla se funda el uso del imperfecto de indicativo en la siguiente frase, que encontró en "Noticias Mundiales": "De buena gana le cortaba a usted el pescuezo"; y me consulta si no sería igualmente propio usar el condicional "cortaría" en vez de "cortaba".

Sería enteramente correcto el uso de "cortaría", pues la frase citada no es otra cosa que la apódosis de un período condicional cuya prótasis está callada: 'Si yo pudiera (si no fuera un crimen), le cortaría a usted el pescuezo". Ahora bien, es frecuente reemplazar en la apódosis de las condicionales de relación imposible el condicional por el imperfecto de indicativo: "Si yo tuviese dinero, le costeaba a usted un viaje a Europa".

La Gramática de la Academia Española nos lo dice en los términos siguientes: También se halla a veces en nuestros clásicos el imperfecto de indicativo en la apódosis; v. g.: "Si los hombres no creyesen la eternidad de las penas, no era mucho que descuidasen de redimirlas con la penitencia" (Granada); "¿Has acabado tu arenga, Sancho? — Habréla acabado, respondió Sancho, porque veo que vuestra merced recibe pesadumbre con ella; que si esto no se pusiera de por medio, obra había cortada para tres días" ("Quijote", II, 20).

En la Plática venidera haré conocer a mis lectores lo que dice el señor Cuervo sobre el adjetivo interrogativo "cuál".

American War Claims Assured, Says Counsel

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Robert Bonynge, counsel for the American representatives on the Mixed Claims Commission, returned today from the Hague with the assertion the United States is virtually assured of an award of $305,000,000 in its cases against Germany.

He said $260,000,000 of the $305,000,000 claimed by the United States for war-time damages already had been awarded. About $40,000,000 more, he said, was claimed and probably will be allowed for the Kingsland, N. J., fire and for the Black Tom explosion.

FILM ACTOR LEWIS STONE TAKES BRIDE

Screen Veteran Marries Hazel Elizabeth Woof in Yuma Ceremony

Surprising his Hollywood friends, Lewis S. Stone, motion-picture actor, yesterday was married in Yuma, Ariz., to Miss Hazel Elizabeth Woof of Playa Del Rey.

LEWIS STONE

The couple, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fralick, Stone's business manager, drove to Yuma Saturday night, and the wedding ceremony was performed yesterday at 4:30 p.m. by Rev. Herbert Brook of the Methodist Church. The Fralicks were the only attendants.

This is the third marriage for Stone, who is under contract for film work with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. His first wife died some years ago, and a divorce degree granted him from Florence Pryor Stone, known on the stage as Florence Oakley, his second, became final last Friday. They were wed in 1920.

The new Mrs. Stone is connected with motion pictures and has been a member of the film colony for about three years.

Stone began his stage career, which led to motion pictures and later to talking pictures, as an actor in the old Belasco Theater on Main street. He became popular and was termed a matinee idol. He then went to New York and became a metropolitan figure as leading man in several successes. He has been in screen work for several years.

In applying for the license in Yuma Stone gave his age as 50 years and his bride as 29.

AIR NOVICE DIES IN FREAK CRASH

One Plane Lands on Top of Second One

Four Miraculously Escape Death or Injury

Propeller Strikes Pupil in Other Craft

In one of the most unusual air accidents on record here, C. W. Cushman, 43 years of age, former University of California athlete, was killed and four other persons miraculously escaped death when one plane landed on top of another at United Airport, Burbank, about 5 p.m. yesterday.

While a crowd of spectators looked on horror-stricken a Fleet open training biplane, piloted by D. D. Santry, flying instructor from Grand Central Air Terminal, started to level off for a forced landing with Cushman in the rear cockpit.

Just before its wheels touched the runway a Waco open biplane, flown by Don McKee, with the Misses Mary and Cecilia Graves, student nurses at General Hospital, as passengers, settled on top of the Fleet.

Both ships were landing in the same direction. The Fleet was in McKee's "blind spot"—hidden from view by the lower wing of the Waco.

BOTH UPSIDE DOWN

The latter plane's propeller cut through the Fleet's fuselage, struck Cushman's head and stopped turning just before it reached Santry. The weight of the Waco pressed the Fleet to the ground and both ships nosed over, coming to a stop upside down. They did not catch fire, and Santry, McKee and the two women crawled from the wreckage unharmed.

Cushman came here from Durango, Mex., where he was assistant manager of the San Luis Mining Company, a month ago to take flying lessons. He stopped at the Flying Club of California at Grand Central and has spent most of his time since his arrival taking lessons from Santry with the view of purchasing a plane.

Santry, and his partner in the flying business, Dick Spicer, refused to comment on the fatal crash. It was learned, however, that Cushman had been flying the plane until trouble made a landing necessary at United, when Santry took control in the forward cockpit.

WRECKAGE REMOVED

Wreckage of the ships were removed from the airport's busy runway before Chief Bergh and Capt. Hamilton of the Burbank police force could conduct a thorough investigation. Cushman's body was removed to the Fillbach Mortuary, Burbank.

Both pilots were subjected to extended questioning by R. E. Hazen, official of the United States Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch, following an airport attache's warning to the flyers not to make a statement regarding the crash. The Federal report will be forwarded to Washington, but in compliance with the department's policy none of Hazen's findings will be made public.

Cushman was born in Oakland and graduated as a mining engineer from the University of California in 1910. He was a track man at the university and was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

He was married. His widow is reported by a friend of Cushman, Roderick Burnham of Glendale, as being in Oakland with her parents. They had no children.

Corner-Stone of Menorah Center Laid Yesterday

Corner-stone laying of the new Menorah Center, Jewish social and educational institution at Wabash avenue and Alma street, attracted a large crowd yesterday afternoon.

It is expected the building will be complete and ready for occupancy within ninety days. It will be used to combat the inroads being made by Communist agitators in that section of the city.

Speakers were Ben M. Goldman, president of the Jewish Educational Association, Judge Rosenkranz, Rabbi S. M. Nechs, Aaron Richie, Dr. George Saylin, I. Irving Lipstch and Supervisor Graves.

COUNTY MAY TAKE AIRPORT

Lease on El Monte Tract Tendered Supervisors for Necessities Twenty Years Hence

Whether Los Angeles county, looking ahead for twenty years, should consider the leasing of sufficient acreage for a large county major airport will be considered today by the Board of Supervisors.

The matter will come before the Supervisors in the form of a request from owners of a tract of 968 acres situated near El Monte that after the airport is built and fully equipped the county lease it for a period of forty years with an option to re-lease at the expiration of the first term.

The proposal of the thirty-four persons who own the land is to build what is known under the regulations of the Department of Commerce as an A-I-A airport, turn it over to the county at a rental of $85,000 for the first year and then $185,000 for each year thereafter.

The proposal that the county acquire the airport was made several years ago. The attempt to revive interest in the project was made one week ago, at which time the board ordered that all the data concerning the proposition gathered by the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission at the time be placed before the Supervisors at the regular meeting today. The original report on the field was given to the board in November, 1929.

According to those advocating the acquisition of the property the field is an ideal location for a county airport, not needed badly now, but looking to years to come when passenger and freight transportation by air becomes one of the leading industries of the county.

The acreage, known as Proposition No. 8, it is pointed out, is one of three proposed fields left out of nine available less than three years ago. In a few more years, it is declared, no more land will be available for flying fields because of subdividing to meet the growth of population in the county.

It is further asserted by air enthusiasts that when air transportation becomes possibly the leading method of transporting passengers and freight, both by lighter-than-air and heavier-than-air ships, Los Angeles county should be equipped to handle it and not be left high and dry for lack of airport terminal facilities.

The regulations are becoming more stringent each year in the matter of airports and airships. Under the present regulations of the Department of Commerce airplanes must be 500 feet in the air when they leave or enter the boundary lines of an airport. This requires a field at least one and one-quarter miles in length for getting away and for landing.

"Nothing under 900 acres of land

RETENTION OF SAMOANS' RIGHTS FAVORED

Commission Urges American Citizenship for Islanders and That They be Allowed to Change Laws and Customs as Needs Arise

[The following article describing the findings and recommendations of the American Samoan Commission, which returned here yesterday following an investigation of conditions in the South Sea islands, was written exclusively for The Times by Senator Bingham of Connecticut, chairman of the commission.]

BY HIRAM BINGHAM
United States Senator From Connecticut

The members of the American Samoan Commission are returning from their long voyage to Pago Pago well pleased with their reception in Samoa and with the opportunity afforded them of hearing a very wide range of opinion regarding the desires of the Samoan people.

For many years Congress neglected taking any action regarding the acceptance of the treaties of cession made by the chiefs of Tutuila in 1900 and by the chiefs of the Manua's group in 1904. Acting under an order issued by President McKinley, the Navy Department has been governing the islands for the past thirty years. The executive order stated that the naval station included all of the islands of the group.

The commandant of the naval station is the Governor of American Samoa. He has supreme power to make the laws and enforce them. His oral orders have the full force of law, he can make a law in the morning and punish a native for disobeying it in the afternoon, even though the native never heard of it.

SENATOR HIRAM BINGHAM

In view of this, it is remarkable that in thirty years there have been not more than four or five flagrant cases of anything approaching abuse of such arbitrary and unlimited power. With one exception, the naval governors have been benevolent despots whose commands have been, almost without exception, for the interest and advantage of the aboriginal natives of American Samoa.

NAVY PRAISED

The Navy really has made a splendid record. It has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars promoting the health and happiness of the Samoan people. Navy doctors, nurses and pharmacists' mates working entirely at navy expense have made American Samoa more free from disease than any other group of islands in the Pacific Ocean. I am glad to say that this work is heartily appreciated, even by the most ardent native critics of the naval government.

We were told that we would have difficulty in hearing both sides of the question, particularly regarding the desires of many Samoans for civil government. We were told that the people would be afraid to testify or to criticise the actions of the Governor or members of his

MEMORY OF TRITT TO BE HONORED

Friends of Late Educator Will Gather at Service Next Sunday Afternoon

Friends of the late William Winters Tritt, assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles city school district, who died on September 5, last, will gather at Belmont High School next Sunday at 4:30 p.m. for a memorial service.

Mr. Tritt began his work in the Los Angeles city schools as a teacher in 1895 and was associated with the Los Angeles system until the time of his death. He served as principal of the John Adams Junior High School, and became principal of the Belmont High School in 1923, which position he left in 1929 to become an assistant superintendent.

The memorial service has been arranged by the faculty of Belmont High School and officers of the Masonic lodges of which Mr. Tritt was a member. A bronze tablet, designed and executed by Steven Gaal, sculptor, is to be unveiled, and plans for a William Winters Tritt scholarship for Belmont High School will be announced at that time.

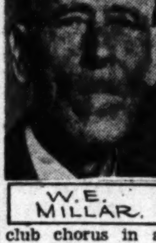
Among the speakers scheduled, all of whom are prominent in Masonic or school work, are William A. Sheldon, secretary of the Board of Education, Reynold Blight and Jack Whitesel, first president of the student body at Belmont High School, who graduated from Stanford University last June.

EX-SERVICE MEN INVITED

The meeting of the Naval Air Post of the American Legion Wednesday evening at Patriotic Hall will be open to all men who served in the United States naval forces during the World War.

LOS ANGELES VOCALIST HAS SUNG NINETY YEARS

W. E. Millar, 97 years of age, active choir singer and tenor and director of the Municipal Men's Club chorus, believes he is the oldest vocalist in the world.



W. E. MILLAR

He has been singing in choirs all over the earth for the past ninety years. Starting at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, when a boy of 8, he sang with Nellie Melba in Australia, he says, and last week led his men's club chorus in a fine concert at the clubrooms, 220 South Main street.

"I love music," he said. "I love it with a deep passion and the human voice is the greatest musical instrument in the world. As long as I can remember I have sung—on ships at sea, on lonely oceans, to the stars at night. I sang with the glorious Melba before she was known to the world. I knew she would win and have lived to see her name among the immortals.

"On old ships of the line I have led in chanteys. In great cathedrals, in England where I was born, and of late years in churches in Los Angeles, I have been happy when singing. I sang for years for the Universalist Church here and now I find it a fine thing to direct the music of this club."

Millar was born in Bath, Eng., April 6, 1834. He never has been ill, he declares, does not wear glasses, and takes long walks every day. He has fifteen sisters residing in England, the eldest 89 and the youngest 49.

"I followed the sea most of my life and why shouldn't I be healthy and happy? I still can sing. My training was at St. Paul's and they train correctly there. I have a soprano voice as well as tenor.

"My grandmother was 103 when she died and I am not an old man yet by a long ways. I shall keep right on singing until I pass over and if I have it my way there will be a lot of singing in that 'land that is fairer than day' when I get there."

AIR-RECORD HOP HALTED BY CRASH

Mrs. Keith Miller's Ship Cracks at Winslow, But She Escapes Injury

Mrs. Keith Miller, British aviatrix who left the Municipal Airport here yesterday at 1:10 p.m., in an effort to establish an east-to-west speed mark for women, cracked-up in landing at Winslow last night at 6:29 p.m. (mountain time.) She is uninjured.

Repairs to the damaged plane, however, will have to await the arrival of a wheel, airport officials stated. They added that this probably will delay resumption of Mrs. Miller's eastward flight until Wednesday. They attribute the mishap to the fact that her plane has no brakes and that she misjudged the distance of the field after landing, the ship going into a ground loop. She is flying an Eaglerock Bullet monoplane.

Mrs. Miller's plane is equipped with a 120-horsepower Wright J-6 motor and is capable of a cruising speed of 120 miles an hour. She plans to make stops at Albuquerque, Wichita and Indianapolis, and to complete the trip in less than twenty hours of elapsed flying time.

Mrs. Miller broke Miss Laura Ingalls east-to-west record last Thursday, when she landed her plane at Municipal Airport after twenty-five hours and forty-four minutes elapsed flying time from New York.

HEALTH SURVEY AID SOUGHT

City Needs Education Board's Help to Make Study of Preschool Children

Assistant City Health Officer Porter has been delegated by the Health Commission to petition the Board of Education for assistance in a health survey of children of preschool age in Los Angeles for the White House conference on child health and protection, sponsored by President Hoover.

The conference first requested the survey last spring, but because it necessitated the employment of a number of nurses to visit families and obtain the data over a period of several months, and the Health Department is short-handed, the work was never started.

Subsequently three requests have been made by the conference, which points out in its latest communication that Los Angeles is the only large city in the United States that is not complying. It points out that of 200 cities, 130 have completed or are making the survey, including San Francisco, Oakland, Long Beach, Pasadena and San Jose. In Pennsylvania, according to the conference, fifteen cities of more than 50,000 population have responded.

Information sought on preschool children, which means calling on 2500 families in Los Angeles, follows:

"Have the children ever received a health examination? Have they ever had preventive dental attention? Have they ever been vaccinated for smallpox or diphtheria?"

Other phases of the questionnaire are to find out the cost of health attention for the average family, with facts and figures which the Health Department declares will require the services of a trained nurse for the work.

Dr. Porter is of the opinion that much of the information may be obtained through schools by districts, rather than by Health Department employees, who principally look after people in poor circumstances. The information is sought from families in all walks of life to round out a health survey of the nation, a report on which is to be made in November, according to the White House conference committee.

Bar Committee Plans Campaign

The judiciary committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association announces that it has decided to conduct an intensive campaign for the association's indorsements of Superior Judges Keetch, Shaw, Bishop, Hanby and Hazlett for re-election. Selection of the men was made as a result of the bar plebiscite at which time more than 2000 ballots were returned for count out of 2750 which were sent out.

SAMOAN GROUP BACK FROM TRIP

Senator Bingham Returns With Commission

New Plan Drafted to Give Islanders Citizenship

Natives Praised as Kindly and Intelligent

Home after a thirty-eight-day cruise on which the light cruiser Omaha carried them over 10,000 miles of southern seaways, Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut and his fellow-members of the Samoan Commission disembarked at Los Angeles Harbor last night. The commission brought back, for recommendation to Congress next session, the draft of a new organic law for American Samoa which would make the Samoans American citizens, and the seven South Sea islands an integral part of the American commonwealth.

Representative Beedy of Maine expressed the feeling of the entire commission, the members said, in the remark that:

SAMOANS PRAISED

"The Samoans are the finest and most delightful people of all our dependencies. We found them kindly, of a high order of intelligence, and of remarkable physical well being. We all feel, with Senator Bingham, that they will be a rich gain to the country as citizens."

In addition to Senator Bingham, chairman, and Representative Beedy, members of the commission arriving on the Omaha included Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Representative Williams of Texas and Capt. William R. Furlong, head of the foreign government office of the Navy Department. Other members included three Samoan chieftains and Lawrence Judd of Honolulu. The commission sailed from Los Angeles Harbor last September 11 and made an eight-day stay in Samoa, stopping at Honolulu both outward and homeward.

OFF FOR WASHINGTON

Upon their departure from the Omaha yesterday the members presented to Capt. John Downes and his officers and men of the cruiser a letter of thanks, in which they said, "You have contributed in no small degree to the success of our mission." Senators Bingham and Robinson and Representative Williams departed for Washington last night via the Santa Fe.

TWO KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Another Victim Injured; Driver of Death Car Held on Manslaughter Charge

One woman and a man were killed yesterday in traffic accidents, while another man was injured and a driver was held in jail on a manslaughter charge.

Mrs. Emma Blackwater, 35 years of age, of 1008 Rome Drive, was killed instantly as she was crossing San Fernando Road at Avenue 26, when struck by a car driven by Paul Huth, 43, residing at the Roanoke Hotel. The woman was hurled about thirty feet by the impact, according to the police report.

Huth was arrested and taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a sobriety text. The surgeons reported that he had been drinking intoxicants. He was jailed on suspicion of manslaughter.

Josiah Zuro, 34, of 8439 Sunset Boulevard, music director at the Pathe studios, died en route to the Scripps Memorial Hospital at La Jolla, where he was being taken after his car left the highway and overturned on the Torrey Pines Road. Zuro was driving at the time of the accident and his companion, Oscar Potoker, 40, of 6131 Afton Place, was injured. He is in the hospital at La Jolla.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

MY PRESENT and latest passion is for Alaska . . . the mania having been inspired by the visit to Los Angeles of Ernest Walker Sawyer, assistant Secretary of the Interior.

What he says about raising reindeer for the market sounds a good deal like Alice-in-Wonderland.

The facts are, however, that it will not be long until Alaska is producing 300,000 reindeer a year for the butcher shops—not to speak of hides for men's gloves.

The change in men's fashions, with the demand for hand coverings, should mean much for the prosperity of the Eskimos, who own some of the largest herds.

THE GOLD AGAIN

Mr. Sawyer says that the gold days are coming back to Alaska again, induced by the world gold famine.

Generally speaking, the Alaskan gold veins have never been touched. The easy outcroppings have been picked up; but no very serious attempt has ever been made to get into the Mother Lode.

A great many of the workable gold mines are still owned by the old sourdoughs who discovered the veins in the Klondike days. They stoutly refuse to sell their claims, but the government is encouraging capital to go into Alaska to finance these ancient diggings.

MOVIE SENSATION

The other day I saw what I regard as the finest picture since the talkies came in. It is "Morocco"—directed by Josef Von Sternberg. It has everything—a great story, the most finished direction I ever remember having seen and a leading lady who is going to tip the theatrical world upside down.

She is a German girl named Marlene Dietrich. She is, as you might say, a superheated Garbo. She has the finest instinct for timing and reading lines of any actress on the screen. In fact, she makes most of our illustrious stars sound like an amateur night. If she isn't the sensation of the screen inside one year, then I don't know anything about pictures.

LIMBS OF TREES

A company in Los Angeles is advertising to hunt up your ancestry and let you pay on the installment plan.

This is what I call a wonderful idea. You can buy a little of your ancestry at a time; and stop payment the first time you come to a horse thief.

TRAGEDY REPEATS

Lightning may not strike in the same place twice; but tragedies sometimes do.

John Harron's death has been ascribed to suicide by a Coroner's jury, but the question will probably never be determined whether he was murdered or killed himself. About ten years ago, Mr. Harron's son, Bobbie Harron, the screen actor, died in New York and the question has never been definitely settled as to whether he died by accident or suicide.

SISTER APPOINTED TO CONTROL ESTATE

Mrs. Lenora Dunlap, sister of Georgia Peckham Lee, who died in Hollywood the 6th inst., has been appointed administrator of the $53,000 estate of her sister, according to the records in Superior Judge Crail's court. Mrs. Lee, who had a 9-year-old son in a military academy, was living alone at the time of her death.

DIAMOND BANDIT GANG IN ACTION

Two Couples Held Up, But One's "Wrong Party"

Seven Robberies Keep Police Busy Over Week-End

Man in Parked Auto Loses Jewelry and Cash

Seven robberies and four purse snatchings which netted bandits a total of $2602 in cash and jewelry during the week-end afforded criminal psychologists of the police department several unusual crime elements.

In the hold up of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kerr of 3809 3-4 Montclair avenue detectives obtained evidence that there is operating in the city a gang of robbers specializing in the theft of diamond jewelry from citizens at their homes and that such crimes are planned in detail. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr had just driven into the garage at the rear of their home when two robbers stepped out of the shadows and confronted them with leveled pistols.

Following a curt order to remain quiet one of the pair, described by the victims as 6 feet, 6 inches in height, stepped close to Kerr and peered into his face. Then he glanced at Mrs. Kerr.

"O. K. for you, mister," he said. "Just keep quiet till we get away. You're the wrong party." Nothing was taken from the couple.

RINGS STOLEN

Apparently, this mistake was not made by another pair, believed to be members of the same gang, who bound and gagged Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cohen in their home at 742 South Cloverdale avenue, and robbed them of a $2200 ring, $50 watch, and $100 in cash.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohen returned at a late hour to find the burglars already in their residence. They had gained entrance through a bedroom window. As soon as they stepped inside, the victims were ordered to lie on the floor and, in this position, were bound and gagged with adhesive tape. The watch and cash was then taken from Mr. Cohen and the ring from his wife's hand. Both robbers were masked.

Three bandits held up George H. Spellmire, proprietor of the Venice Department Store, 67 Windward avenue, Venice, yesterday morning. They obtained a small amount of money in a metal cash box.

One of the bandits fired at Spellmire, the shot cutting through his coat and shirt, but not breaking the skin. The bandits escaped in an old car which they parked in front.

WALLET PICKED UP

Pat Jaimillo of 1407 Pennsylvania avenue was the victim of what police recorded as a theft from the person. At Twelfth and Naomi streets he was approached by a man who requested a street direction. While engaged in conversation a second man walked by and a wallet dropped out of his coat pocket. He walked on a short distance and then stopped abruptly and began to search his pockets. In the meantime the victim had picked up the wallet.

The passerby then turned around and walked back to the victim and the man he was talking to. When the victim handed him his wallet he asserted some of the money it contained was missing and, aided by his partner, first made Jaimillo remove his shoe, and then searched him, taking $15.

Leaving him protesting vociferously the two suspects then walked off before the victim could put on his shoes then vanished.

J. J. Mullen reported he was beaten up by two robbers in front of his home at 920 South Lorena street and robbed of $103.

As he slowed down at the street railway tracks crossing at Division street H. B. Overholtzer of 2440 Arthur street was held up by a lone bandit and lost $7.

OFFICERS IMPERSONATED

Imitating the procedure of officers detailed to the blockade system, two bandits held up Samuel C. Zirlin of 355 South Fremont avenue and a woman friend while seated in a parked automobile. The pair approached the car from the street on foot and stated they were officers stationed in the vicinity to search cars. As Zirlin reached for his operator's license one of the bandits produced a pistol.

"All right, brother," he said. "You've been introduced. Now let's have what you've got." Zirlin lost a $250 ring and $75 in cash.

Victims of pairs of purse snatchers were Mrs. R. Sargent of 4144 Rosewood avenue, $6; Mrs. M. Rollins of 605 South Normandie avenue, $12; Miss Carmen Fisk of 446 South Norton avenue, $29, and Miss Dolly Foisy of 4821 Wadsworth street, who lost $5.

CAUTION URGED IN ZOO DEAL

Realty Board Asks Park Department Statement on Finances

A communication from the Realty Board to the Park Commission in relation to the proposed sale to the city of the Selig Zoo for $285,000 urges caution in the expenditure of public funds at this time and asks that a financial statement be furnished it in connection with the proposed expenditure.

The commission, which has given no indication of recommending the purchase, and which is shy of funds for development of park projects already contemplated, directed Secretary Hassett to furnish information to the Realty Board on park department finances.

these accommodations. On the top floor, open to the west, is a spacious sleeping porch. Adjoining the building on the north and separated from it by a double row of California sycamores are three tennis courts and a Badminton court.

MANAGERS NAMED

Management of the Athenaeum has been placed in the hands of a governing board which represents the California Institute, the Mt. Wilson Observatory and the Huntington Library. The board's officers and members are Allan C. Balch, president; Dr. William B. Munro, vice-president and secretary; Albert B. Ruddock, treasurer; Henry M. Robinson, Dr. Walter S. Adams, James R. Page and Dr. Max Farrand. The board has appointed a house committee, of which Horace N. Gilbert is chairman; entertainment committee, of which Clinton K. Judy is chairman, and membership committee, headed by Col. F. W. Hinrichs, Jr.

First of the events which will mark the formal opening of the Athenaeum will be a staff dinner on the evening of the 30th inst., at which Allan C. Balch will preside and introduce Dr. Farrand, director of the Huntington Library, who will be toastmaster. The speakers will be Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Mt. Wilson Observatory; Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California Institute; Dr. Theodore G. Soares, professor of ethics at the institute, and Prof. Hardin Craig of Stanford, who is spending the first term of the academic year at the Huntington Library.

On the afternoon of November 4, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. the Athenaeum will hold "open house" for the undergraduates of the California Institute and their friends. There will be no formal program.

The culminating event of the opening week will be a formal dinner on the evening of November 6 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Balch, given by the trustees of the institute to the California Institute Associates. Russell H. Ballard, president of the Associates, will preside, and brief addresses will be delivered by Henry W. O'Melveny, James R. Page, William Lacy, Dr. Albert A. Michelson, Dr. Munro and Dr. Millikan.

Prior to the formal opening, the Athenaeum will be in operation for the use of its members, as it has been completed with the exception of some work still being done on the grounds which is expected to be finished this week. All the bedrooms and suites, with the exception of those reserved for visitors and guests, are occupied, and beginning this morning regular meals will be served.

Among the first of the lectures which have been arranged by the entertainment committee will be a talk on the progress of the new 200-inch telescope, to be delivered on November 20 by Dr. J. A. Anderson. The lectures will be open only to members of the Athenaeum and their guests. It is planned to provide some special feature every Thursday evening throughout the academic year.

SAILOR MODELS PERFECT SHIP

Toy Completed in Spare Moments

All Set to Go

Capt. F. I. Hamma of Lassco flagship exhibiting his model sloop to Mary Jane Blackmore and Helen Easterday.

EVERY sailor makes a model ship, but the thirty-six-inch model sloop just completed by Capt. F. I. Hamma, master of the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles, is declared of excelling perfection.

It is completely true to scale, has a cabin of teak, deck of miniature white cedar planking and a rudder responding to the wheel. Sails, everything were made by the skipper in his spare moments during the last six months.

He doesn't know what he will do with it. Two of the most interested spectators, when he exhibited the model before sailing his liner, were little Mary Jane Blackmore of Beverly Hills and Helen Easterday of Los Angeles.

G.O.P. CLANS TO GATHER

Republican State Committee Group Will Map Drive for Ticket at Parley Today

Republican clans of Southern California will gather here today for the conference of southern members of the Republican State committee which will lay final plans of the campaign in this section of the State for the ticket headed by Mayor Rolph, nominee for Governor, and Senator Merriam, nominee for Lieutenant-Governor.

Every county in the Southland will be represented at the meeting, which will be held at the Alexandria following a noon luncheon. More than fifty Republican leaders are expected to attend, according to Mendel B. Silberberg, Southern California Republican campaign director.

Louis B. Mayer, first vice-chairman of the State committee, will preside and urge party chieftains from other counties to co-operate with the State committee in the drive for the Rolph-Merriam ticket. He will offer the State committee's help to county committees in their campaigns for legislative candidates.

Mayor Rolph and Senator Merriam will open a campaign for the Republican candidates in the north today, speaking in San Francisco tonight. Both candidates will return to Southern California next Sunday.

In behalf of the Republican ticket, Col. Charles W. Decker will speak over station KGFJ at 11:15 a.m. Thursday and over KTM at 1:45 p.m. Friday, according to Maj. Carlos W. Huntington, head of the speakers' bureau for the State committee.

Other radio addresses will be made during the remainder of the campaign.

The first of the Assembly district organizations in Los Angeles county to report a completed committee to carry on a drive for votes for all Republican candidates, is the Fifty-fifth or Hollywood District, according to George B. Bush, campaign director for the Los Angeles Republican county central committee.

Working in conjunction with an advisory committee, the county central committee members, under the chairmanship of Homer B. Wright, have opened headquarters at 6605 Hollywood Boulevard. Joseph Goldsmith is chairman of the advisory committee and Selwyn Allen and Edward A. C. Hammond, Jr., are vice-chairman and secretary respectively of the county committee for the district.

Armistice Day Celebration to Be Broadcast

The Armistice Day celebration at the Coliseum on November 11 will be released over station KHJ to seventy-five other stations of the nation and rebroadcast on short-wave stations to European and Asiatic points, according to Secretary Harold Starr of the general committee. He said that more than 100 motion-picture folk will participate in an entertainment program particularly designed to please thousands of bedridden World War veterans in hospitals all over the world.

The City Playground Department will have 65,000 school children's songs broadcast from the field of the Coliseum.

Gov. Young who has declared Armistice Day a holiday in California, will be the principal speaker.

Rector's Wife Dies in Sudden Heart Attack

Caroline Lewis Murphy, wife of Rev. Charles P. Murphy, rector of Amanda Chapel, Carthay Circle, died suddenly yesterday at 10:30 a.m., of a heart attack. The funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 3 p.m., from Amanda Chapel with Bishop Stevens in charge. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Murphy, who was 66 years of age, was born in Pennsylvania. She has been with her husband in California since 1901. She was with him when he was rector of St. Luke's Church at Long Beach, and in charge, for ten years, of St. Athanasius, Los Angeles. Later, Mr. Murphy was in charge of Holy Trinity Church at Covina, and for eleven years she was with him during his pastorate at All Saints, San Diego.

She was active in Sunday-school work and Christian education. She belonged to the Cliff Dwellers' Club and was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Troth Ends but Something More Exciting Hinted

"Something a little more interesting in about a week" was promised last night by Miss Betty Pierce, motion-picture and stage actress, when she announced that her engagement to Rex Lease, film actor, had been ended.

"I do want to say that Mr. Lease and I are still good friends," Miss Pierce said last night. "The engagement has been ended and there isn't much more that I can say, except that Rex is charming and lovely, but I am not going to marry him."

When asked what the "little more interesting" thing was, Miss Pierce only smiled and said: "Wait and see."

Her final decree of divorce will be given in Superior Court some time this week, she said.

Child Player's Curls Snipped at Film Show

Snipping off three long curls from the golden-haired Nancy Crowley, 9-year-old motion-picture actress, as she sat in the Paramount Theater at 5528 Santa Monica Boulevard, last night, an unidentified man made his escape with the ringlets.

The proprietor of the showhouse, W. R. Roberts, when the child's mother, Mrs. Nan Crowley of 1309½ Gordon street, reported the theft of the curls, turned on all the lights in the theater but the man made his getaway in safety.

Loss of the curls may keep the child out of the films, her mother said. Detective Lieutenant Dickey of the Hollywood station was assigned the task of capturing the offender.

HERE'S TEST FOR YOUR ERUDITION

Must Be Smart to Read "Times" Editorials

But Harry Carr's Column's Not So Difficult

Comics Quite Simple, Says School Board

If you wish to impress your seat neighbor on the street car with your wide familiarity with the English language the most advisable mode of procedure is to fish your copy of The Times from your pocket, open it ostentatiously to the editorial page and peruse the editorials, meanwhile displaying as sage and understanding a mien as you can manage. Do not, if you value your reputation for philological erudition, turn first to Harry Carr's column.

These little hints are based upon the results, made public yesterday of a study carried out with scientific exactitude for the purpose of ascertaining the vocabulary difficulty of various types of newspaper reading material. The study was made by Alfred S. Lewerenz, statistician of the division of psychology and education research of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

PURPOSE OF TEST

Its purpose, Mr. Lewerenz said yesterday, was primarily to aid in the selection of textbooks for the various school grades. It is the intention of the local educators to compare the reading difficulty of the textbooks with comparable matter in the newspapers, which will be regarded as a basic norm (whatever that is,) and thus determine whether or not a given textbook is too easy, too hard or just right for the purpose for which it was designed.

On the way to this objective, however, interesting comparisons were obtained as to the extent of the vocabulary needed to read intelligently the various kinds of matter included in a newspaper. These comparisons were expressed in terms of school grades, inasmuch as the vocabulary knowledge expected of the normal pupil in each grade is a known quantity, having been worked out on the basis of the Stanford reading tests by Mr. Lewerenz as a preliminary to the present study.

COMICS EASIEST

Lowest in the scale of diversified vocabulary are the comic strips; according to the study, rarely will they be found to contain a word which is not part of the vocabulary of the average third or fourth-grade pupil. Murder stories are about on the same linguistic level, though they are likely to contain a few more technical words than comic strips.

Sporting news comes next in the matter of diversified vocabulary, as only a pupil who has spent almost half a year in the fifth grade can be expected to read the sporting page with real understanding. Then there is general local news, which requires sixth-grade linguistic ability for comprehension; then general telegraph news, which can be read intelligently only by students who have completed half their year in the seventh grade, and finally Los Angeles Times editorials, which are conceded so erudite that the average student below the eighth grade cannot be expected to digest them.

COLUMNISTS COMPARED

In addition to classifying these types of news matter, the study compared the relative simplicity of language of four columnists, whose writings have appeared in local papers. By far the most easy to read were the columns of the late A. Y. Tully, as a general thing, but he also used more technical words than his confrers; so, except for an occasional stumbling block in the shape of a technical word, any normal fourth-grade student should be expected to be able to understand his writings.

Next in simplicity of style came Harry Carr, the Lancer, and his column, according to the study, should be as an open book to any normal fifth-grade pupil. Slightly more difficult of comprehension are rated the writings of Will Rogers, as the study indicates the reader must have spent at least a couple of months in the fifth grade before he can be expected to understand Will's words. The most extensive vocabulary of the four columnists rated is that of Arthur Brisbane, for it takes a sixth-grade vocabulary to cover all the words he is accustomed to use.

Unidentified Man Contrives Death on Rail

NEWPORT, Oct. 19. (Exclusive)—An unidentified man was killed on the Pacific Electric tracks by a southbound Newport car near the Santa Ana River bridge at 8:30 o'clock tonight. To all appearances the man had placed his head on the rails and awaited death, according to Coroner Brown of Santa Ana, who took charge of the body.

The man's coat was folded carefully and placed on the outside of the rail. His head was directly on the rail and death was instantaneous when the car struck him. The body was taken to the Grooms & Reisenberg mortuary at Santa Ana, where it will be held for identification.

The victim apparently was about 40 years of age, weighed about 150 pounds and was 5 feet 10 inches in height. He had one gold-crowned upper front tooth and an eagle tattooed on his arm. A small amount of change was in his pockets but no letters or papers that would give a clew to his identity.

SHORT CHANGE ARTIST GETS JAIL SENTENCE

The oldest "skin game" in the world was put over on her by Jake Effel, Mrs. C. J. Campbell, drugstore owner of 3744 Whittier Boulevard, told Municipal Judge Baird. She appeared as a witness against Effel at his trial for petty theft. Effel bought 10 cents worth of gum and gave her a $10 bill, she said. By apparently discovering a dime in his pocket and manipulating the change, he short-changed her out of $5, she said. Judge Baird sent the man to jail for five days.

GRAVES HAS PLAN TO AID IDLE MEN

Will Ask Supervisors to Speed Beginning of County Projects

Believing that Los Angeles county can aid materially in relieving unemployment, Chairman Graves of the Board of Supervisors will present a resolution today at the meeting of the board to speed up county projects.

Graves's resolution calls upon heads of the various county departments to submit to the board a survey of conditions in their respective departments relative to projects pending and now under way.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "hundreds of additional men can be put to work by the county at the present time simply through the medium of starting projects immediately instead of delaying them for several months. This work could be provided by the county without additional expense, as the work must be done some time, now or later."

A. K. Warren, chief engineer of the sanitation district, is asked to provide the board with a statement of work under way and work pending. The same request has been made to George Jones, chief of the county road department; E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of the flood-control district; John Rocco, County Surveyor, and the heads of other county departments.

"Los Angeles county," Chairman Graves continued, "is, with every other county in the country, observing 'good business' week. Providing additional employment for our citizens is the best way I know of for this county to enter into the spirit of the week.

"In the flood-control and sanitation departments many men can be employed after the first of the year in carrying out necessary flood-control and conservation work. I believe that the county can just as well employ these men now and carry on the work instead of waiting until the new year."

Supervisor Graves recently brought about a revision of the wage scale for common laborers which resulted in an increase of $300,000 annually to men doing this class of work.

COUNTY AIRPORT LEASE OFFERED

is a suitable field for an airport," declared William J. Fox, chief engineer of the County Regional Planning Commission, commenting on airports in general.

"I am for bigger and better airports," declared Supervisor Beaty at the board meeting last week, where he made an appearance for the first time after crashing in an airplane at King City several weeks ago.

Beaty introduced the matter of leasing the El Monte port and will in all probability endeavor to get the Board of Supervisors to take some definite action today relative to the county acquiring a hold on the land.

way down to Samoa the of the commission read all books and articles regard- the islands and also studied the voluminous manuscript made annually to the Sec- of the Navy from the Gov- covering every phase of the government. The members commission read the manu- records of debates in the re- annual Fonos.

annual Fono is a representa- body composed of all of the chiefs; and thirty lesser chiefs, selected from each of districts into which Amer- Samoa is divided for adminis- purposes. The annual Fono been used by the naval gov- as a kind of advisory council, wishes, not necessarily bind- the governor, were general- followed. We found very little satisfaction with the way in this body is constituted.

STILL PATERNALISTIC

thoroughly representative in Samoan sense, for the are still living in a pater- regime, where the matai, head of the family or clan, is by the members of the fam- their leader and is re- for providing them with clothing and shelter. The assigns to each a place of on the family lands; he them when to fish, and when plant and harvest their crops; to build houses, when to make day a more individualistic will prevail but it is not the of the commission to make recommendations which shall de- Samoan culture, manners and but rather to provide a system whereby the Samoans may change and develop as fast as they desire to do so.

The Samoans are members of the Polynesian race, first cousins of the Hawaiians, descendants of the most daring navigators and discoverers the world has ever seen, who, without compass or sextant, sailing only by the sun and stars, following the migration of the birds, discovered the principal groups of islands in the Eastern Pacific, carried to them many useful plants and a few domestic animals, and developed interesting systems of agriculture, fishing and navigation. Like the Hawaiians, they are intelligent, high spirited and hospitable. We have no hesitancy in recommending that they be granted American citizenship.

LAND FOR CITIZENS

We shall also recommend that the Fono be permitted to determine the qualifications necessary for Samoan citizenship, as distinct from American citizenship. On account of the very limited area of the islands and the small amount of arable land we shall recommend that land be acquired and held only by citizens and residents of American Samoa. In view of the fact that it has been a well-nigh universal custom in Polynesia to regard those of part Polynesian blood as having the same legal status as full-blooded Polynesians, we shall recommend that the Fono be not permitted to deny Samoan citizenship to any Polynesian of part blood who is otherwise qualified.

The Navy has for many years insisted that land could not be acquired except by aboriginal full-blooded Samoans. Out of a population of 10,000 the recent census shows more than 800 part-Samoans. While we agree that it is wise to keep "Samoa for the Samoans," we do not believe that there is a sufficient justification for denying the right to acquire lands to the part-Samoan.

We shall recommend that the legislative power in American Samoa be the Fono, as it is now constituted, with appeal to the President of the United States should the Governor use his veto power and the Fono pass any measure by a two-thirds vote over the Governor's veto. This takes away from the Governor the power to make laws. It also permits an appeal to the President over the head of an arbitrary or unpopular Governor. Together with the recommendation for American citizenship it meets the wishes of the great mass of the Samoan people and expresses what they mean when they ask for "civil government."

We shall recommend that the Governor of American Samoa be appointed by the President, with the approval of the Senate, and that the President be free to appoint naval officers, either active or reserve, army officers or civilians as he may think best. We shall recommend that the Governor's term of office be indeterminate, and that the present method of appointing the Governor for a limited period of eighteen months be abandoned.

LONGER TERMS

We believe it would be far better to obtain the services of a Governor who will be willing to stay for several years, providing he is generally satisfactory to the President and the people of Samoa, and is permitted to have a furlough annually of sufficient length to keep him in good physical trim and enable him to overcome the debilitating effects of living within a few degrees of the equator.

Due to the necessity for raising revenues for the island government and in view of our treaty obligations with Great Britain and Germany, we shall make no recommendation for the lowering or abolition of customs duties.

We shall recommend that in all important legal cases an appeal may be taken from the high court of Samoa to the United States District Court of Hawaii. We shall recommend that one of the judges of that court go to Samoa from time to time as it becomes necessary to hear appeals. This recommendation meets the wishes of the Samoans that in cases involving capital punishment, imprisonment for a term of years or serious financial loss they be given the opportunity to appeal to a Federal court.

The commission will also recommend that, in view of the fact that it does not seem to us advisable to bring American Samoa under the Constitution of the United States, a Bill of Rights be written into the Organic Act which shall cover substantially the following points:

No law shall be enacted respecting an establishment of religion; or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievance.

The right of the people to secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or things to be seized.

No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb nor shall he be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. In all criminal prosecution the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial, to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist in American Samoa.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety shall require it. No ex post facto law shall be passed.

WITNESSES OF TREASON

No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

No law shall be made or enforced which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of the citizens of American Samoa.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines be imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

In a word, the commission is unanimously of the opinion that the ancient rights and privileges of the Samoans ought to be preserved, that they be permitted, within certain limitations, to change their laws and customs as the need rises, and that the Navy continue its benevolent care until such time as the President and the Congress may make other arrangements for the government of island groups, like the Virgin Islands and Guam, which are held by the Navy principally because of their value to our national defense.

ZANE GREY'S SON INJURED IN TUSSLE WITH BROTHER

Loren Grey, 14-year-old son of the novelist, Zane Grey, was treated last night at the Pasadena Emergency Hospital for a slashed left arm, received, he told attending surgeons, during the course of a scuffle with his brother, Romer Grey, 22, on the estate of their father in Altadena.

Details of the affair which led to the injury of the youth were refused by the pair, who only admitted that there had been a tussle and that Loren had been cut. The wound, a deep gash about one and a half inches long, required a number of stitches.

After the injured arm had been dressed, the two left the hospital with their differences apparently composed.

BUILDING BLAST HELD ACCIDENT

Garment Capitol Explosion Plot Theory Fails

Police Inquiry Ended Unless New Clews Develop

Fire Department Still Seeks Cause of Gas Leak

Police investigators are convinced that the explosion which wrecked the Garment Capitol Building at 217 East Eighth street Friday and injured forty-eight persons was purely accidental.

Their finding was announced yesterday by Detective Lieutenant Katzenberger, regarded as the police department's foremost authority on explosives, who was assigned to the investigation by Chief of Detectives Taylor. The case is closed, Katzenberger declared, so far as police are concerned, unless new and unexpected developments should arise.

Although fire-department arson investigators are still at work on the case, they said they have discovered nothing which has not already been made public. They have been conducting an inquiry independent of the police investigation, largely to determine what caused the gas leak and whether the valve was opened deliberately or by accident.

This, it was admitted, will be difficult to establish, particularly since tenants of the building had noticed the odor of escaping gas in the building for several days before the blast occurred. The valve, it was pointed out, had been inclosed by a specially built cabinet but, since this was wrecked by the explosion, it is impossible to determine whether it had been molested.

Detectives and other persons discredit the theory that the building was deliberately blasted, point out that a more deadly explosive than gas undoubtedly would have been employed. Police chemists who have been seeking evidence of TNT, black powder or dynamite, said yesterday that their formal report will not be ready until today. It was indicated, however, that they have found no such evidence.

TARZAN TO SET FORTH ONCE AGAIN

Golden Lion" Series Will Begin Its Thrilling Path in "Times" Today

Again Tarzan goes forth to conquer strange worlds and sinister dangers.

The seventh of his experiences series begins its serial life in The Times today. It is called "Tarzan and the Golden Lion."

It has thrills in plenty. Born of parents marooned on the African coast, this King of the Apes goes forth to test his strength, his ingenuity, his courage and daring against situations equaling those encountered before.

The theme is the unasking loyalty and allegiance that sometimes exists between man and beast—a tie often much stronger, say philosophers, than that between man and man.

Replete with the lure of the wilderness, it takes Tarzan into strange places in the Dark Continent. There is plot and counter-plot.

The knowledge of civilization is pitted against the keen instinct of the jungle with breath-taking results for the friends of Tarzan who have been following his adventures in the fascinating novels written by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

"Tarzan and the Golden Lion" has been preceded by "Tarzan of the Apes," "The Return of Tarzan," "The Beast of Tarzan," "The Son of Tarzan," "Tarzan and the Jewels of Opar" and "Tarzan and the Lost Empire," just closed.

This Bell Boy Roomed Lincoln

One may suspect that associates of James (Sandy) Campbell, veteran bellboy of the Biltmore, are drawing the long bow a bit when they tell you that he roomed Abraham Lincoln.

One might even suspect spoofing in the report that Sandy led other notables to their quarters in what were then the leading hotels of the nation with only the flickering light of a candle to guide him.

But Ivo Bogan, assistant manager of the Biltmore, swore yesterday and Sandy, when cornered, finally admitted that those early experiences are closely pressed by Sandy's latest adventure. It appears that members of the American Mining Congress recently held a meeting in El Paso. Most of them know Sandy. When they made ready for their gathering they found that something was amiss. Conditions were soon changed, however. One of the delegates had an inspiration.

And Sandy, the veteran bellhop, received an invitation to participate in the weighty councils of the country's leading mineral men.

The bellhop declared he had met with many unusual things in his career, but that he never knew there is a kinship between the professions of mining and hopping bells.

SCHOOL FOR FEDERAL DRY AGENTS CLOSES

Lessons in prohibition enforcement for Federal dry agents in Southern California are at an end for the time being, it was announced yesterday by Deputy Administrator Peters. A school for Federal dry agents, now in the service, has been conducted for the last two weeks by Clarence A. Housel and Clyde McLemore, instructors of the Division of Schools at Washington. The agents were instructed along the line of criminal investigation and constitutional law, with the application of each to the dry administration. About thirty agents attended the school.

Today's Bible Text

Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby; if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious.—1 Peter ii:1, 3.

DRY DITCH

"Drys Battle to Last Ditch" runs a headline. But you can bet the dollar you had left after the World Series it will not be a wet ditch.

BOTTOM DOLLAR

One reason why there was less gambling during the World Series was because they bet their bottom dollar. The times are peculiarly favorable for this piece of money.

SHORT

Russia may sell her wheat short, if she wants to; but it would improve her appearance more to do something like that to her whiskers. And if she would apply the same dimensions to her tongue, it might help.

BIGGEST TALKIE

A few nights ago the American Legion convention in Boston was broadcast over seventy-six stations, the largest in hook-up history. There was a time when if a man talked to 5000 folks he swelled with pride. Now if 50,000,000 do not listen in, he feels peeved.

THE HATLESS

The hatters are exercised over the hatless fad. Business men have caught the inspiration from the college boys and are going about bareheaded. Ultra-violet rays are given a chance at the brain and the clamp has been taken off our idea factory. But the dressmakers managed to drag down the skirts again, and we suppose the hatters will ultimately harness our heads once more.

THE MONTANA EGG

The dinosaurs didn't do all their nesting in Mongolia. Roy Chapman Andrews found some wonderful specimens of the eggs of this massive reptile in the Gobi Desert and now it is reported that the Princeton expedition into the wilds of Montana has revealed the shells and possibly full examples of the eggs of the monster saurians who held sway in the bad lands 50,000,000 years ago. The eggs are slightly smaller and somewhat different in color from the Mongolian specimens, but they are all the work of the lady dinosaur. The reptile must have had a wonderful range in his day. The footprints left by the dinosaurs in Montana make those of Senator Walsh look like rabbit tracks.

UNIVERSE DYING?

Is the universe committing suicide? Sir Arthur Stanley Eddington says it is. Dr. Robert Millikan says it isn't.

Sir Arthur predicts a uniform, changeless death for the universe because of the self-destruction of the atoms. These heat the sun and stars and form the basis of all matter. They are divesting themselves of the last shreds of energy and will cease to exist in time.

On the other hand, Dr. Millikan has stripped atoms and feels at home with them as one of their best friends. While he assents to the self-destruction idea, he also sees a constructive process going on. Heavier elements are being formed out of lighter ones.

A negative despondent electron may become tired of life and decide to end it all, and the positive electron paired with it may rush into its arms in a suicide pact. But this double demise results in the release of energy in the inside of suns where such episodes occur.

So while matter is exploding, there is a corresponding upbuilding. The Pasadena savant sums up the matter by saying: "All this may be one little bit of experimental evidence pointing a finger toward the belief that somewhere, somehow, the Creator is still on the job."

In either case there is enough energy in a drop of water to furnish 200 horsepower for a year. And instead of mighty generating plants which we now erect with wharfs and sidings and piles of fuel, or tremendous mountain harness on turbulent streams, our enginery of the future will feed on water. And a year's supply of fuel for the big maw of the furnace may be carried around in a teacup. So the suicide of a few despondent atoms becomes a blessing. And this will not upset our calculations for untold billions upon billions of years.

THE FIVE-DAY WEEK

Among suggestions for relief of unemployment that are being generally considered are two different ones of the same name—the "five-day week." Both have somewhat the same basis, the belief that there is less work to be done in the world than there are workers to do it, at least for the time being. There is some confusion in the public mind between these proposals, one of which is being put into effect in certain industries, particularly the automobile industry in Detroit; it is the other which was advocated by the American Federation of Labor at its just-concluded convention in Boston. One is a five-day week with five days' pay; the other a five-day week with six days' pay. The difference between them is the difference between what is economically feasible and what is not.

The five-day week as Detroit has it has been applied in a limited way in other places with good results. Production is carried on for six days, as usual, but each worker has two days off instead of one and additional workers are employed, where full production is required, or the same number of workers as on the six-day schedule, but with fewer working each day, where full production is not required. It has been found that men much prefer this system of part time to all of a full staff to full time for a part of the staff with part laid off more or less permanently; they accept the cut in time as a necessary adjustment in time of depression, and an extra day off as compensation for a one-sixth reduction in the pay envelope. Men working on reduced time according to this plan feel that at least they have a job, with prospects of improvement when times improve. Besides, they are not added to the army of the unemployed and thus create no pressure in the labor market. While their pay is a sixth less most of them find that the average one-fourth reduction in living costs which has taken place in the past year actually enables them to buy and enjoy more on their (in cash) smaller pay than they could on full time a year ago.

The other plan, of five days' work, but six days' pay, could only have the effect of increasing the cost of production unless it was accompanied by such an increase in productive capacity by each workman that six days' work was actually produced in five. In either case, it would not put any more men at work. Increased cost of production is obviously more likely to produce unemployment than employment, since it will necessarily reduce demand.

Industry already operating close to the margin, as most industries are at the present time, obviously cannot stand a pay-roll addition with no additional production to compensate for it. Those that are operating at an actual loss, as some are to keep themselves "going concerns," would be bankrupted by the added burden thereby imposed by the A.F.L.'s proposed five-day week.

The statement that there appears to be less work in the world than men to do it sounds so much like economic heresy that it needs qualification. Adam Smith and the classical economists would have been dumfounded at the suggestion that such a state of affairs could come to pass. Yet there is some evidence that it is true, in the United States at the present time, and would be true in the world at large were labor-saving machinery and methods which have been developed here, to be universally applied. In some products, as wheat, it is possibly true universally now.

As a general thing, the history of labor-saving devices has been that, while they enable a few men to do work which formerly required many, they operate so greatly to expand the scope of industries as actually to create many more jobs, sometimes of a different character, than they abolished. Engines operating by steam, gasoline and electricity are familiar examples of inventions which were strongly opposed by labor on the ground that they would throw thousands of workers out of employment. Instead, they created jobs for millions more.

In times of depression, however, and where an industry has already reached the approximate limits of its possible expansion, no such compensating situation exists. Sound films have added thousands of theater musicians to the lists of unemployed; telegraph printers are replacing many old-time Morse key operators, and so on. Ultimately means may appear whereby such devices may themselves create new and compensating industries, but such developments are a matter of time and make no progress at all in periods of general retrenchment.

A revival of business accompanied by the discovery of new and additional ways of satisfying human wants might easily produce a demand for labor greater than the supply and put the old rule into effect again. The present condition may be a temporary and passing phase of the industrial revolution which began with James Watt, or it may be a permanency which will require the recasting of the world's whole economic basis; only time will demonstrate which.

THE CAN OPENER

Quite recently an estate of more than $100,000,000 was credited to the founder of one of the principal canned-food concerns of the country.

The country is eating out of a can. The kitchen stove and kitchen sink are falling into decay.

Woman has been manumitted from the slavery of the home by the electric washing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the mechanical refrigerator and the motor sewing machine. But she has voluntarily entered into another slavery of the typewriter, the adding machine, the dictograph, the telephone and the can opener. Life is just one can after another: canned soup, canned fish, canned beef, canned biscuits, canned fruit, canned spinach, canned beets, canned milk, canned music, canned sermons, canned pictures and even canned applesauce.

Cooking is becoming a lost art with brides. Eating places are springing up in every block. Future husbands will not be able to boast of mother's cooking. Even mother's bread can be found only in the bakery. And yet our youngsters have stamina. And the world is not within a few days of starvation as it once was.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

THIS is to explain why certain Hollywood people received their mail one day late recently.

Postmen who deliver C.O.D. packages are not allowed to accept checks—except on their own responsibility. That is, when they return to the postoffice they must turn in cash and retain the checks, if they have not already cashed them. But some postmen are kind-hearted, especially to lovely young ladies in distress. So the other day when one of them arrived at a Hollywood lodging-house largely inhabited by extra girls, and the lovely young creature to whom the C.O.D. package was addressed was just awfully sorry, but she'd forgotten all about that little package and didn't have a cent of change, and would have to give him a check for it, he couldn't resist the desire to be gallant—and took the check.

RUBBER!
DOG-GONE!

He took it—straight to the bank. And there he discovered it was a rubber check. A rubber check is one which bounces back and hits you right in the eye. The teller didn't tell, but he bounced it with a smile. Helen Wills couldn't have returned an easy serve any more effectually than he batted back that rubber check.

What Could Be Fairer?

Every man likes to appear a hero before lovely ladies, but nothing takes the edge off gallantry like rubber checks. The postman left no corner unturned in dashing back there. If he and Charlie Paddock had been running side by side Charlie wouldn't have gained a stamp on him. He arrived at the lodging-house door so wheezy that he could not make his desires known for some minutes. But finally the lovely young creature who had issued the bouncy check was brought forth.

She came attired as Solomon in all his glory never was. In fact, she would have held her own with the daughter of any namesake of Solomon. She had rings on her fingers and furs on her throat, for that C.O.D. package had contained a fur coat of the kind which, bought in the regular or customary way, would have been a thing of beauty and time payments forever. It made her look like $1,000,000 plus.

"Oh, I just cawn't understand that!" she exclaimed, when the check was presented to her. "But let's go right down to the corner drug store and I'll cash you another one. I'm always perfectly willing to take up my checks."

RUBBER!
HOW DARE HE!

Check and Double Check

The postman had to admit she showed a fine desire to straighten things out at once and accompanied her to the drug store. The clerk behind the soda fountain beamed on her with the familiar assurance of one who frequently has been privileged to set 'em up, but when she produced a check for a husky amount he paled beneath his make-up—for, like all Hollywood soda jerkers, he has motion-picture aspirations of his own.

"Sorry," he said, "but I'll have to get the old man to handle that. Haven't got that much in the pie drawer."

She smiled sweetly and confidently and the postman waited and watched. In a minute he saw the soda jerker reappear from behind the prescription case with four checks instead of one spread out like cards in his hand.

"Nothin' doin,' kiddo," he announced. "Here's three more rubber checks of yours. The old man says that until you take these up he can't cash your check for a nickel."

Feminine Finance

Even the fairest of the fair sex are not always fair to each other and only one in six is perfectly fair in business. The young lady looked outraged. "How perfectly unreasonable!" she murmured, with such a look of conviction that it was the clerk, not she, who looked abashed and apologetic. "He knows I'm always willing to take up my checks. Give them here and I'll give you a new check for all of them."

"But what good'll that do?"

"What good? Well, remember, I wanted to take them up and you wouldn't let me."

With that effective shot, she walked out with perfect dignity and without the least loss of composure.

"We'll go up to the next corner," she told the waiting postman. "The druggist there has known me longer."

BRUTE!

The postman obediently trotted along. And at the next corner he was given convincing evidence that the young woman spoke truth. Evidently the druggist there had known her longer. He had five of her rebounding checks.

Carrying on Bravely

Baffled but not beaten, the young lady calmly led him to another drug store—but the owner of that also knew her too well.

"Oh, dear me!" she said, with the air of one who is carrying on heroically against terrific odds. "Don't lose heart. I'll get you your money, all right. But this walking has nearly done me up. Let's sit down here and have a little lunch, while I think up a place that's sure fire."

They sat, and her little lunch cost 85 cents. The postman had to pay it, as she had brought along only 30 cents.

"I never was so embarrassed in my life," she said—though she certainly didn't look it." "I just can't think of any druggist or storekeeper that I know well enough to be sure he'll cash my checks."

"Miss," suggested the desperate postman, "why not try some druggist or storekeeper who doesn't know you at all?"

She looked at herself in the mirror behind the lunch counter. She surely looked like $1,000,000 plus. "Why, that's a good idea," she said. "Why not?"

By that time they had wandered a long way down Hollywood Boulevard. They went out and strolled a long way further, to a neighborhood on which stardust seldom falls. There the postman waited outside, like a liveried attendant, while the lovely young thing went in with her best stage air of assurance and her loveliest smile. The proprietor was young and good looking.

"Would you mind cashing a little check for me?" she asked, confidently.

"Why, no ma'am, we'll be glad to," said the druggist.

So she wrote a "little" check which made him blink, but he was game. She went out with her hands full of money and paid the postman in full—except for the lunch.

"Thank you," he said, as he started away.

"Oh, thank you," she replied sweetly. "You see, this druggist cashed a check for $20 more than I owed you, so my eating problem is solved again."

WELL! NOT SO BAD!

ON THE POWER OF THOUGHT

By James J. Montague

When hot and arid is the air
  And falls no summer rain,
When farm and field is brown and bare
  And withered is the plain,
The army worm is not cast down,
  Nor does he cry "Alas!"
He merely wriggles into town
  And dines on peoples' grass.

Somehow he writhes his way along
  From pastures dun and dead,
As many as a million strong,
  By insect instinct led.
He creeps beneath the garden gates
  As golden daylight dawns
And avidly he masticates
  The loveliest of lawns.

If it should chance that you or I
  Who boast about our brain
Some day should seek our food supply
  And find the quest in vain,
With not a pea or bean to boil,
  And not a roast to carve,
Or bread to slice or chop to broil,
  We probably should starve.

The army worm, devoid of mind,
  Still in the darkness strives
His necessary food to find,
  And prospers and survives.
His needful sustenance he gains
  Alone by sense of touch,
Which seems to indicate that brains
  Do not amount to much.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

"THE GREATEST AMERICAN"

[Burbank Review]

One of the speakers at the Hearst banquet in Los Angeles, Tuesday night, referred to Mr. Hearst as one of the three greatest Americans.

A speaker at a similar banquet in Chicago several days previously went the Los Angeles speaker two better and hoisted Mr. Hearst on a pedestal all by himself as the "greatest living American."

While few will begrudge any glory that Mr. Hearst might be entitled to in the galaxy of the nation's great men, if he is really the "greatest living American," most Americans have an entirely erroneous conception as to what makes a great American.

In the first place it is hard to conceive of "the greatest living American" spending about 50 per cent of his time and energies in encouraging folks to repudiate certain sections of the Constitution of their country and the other 50 per cent in trying to make American citizens hate the rest of the world.

HITLER'S SWORD RATTLING

[Providence Journal]

Adolf Hitler, the leader of the German Nationalist Socialist group which made such an impressive showing in the recent elections, may arouse his followers to heights of frenzy by threatening to tear the Versailles Treaty to pieces when he attains power. But he cannot utter such prophecies and then hope for that political and economic stabilization for which Germany and other European nations are now striving. Rattling the sword is about the last thing that any European leader ought to be doing these days.

ALARMING REGARD FOR THE PUBLIC

[Kansas City Star]

Billboard interests of the country have asked the Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of Standards, to offer recommendations as to location and dimensions of billboards erected along the highways. The bureau has declined to go into the matter. Perhaps it would be better now for the billboard concerns to take up the question of regulation with the authorities representing the public in the areas affected. But it ought to be done cautiously. Otherwise, such a display of regard for the rights of the public would produce a terrible shock.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

This burg is sure one extensive whispering gallery. It beats all, what you can hear here if you listen fluently. For instance, I just heard that Mrs. Pinchot, the titian-tressed side-kick of the man now running for the Pennsylvania Governorship—the most irregular man that ever ran on a regular ticket—had contributed a "grand" to the campaign of George Norris (not in the grocery business) in Nebraska. First time I can find him, I'm going to take Geraldpeenye apart (I mean aside) and ask him if this be, indeed, sooth. If he say it is, it will be practically the first thing he has been certain about since he started investigating whatever it is.

Then it seems to be common knowledge that Wallie Atterbury, who runs a railroad we have heard highly spoken of, has run out on Giffy and withdrawn from the Pennsylvania political arena until such time as it shall have been cleansed of the naturalist he detests. Wallie is now sulking in his tent, eating worm after worm and putting beans up his nose.

Just here we may as well pause long enough to point out something else the matter with the English language we so love to abuse:

When a child swallows his food whole, without mastication, his mother or other guardian admonishes him not to "bolt" his food; meaning that swallowing too eagerly is bolting. But when Wallie "bolts" Giffy, it is a complete refusal to swallow him. Can we blame foreigners for having trouble with such a tongue?

So far, the national campaign seems to consist of Raskob's roll and its divided peregrinations into and out of pockets. If there is anybody in the world who seems to be exemplifying the old saying that "money talks," it is John Kris Kringle Raskob. His kale is the most talkative brand known to numismatists—in fact, it is positively garrulous, not to say gabby. Through Charley Michelson as a megaphone, it chatters away to one and all. From Charley it ramifies into and out of the mouths of Congressmen. The Raskobian sock has spilled like a horn of plenty into every part of the field, apparently. In Montana it is talking on both sides—for the Republican dripper and the Democratic duster. It is explained (explained, but not clarified) that the five grand spent to elect Walsh is a personal gift. How does this 5000 know it is a personal gift and that it should not oppose the rest of the money John has bestowed to elect the wet candidate? Too long contemplation of this enigma would qualify one for the strait-jacket and the padded cubicle.

Outside of Raskob and the crop of bristling political bayonets that have sprung up from his dragons blood sowing, there is little campaign talk in the capital except about Ruth and her Nye-omi whom she has unscripturally sworn not to cease from following after. The two are nemessing one another. And in the shuffle you will at once notice that you do not notice Jimham of the cerise lilacs, whatsoever. The dust Ruth raised in her primary campaign has been moistened enough by the referendum buck passing to create some fine mud for throwing purposes. And whether Jimham is buried in that resultant spiritous and malt mud or concealed by a cloud of Volsteadian dust, he is just as effectively hid from public attention. No doubt he is making peachy speeches wherever he is working if at all—and don't kid yourself.

Whenever any citizen of Washington reads in the paper that some member of the constabulary has been suspended for drunkenness or assistant-racketeering, he at once says:

"Yeah! I bet that was the guy that pinched me for going twenty-two miles an hour last week."

People living in Washington have some strange and weird commissions slipped to them now and then by members of the proletariat in the hinterland. Recently, for example, a prominent western citizen wrote a Washington denizen asking him to go over to the Arlington Cemetery and investigate as to whether the roots of a large oak tree were actually profaning the resting place of a friend of the writer, by crawling into the casket. The recipient of the request has not yet found a night dark enough to go over and make the investigation without danger of molestation by the cemetery custodians who might mistake him for a ghoul and regard his explanation as flimsy.

I have been considering, lately, the writing of an autobiography. The thing that had held me back from this for a long time was the fact that my autobiography, if and when written, wouldn't be worth reading. But since I have glanced over a lot of other autobiogs and found that that same fact didn't hold the others back, I am puzzled as to whether longer to refrain from the job. I could write a peach of an autobiography, but none of the thrilling things I'd tell would be true. If I could get some famous person to sign an autobiography which I would write, and divide the royalties (which we understand is being done) all would be perfect. There are a number of Washington lame ducks de luxe who would lose nothing by signing the worst and most sensational autobiography I could think up in my most margotasquith or dickmerriwell or jackdalton moments.

Laundry business everywhere is a perilous enterprise—here in America's melting pot, as well as elsewhere. The laundry is the war department of every home. Any ultimate peace treaty that does not include an armistice between housewives and laundrymen will be a hollow sham, a mockery. Even if it were included, peace would last only until the next pillow slip was lost. As with other peace treaties. Laundries do a lot of customer-swapping, for when Mrs. Whoozit cans her laundry because it tore a lace handkerchief, the laundry's customerial ranks are immediately reinforced by Mrs. Goshsakes, who dropped another laundry for having done the same thing. The insurmountable obstacle about laundries is that they are run by human beings for other human beings. There are no infallible human employees and there are no human customers who believe they are fallible. When the family linen is never anywhere except one of two places, viz.: the home or the laundry, and it isn't either place, the owner naturally knows it is lost at the laundry and the laundry naturally knows it was never sent, so there you are. Losing neckties and other gimcracks sent to them is a specialty of some laundries. My other tie has been roaming in the gloaming ever since early September. On Tuesdays and Thursdays I reverently visit the last place I saw it—at a desk, and lay a wreath. I am a S.A.R. and old family ties are sacred to me.

A laundryman tells me, in a burst of confidence, that never has any garment or piece of household linen been lost by his concern but that it was a very particular piece of hand-made lace, that had been a wedding present, with a sentimental value rendering it utterly unreplaceable. And that, too, makes it difficult. I'd hate to be a laundry.

Aeronauts and United States Senators should not be confused in the public thought—being air-minded is very different from being merely wind-minded.

It is gravely feared in some circles in Washington that some of the present Senators may not be returned to Washington by their constituency. It is far more gravely feared that some of them will.

Any violently kidnaped girl who voluntarily stays that way more than a week is not classifiable as a modern. This is a restless age, and even being violently kidnaped palls on these latter-day youngsters after a spell. It is well now and then to reread O. Henry's "The Ransom of Red Chief."

PEACE GARDENS

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

This excellent state of international amity is to be celebrated by the United States and Canada because of their hundred years of living side by side in peaceful relations. And the celebration is to be marked by the planting of a garden. Besides the tradition of the Garden of Eden, many nations have legends of mythical gardens where beauty, peace and love reigned, so that it makes a fitting symbol for the commemoration and perpetuation of the ideal of harmonious relationship.

This peace garden, which is to consist of a thousand acres, will be on the Canadian border and will be planted with the choicest trees, shrubs and flowers from all over the world. California, as well as many other States, will send seeds and growing plants to beautify its spacious area and it will be a visible materialization of the ideals toward which the world is moving.

This garden will be a sort of challenge to the two nations. For those planted, growing things will say, "If either of you two nations ever seek to invade the territory of the other for purposes of conquest or reprisal you will have to trample on us symbols of your own faith and friendship."

And those blossoming flowers will say more. They will silently declare, "We are progress, culture, beauty, order, happiness, security." For all of these things are uprooted by war and revolutions, and we of this progressive peaceful country, should be sowing the seeds of just such sturdy, patriotic plants in our own soil, and make of them a protective hedge to keep out the rank weeds of dangerous and destructive propaganda.

Realizing that gardens do more than anything else to beautify a community, many public-spirited people in the last few years have organized garden clubs. There are at least a score of active and successful clubs of this kind in Los Angeles county and the members of these organizations all tell the same story. They say that becoming interested in the natural growth of living things develops community spirit, lessens personal prejudices and eliminates neighborhood animosities.

Perhaps in time we can all start peace gardens in which we will plant rosemary for remembrance of all the kind things our neighboring countries and cities have done.

Imports of furs and fur manufactures into this country last year totaled $122,528,580.

ritual Housecleaning Advocated as Best Way to Get Rid of Accumulated Baggage

In his sermon on "Resolutions on Moving Day," preached by Frank B. Fagerburg yesterday at First Baptist Church, the told his audience that too many persons clutter their minds with much unnecessary baggage.

COMMUNITY CHEST BACKED BY PASTOR

"Am I my brother's keeper?" the question which the hypocritical Cain asked of his Maker, was answered yesterday by Rev. Ernest Caldecott at First Unitarian Church, in a sermon in which every citizen who admits that he has a heart was urged to support the Community Chest. Mr. Caldecott spoke in part as follows:

"Man is an increasingly interdependent creature. We build hospitals together, have a common water system and realize that the problem of employment is not any one man's affair. Our interdependence takes in other countries, for we want the raw material which others have; we are compelled to determine the size of our Navy by that of others; even our opinions are modified by views held abroad. Yet we must learn to preserve our individuality, while integrating it into society. If we think of ourselves as Americans or as Californians we are trying to do this very thing for we have then passed the stage of isolated individualism. Thus we find the necessity for improved education in the ethics of responsibility. Take, for example, the Community Chest drive, which is about to begin. Whose responsibility is it to look after the unfortunate? If nobody's then, we should have persons dying on the streets as was the case a few centuries ago in Europe. If the responsibility is that of society, then we, being a part of that society, must do our share. We must either do it by voluntary subscription or throw it on the taxes. No man has a right to decline to subscribe, just because the law does not compel him to do so, nor because he has a personal objection to the way in which this or that participating agency is conducted.

He should work and help put things right. Only a reasonable assumption of responsibility for the affairs of life, in civic, church and other matters, can give us the rich life we all seek. We may not, like Cain, have killed our brother Abel, but in the larger sense we are responsible for the ills of society. In that sense we are our brother's keeper."

BIBLE LABELED AS HOME'S FOUNDATION

"The Bible and the Home" was discussed yesterday by Dr. Bruce Brown at South Park Christian Church. Dr. Brown said in part:

"Let the Bible be taken from any community, no matter how high the standard of morality and splendid the social conditions, and the home soon will be undermined. The Bible stands over against the passions of men, declaring that marriage is the union of one man and one woman for life, that there must be mutual respect and reverence and the same standard of morals, that all others must be forsaken for the sake of husband or wife, that the responsibility of parents to children is sacred, that love is the highest law, that parents shall never be neglected and that the home is a type of heaven."

INTOLERANCE HIT BY DR. E. F. MAGNIN

Intolerance by overzealous adherents of religions and creeds was condemned by Rabbi E. F. Magnin in his sermon yesterday at Temple B'nai B'rith. Dr. Magnin spoke in part as follows:

"Our fathers, Jewish and Christian, came to this country to escape the intolerance and strife caused by religious differences in the Old World. They founded a government based upon liberty, fair play and opportunity. They attempted to prevent the union of church and state which has been a curse wherever it has existed. They knew the danger of despots and of mobs. They preferred intelligence and education rather than bigotry and ignorance as requisites for the preservation and perpetuation of American ideals. It behooves all Americans, irrespective of religious allegiance, to subscribe to these principles and to preserve them for the nation in accordance with the spirit of our Constitution. Any reversion to European age-old methods that are contrary to the principles just enumerated will in time shake this government of ours to its foundations. If a religion cannot exist and increase in influence by its own merits, then it is contrary to all truth, logically and psychologically, and is destined to ultimate failure. I believe that there is sufficient good in Catholicism, Protestantism, Judaism, Mohammedanism, Buddhism and other religions to enable them to stand upon their own feet without the aid of bigots and fanatics."

FOOTBALL PROVIDES THEME FOR SERMON

Taking a thought from the training regimes of the football season, Dr. Sheldon Shepard told his congregation at First Universalist Church yesterday that every day is a training day for more ability and better performance. He said in part:

"Circumstances make or break. Every day weakens or strengthens you. That day is lost whose trials and joys have not better fitted you for tomorrow. No rule of conduct is worth a dime in itself. It is good only if it points out a course of conduct which makes manhood and womanhood. Being a well-rounded individual is a far more difficult job than making the football team."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON ATONEMENT

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday in all Christian Science churches, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Scripture selections in the lesson-sermon included the following verses from John: "Thomas said unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me . . . And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it. If ye love me, keep my commandments."

A passage which appears under the marginal heading "Divine Oneness" in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine truth, life and love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage."

JOBS OF WIVES STILL SAFE

Council Declared Without Power to Dismiss City Employees' Mates

The Men's Brotherhood of the University Christian Church has urged the City Council to see that wives of city employees be excluded from city jobs. The Council, on advice of the City Attorney, has refused to take action because of lack of jurisdiction, it states.

OPTIMISTIC RELIGION HELD NEED OF WORLD

"An optimistic religion is badly needed in this old world today," Adjt. Frank Howell told his audience yesterday at Salvation Army Temple.

"The religion of Jesus is the most optimistic of religions," said Adjt. Howell. "All religious heroes have been men of optimism. David cried out as he suffered, 'Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil.' Moses chose a life of hardship rather than to be counted with the enemy. John, cut off from associations with loved ones on the homeland, could yet see visions in his island-bound home. Optimism has sent the Salvation Army around the world. Optimism is a vital, vitalizing, conquering power."

LOST OPPORTUNITIES HELD REAL TRAGEDY

"In the words 'This might have been, but I missed the opportunity' lies the great tragedy of human life," declared Dr. J. George Dorn in his sermon yesterday at Hollywood Lutheran Church. Dr. Dorn said in part:

"Wisdom or foolishness is revealed in the hour of crisis. Here a wide gulf separates all humans. The thing which makes shipwreck of most professing Christians is no positive wickedness, no conduct which would be branded as sin by the Christian conscience, but simply indifference and inactivity. The sweetest prayers of a Christian mother cannot give a single drop of oil to the godless son or daughter. There are no ready-made garments in the kingdom of character. There are no 'hand-me-downs' in the realm of manhood and womanhood. A reserve of Christian character, true wisdom, is the one thing one cannot afford to do without."

VICARIOUS ATONEMENT CALLED LAW OF GOD

"The doctrine of the atonement is the scarlet thread that courses through the Bible like the red cord through a United States silver certificate," declared Dr. John Snape in his sermon yesterday at Temple Baptist Church.

"Why split hairs over a vicarious atonement?" asked Dr. Snape. "What wife does not suffer vicariously when her husband gets drunk? What mother does not suffer vicariously when her son goes wrong? What pastor does not suffer vicariously when his church members do evil deeds? The atonement is the central truth of the Bible. Christ gave Himself for the world—not merely His time and His thought, but Himself."

DECISION BARS RECORD SEARCH

Shell Oil Company Scores in Lease Suit Dispute

Appeal Court Ruling Forbids Unwarranted Seizure

Constitutional Provisions on Question Set Forth

Private records are safeguarded from unwarranted examination by a decision just handed down by Division Two, District Court of Appeal, in the case of the Shell Oil Company against the Superior Court.

The question of search and seizure of business reports and documents arose in an action started in Superior Court by Josephine Cook against the oil concern, in which the plaintiff charged breaches of an oil lease by the Shell company and asked damages in a large amount.

Motion was made by the woman for an inspection and copy of company records pertaining to oil-location data, drilling, production, price of oil and gas and similar matters. The trial court granted the motion, whereupon the oil company appealed, charging that the plaintiff was engaged in a "fishing expedition."

Justice Schmidt, pro tem, who wrote the opinion, points out that the question involves the constitutional right of people to "be secure in their papers and effects against unreasonable seizures and searches." Before examination of private records might be granted, the court specifies, two facts must be shown by clear and unequivocal proof.

These are: (1,) that the precise book, paper or document containing the evidence material to the issue be described or designated so that it may be readily recognized; and, (2,) that such book, paper or document contain evidence material to the issue to be tried before the court. Such evidence must be competent evidence, not hearsay, it is added.

Presiding Justice Works and Associate Justice Craig concurred in the decision.

A party of Los Angeles newspaper representatives returned yesterday from Ensenada, where they were entertained at the new Playa Ensenada Hotel, which will have its formal opening the last of this month.

At the Mexican resort a luncheon and dinner was given for the visiting scribes. The new hotel, while it has been opened for several weeks, is not yet completed. At the time of the formal opening there will be some sixty guest rooms ready for occupancy and another wing containing approximately 100 more rooms will be finished shortly afterward. Charles Hervey, well-known in hotel circles, is the resident manager of the new establishment.

GOLF CURFEW DECISION DUE

Mayor Porter Scheduled to Take Action Today

If He Signs Ordinance It May Stir Legal Row

Course Owners Threaten to Wage Court Fight

The time limit for signing the ordinance regulating miniature golf courses recently adopted by the City Council, expires today, and Mayor Porter is expected to take action. If signed, the ordinance then will be published by City Clerk Dominguez and become effective thirty days thereafter. Should the Mayor veto the ordinance, it will be returned to the Council, which can pass it by a two-thirds majority.

Members of the Golf Course Owners' Association have been pleading with the Mayor to veto the ordinance, declaring it will injure their business. If the ordinance is signed, they have threatened to contest it in the courts, or to file a referendum petition, which will hold it up until after a vote of the people.

The ordinance requires the courses to close at 12:30 a.m., to shade the lights and also regulates their electric signs.

The feature which would have prevented the use of loud-speaking radios and other noise-making machines was eliminated from the golf ordinance and set up as a different measure. The Police and Fire Committee of the Council conducted a public hearing two weeks ago, but has not yet filed a report. The report is expected this week.

IMPROVEMENT PETITIONED

Arthur J. Dole has petitioned the City Council for the improvement of Valley Circle Boulevard between Roscoe street and Santa Susanna Road. It was referred to the City Engineer and the Public Works Committee.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

WHEN YOUR BACK GOES BACK ON YOU

A surprisingly large number of people go to doctors for treatment of backache and are unaware of any other trouble, but all too aware of that distressing pain in the back.

The cure of backache would undoubtedly be simple if only the back was involved, but the back is intimately connected with most of the vital organs. Any trouble with the back may affect the heart, lungs, stomach, kidneys, nervous system, or any of the pelvic organs, such as the colon or uterus, or, trouble in these organs may affect the back by reflex pains.

The usual form of backache in the lower back is caused by a displacement or a congestion of some of the pelvic organs. This displacement will cause a persistent dragging down pain in the lower back because the sagging organs are pulling on ligaments which are attached to the spine. The congestion causes a pressure on delicate nerve centers which produce a referred pain to the back.

Bladder inflammation causes a large percentage of backaches in the small of the back. Inflammation in the uterus or prostate will often cause a reflex pain in the lower back resembling lumbago. Then there are strains from heavy lifting also producing an ache in the lower back, as with long-continued stooping, such as working in the garden. Sudden strains may cause an injury to the muscles or nerves of the back. Any aching in the back may be relieved by application of heat from hot towels wrung out of hot water, or through the use of a high candle-power therapeutic lamp, the electric pad, hot sitz baths, or hot shower. Kidney plaster or liniment may be used as a counter-irritant in addition to the heat. Massage may be employed, as the regular stroking relaxes the muscles and eases the pain.

If spinal lesions exist it is advisable to take osteopathic or chiropractic treatments and supplement these with graduated exercise for strengthening the back muscles.

If the backache is caused by a referred pain, it is necessary to correct the congestion or inflammation which is causing the pain.

Whenever backache occurs frequently, a toxic blood stream and enervation are conditions which must be considered contributing causes. When these are corrected, the backache often disappears with no specific treatment. The most effective method of overcoming toxemia is the fast with the drinking of sufficient water to wash out the toxins. This should be followed by a diet which gives the blood plenty of material for building new cells. To overcome the enervation the patient needs to take plenty of rest and he should avoid weakening habits, such as too much excitement, worry, fear or nervous tension. People often have backaches only when they are tired, thus their backaches appear only after a strenuous day of shopping. They should make every effort to build up their nerves to normal and they will find that in many cases this alone will prevent their backaches.

JEALOUSY OF NEW BABY CREATES UNHAPPY SITUATION

By preparing the older child for the advent of the new baby, the wise mother forestalls his jealousy. To effectively dispose of any cause for jealousy, she promotes the attitude that this new baby is to be his brother, someone to love and someone to play with and help care for. Unless some preparatory step has been taken the older child is very likely to show evidences of resentment against this interloper in the family. He tries to hurt the baby. He develops into a crybaby and a whiner who demands constant attention from his mother.

The whole situation would improve if the mother kept firmly in mind that the older child still needs the same kind of attentive affection which he had before the younger baby arrived. The newcomer in the family turns the older one, even if only two years older, into a big boy who should be able to shift for himself. Mother's care is centered on the baby. The eyes of mother and the whole family are fixed upon this new and interesting member. What happens to the older child is so obvious and typical that we always wonder at the mothers who fail to understand it.

EVIDENCES OF JEALOUSY

We have a leaflet on "Jealousy" which is helpful in both preventing this state and dispelling it after its appearance. Any reader may obtain it by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with each request to "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

With the usual bewilderment Mrs. R. W. describes jealousy in her older child. "I cannot understand my older boy. He is 3 and his brother is 18 months old. If I ask him to close the door for me he does not answer or close the door. But if the younger boy runs to do it he throws himself on the floor and cries terribly. At first I let him cry, then I spanked him. Neither method helped. He gets things he should not have and when I explain and take them away he cries. He will not share his toys with other children and when his brother is playing quietly, takes his toys from him."

UNHAPPY SITUATION DEVELOPING

You are not conscious of it, but you are displaying partiality toward the younger child. You are holding him up as a model and the older boy is as aware of it as I am.

When the older boy is requested to help you, do not let the younger one carry out the request. Wait patiently and expectantly, repeating your request if necessary, until the older one fulfills it. Next time ask the younger boy and let each have his turn. Your present course develops smugness in the younger—"See how nicely he waits on mother"—and bitter unhappiness and jealousy in the older. At three years you can expect neither unselfishness nor anything but curiosity about the possessions in the home.

Our leaflets, "Quarreling" and "The Touching and Curious Period," will help you deal with these problems. These are available to any reader. Please inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request and send it to "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

If you had no younger child you would see this 3-year-old in his rightful proportions, hardly out of the baby stage. Now, because you have a younger child, you are demanding adult virtues of him.

Mrs. O. O. B. I am so sorry I cannot answer your questions in the paper. This department carries daily articles on the desirable kind of treatment of children and evidently your friend has in no way profited by it. I think it a waste of time to answer questions sent me by indignant friends of any parent. Until the parent himself thinks he needs advice, nothing anyone can say is going to be heeded. Chances are he wouldn't even read it. Why not be courageous enough to tell him yourself what you think of his methods instead of doing it in this roundabout way?

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

JIMMY SKUNK RETURNS EARLY

When you've been trying to be good,
How sad to be misunderstood.
—Black Pussy.

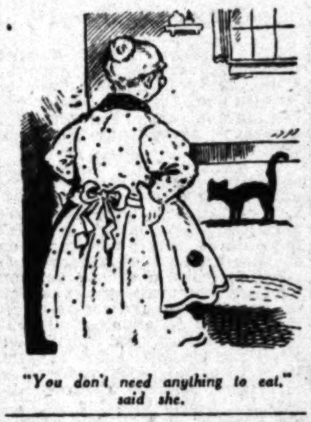
It was just before daylight that Jimmy Skunk yawned, stretched, wondered for a moment where he was, remembered, and then crept out of Black Pussy's comfortable bed in Farmer Brown's shed. He first went over to the two dishes where the liver and milk had been the night before. He found nothing there and then walked out through the little round doorway which had been provided for Black Pussy. Once outside, Jimmy shuffled along home. He was feeling very comfortable and in good humor.

It was some time after daylight, in fact, it was after breakfast time, that Black Pussy ventured out from her hiding place in the barn and went to the kitchen door and begged to be admitted. She took great pains to keep away from the shed as much as possible. Once in the kitchen, she rubbed against Mother Brown and meowed, teasing for breakfast. Mother Brown went to the back shed and looked out. An empty plate and an empty saucer were there.

"You don't need anything to eat," she said. "A cat who could get away with all that liver and milk that I left out there for you last night, certainly cannot be hungry now."

"Meow!" said Black Pussy, and kept right on teasing. However, she teased in vain. Mother Brown simply wouldn't give her any more food, explaining that she didn't want to overfeed her and so make her sick.

Poor Black Pussy! She really was hungry. Of course, there was no way for Mother Brown to know that any one else had eaten up that good meal that she had placed out in that shed the night before. She knew that Bowser the Hound had been out in his little house, chained, lest he take it into his head to go hunting Reddy Fox. She knew that Flip the Terrier had been shut up in the kitchen all night. The liver and milk were gone, so, of course, Black Pussy must have eaten them. Finally Black Pussy gave up teasing and went out to the barn to try to catch a mouse. She wasn't at all a happy cat.



"You don't need anything to eat," said she.

Now, Jimmy Skunk is one of those who believes in making the most of opportunities. He believes in getting the thing that he can get easiest. Late that afternoon, just about the time jolly, round, red Mr. Sun was getting ready to go to bed behind the Purple Hills, Jimmy awoke. As usual, the first thing he thought of was his stomach. I mean by that, that the first thing he thought of was something to eat. He remembered the feast he had had the night before up in the shed at Farmer Brown's house.

"Perhaps," said Jimmy to himself, "there'll be another feast there. It is a lot easier to get a dinner like that than it is to go hunt for it. I believe I'll go up there early. Somebody else might get that dinner before I do."

So it was just dusk when Jimmy Skunk ambled across the yard to Black Pussy's hole in the shed. It just happened that no one saw him. He walked right through without hesitating. The door from the kitchen was open. There were very pleasant odors coming from it. Had not Jimmy already been hungry, the smell of those good things would have made him hungry. But there was no plate of liver and no saucer of milk out in that shed. Jimmy was disappointed. He was undecided just what to do. Finally he decided to wait a while and see what would happen.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

FIG PUDDING

Chop one pound of dried figs fine, and add to them two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs, one cupful of finely ground suet, and mix thoroughly. Sift one cupful of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, rubbing between the hands, to thoroughly mix the flour and figs, add two teaspoonfuls of grated lemon rind, and stir in two well beaten eggs, add sufficient milk to hold the mixture together, about one and one-half cupfuls. Place in an oiled and floured mold, do not fill more than three-quarters full, place the mold on a rack, in a kettle of boiling water, cover and allow to steam for an hour and a half then serve with a sweet sauce.

ARTICHOKES AU GRATIN

Remove the outside leaves, cut off the tops about half way and boil the artichokes until tender, then remove the tender leaves, take out the choke, and cut the bottoms in small pieces. Combine the soft leaves with the bottom, butter individual shirred egg dishes, place a spoonful of cream sauce in the bottom of each dish, then place a layer of the artichokes in this, seasoning with salt and white pepper, cover with the cream sauce, sprinkle with grated cheese, place a small piece of butter on top of each, and bake in the oven until brown.

SWEET PICKLED QUINCES

With a soft cloth, wipe the fuzz from thirty-six sound quinces, peel, core and cut them in quarters, place them in preserving kettles and just cover them with water and boil slowly until they can be pierced with a toothpick. Remove the quinces, place them in a colander, and allow to drain, place in a kettle two quarts of vinegar, three pounds of sugar, two ounces of whole cloves, two ounces of stick cinnamon, and three thinly sliced lemons. Boil for ten minutes, skimming carefully, add the quinces, and allow to boil slowly for five minutes, remove the quinces again, and add to the syrup a small piece of green ginger, and boil until reduced one-quarter. Place the quinces in jars, pour over them the syrup and seal.

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

Two and a half squares of unsweetened chocolate, chopped fine, one cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour, one-fourth cupful of sugar, the yolks of three eggs, and the whites of three eggs, place the milk in the double boiler, add the chocolate to it, and when melted beat with an egg beater for one minute or until the mixture is well blended. Blend the flour and butter together, and add it slowly to the chocolate, stirring constantly until thick. Remove from the fire, beat the yolks of the eggs until creamy, gradually beating in the sugar, add them to the chocolate, and beat well until cool, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, pour into a well oiled baking dish, place in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven for fifty minutes, or until the souffle is firm in the center.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Soiled Towels

Soiled towels are not attractive when hanging in the pantry. Wash them out after each meal, adding a little ammonia to the soapsuds in which you wash them. Your towels will stay sweet and clean.

Good Cheese

The color of cheese is not the thing to go by, as rich yellow may have been induced by coal tar or other coloring matter. Judge rather by its texture. Good cheese is reasonably solid, not too greasy and cuts grainy rather than waxy.

SCHOOL OF AIR BEGINS TODAY

Second Semester to Open at 11:30 a.m. Over KHJ

First Season Report Gives Some Interesting Data

Varied Offerings Scheduled by Broadcasters Here

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. World-wide News at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Did you ever sit at your desk in school and draw a terrible looking picture of your teacher? You know, the kind with spindly legs and a face that would stop a clock? Well, you can do it now without getting your knuckles rapped—the Columbia Broadcasting System, through KHJ, brings to you this morning the American School of the Air—time, 11:30.

This is its second season and it is interesting to note the first semester of the School of the Air revealed that children like history better than literature or musical programs; that dramatization is the type of presentation overwhelmingly preferred; that orchestra music is favored—and that all children like music. Twenty-six major events of American history have been dramatized and will be presented on the Monday programs. Every Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. the first part of the program will be devoted to vocational guidance, the second part to the discussion of current events.

They do not riddle the lessons with blatant advertising, which assures us that monologues on the supposed virtues of Whoozis Pain Killer or such commodities will be conspicuous by their absence.

Credit for this series of educational programs goes to its sponsor—the Grigsby-Grunow Company.

So get in line and march in—KHJ at 11:30 this morning.

They tell us that—

Vern Trimple, one of KMTR's Three Handymen, had an ironclad excuse for ducking a broadcast recently—a baby boy arrived at his house.

"Miniature Golf and Castor Oil"—KNX at 8:30 o'clock tonight—it is announced as a hilarious comedy.

Beautiful violin music? Don Amaizo, a Columbia feature, KHJ at 7:30 tonight—also on KNX. His true identity remains a mystery.

Chain features have come from submarines, airplanes, the ocean and invalid beds. Now a high-class half-hour with a master cracksman in a penitentiary is in order.

Blue? KHJ's Blue Monday Jamboree—8 to 10 tonight—it's good to dial a few laughs in the race of life.

"K. O. Riley, 3:45 p.m."—says KFWB. Guess what it is and then dial. Sounds like a one-man fight.

Spanish music and song? Los Caballeros—Mildred Loughlin, soloist—KFI at 7:30 tonight. Passionate and tender Latin folk songs.

Good chain spots? NBC's Empire Builders, over KECA at 7:30 tonight. She Shell program over KFI at 8 p.m.

"The music that ushered in the twentieth century"—KFI at 9:30 tonight. Soloists, Gretchen Garrett, Blanche Crossman, Everton Stidham.

The old stand-by—organ music, Wade Hamilton, KFWB, 11 p.m.—KNX at 12 noon; KTM, 10 to 11 tonight while you read; Wesley Tourtellotte, KHJ from 12 to 1 midnight.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (Exclusive) Shoes keep step with the mode. They range from sports to dress models, as do the newest costumes, and it is as incorrect to wear an afternoon slipper with tweeds as it is to wear tweeds to a reception. To meet these distinctions variety is great, but in subtle ways, for the best shoes, we feel, are simple. Paris confirms this. The shoe is one of the most important accessory parts of any costume. It may, badly chosen, made or fitted, ruin a dress. A beautiful shoe may give it just the right note. But it must not dominate an ensemble. Its place is to conform in such a way as to add by its perfect rightness to the effect of the whole. Fussy trimming, "busy detail" is in general unbecoming as well as far from smart. If you select a shoe with any trimming, decide that the design of the shoe is aided, not impaired, by the details.

Dance of the Hours

If you are a person who wears sport clothes or woolens in the mornings, you will probably choose a tailored oxford or spectator sports pump for street year. The large figured reptile skins, such as alligator, are particularly suitable for such a shoe. Alligator is sturdy yet supple and a pretty shade for the tweed colorings. Used alone or in combination with leather, for example Russia calf, it is classic.

For luncheon or with afternoon clothes the water snake and other small scaled skins are charming. Java lizard has an especially attractive marking, small whitish circles set at regular intervals. This skin, with its gray tone goes well with the dressy black leathers. A new type of afternoon model which is having a success is the "demi-oxford" or two eyelet pump. This in a pump with a narrow lacing piece set on the front, generally fastened with a silk cord with a simple but novel tip. Even dressier is the one eyelet tie, which has a grosgrain bow tied in the front and playing an important part in the scheme of the shoe.

Sandals remain important for evening. They are not only becoming to many feet, but exceedingly comfortable for dancing. Satin is an important evening fabric, supplementing many of the new gowns, and dyeing ideally. There is also some moire. The brocades are noteworthy as adjuncts to lame gowns. Gold and silver kid are good for trimming though not on the whole, for entire evening slippers. Metal kid pipes edges in straight lines or is appliqued in delicate scallops. Jeweled buckles seem to be returning, steel daytime ones always are worn by certain well-dressed women on patent-leather pumps. It is a question whether or not they will catch and tear the hems of long gowns. One of the leading New York jewelers is making very beautiful clips to be worn either at the front of the slipper or clipped on the outer side. This latter placement would seem impractical as it would catch the stockings when your feet are crossed, but worn on the front of the shoe they are exceedingly lovely.

A Nickel Cleaner

A splendid cleaner for nickel fixtures can be made at home by taking equal parts of liquid ammonia and alcohol and stirring in whiting to the consistency of a paste. Apply with a cloth, leaving the tarnished parts covered with the cream until it dries. When dry, polish with a soft cloth.

Through the dense jungle the lions had worn a tunnel-like path to their lair. As Sabor reached the clearing at its end, she saw the object of her fear and hatred. From the gentle mother, she became a terrifying creature of destruction, her brain obsessed by a single thought—to kill!

MEN—
Take a Tip From the Increase of Bank and Building and Loan Accounts!

Every time the nation takes a wallop on its economic chin, up go the savings accounts and the building and loan accounts. People start buying bonds. Conservatism grips the investors' mind.

That's why the Clark Plan looks so good to the public. Here they can build themselves an income trust estate on a basis of unusually attractive yield from earned profits, and literally employ 17 successful Los Angeles business men to manage their financial affairs for them without compensation until more than 6% per year is earned. Even then, the builders of Clark Plan Trust Estate get 65% of the additional net.

No stocks; no bonds. Better than either. It's like soliciting bank business to explain to people the many advantages of a Clark Plan Income Trust Estate. And ANY MAN WILLING TO WORK AS WE INSTRUCT HIM CAN POINT HIS WAY TO INDEPENDENCE UNDER THE CLARK PLAN BANNER. HE NEEDS NO TOOLS OTHER THAN INTELLIGENT COMPREHENSION AND ACTIVE INDUSTRY.

Our organization numbers about 250 people. More are enlisting every day. Instruction is thorough, but brief; co-operation is hearty.

COURT DECIDES INSURANCE SUIT

Plaintiffs Given Judgment in Damage Award

Transfer of Liability Held Made by Agent

Neglect to Notify Principal Not Invalidatory

Transfer of liability insurance is governed entirely by the provisions of the policy, Superior Judge Yankwich has ruled in an opinion just filed. If a provision specifies that the home office's written approval must first be obtained, the transfer is not valid without such approval. However, if a local insurance agent writes out an assignment and fails to forward the policy to the home office for months and a loss occurs in the interim, the insurance company will be estopped to deny its liability.

These principles were laid down in deciding two suits. A. F. Bridges sought to recover from the Union Automobile Insurance Company the sum of $1800 he paid on a judgment recovered by Gail S. and Loudon Darley against him and the Valley Rock Products Company.

STORY OF CASE

The Darleys sought to recover a balance of $6950 due on a judgment recovered against the Valley Rock Products Company. The judgment was awarded the Darleys on February 14, 1928, on account of injuries received by Mrs. Darley in an accident August 26, 1926. The court found that one of the truck company's drivers was negligent.

It was the object of the suit before Judge Yankwich to hold the insurance company responsible for the loss, by reason of a policy issued August 22, 1925, to E. P. Smith. He sold his business to the rock company, retaining title in the trucks until they were paid for. On May 1, 1926, he went to the insurance company's San Fernando agent, Charles H. Temple, and signed what purported to be an assignment of policy to the rock company.

After the Darleys won judgment the insurance company denied liability on the ground that the policy never had been transferred.

ASSIGNMENT CLAUSE

This contention was based on the policy provision that no assignment should be binding until accepted by the home office. The insurance company maintained that its agent had no authority to make an assignment and that in this case he had not done so but merely witnessed Smith's signature.

Judge Yankwich decided in favor of Bridges and the Darleys for the full amount sought. While agreeing with the insurance company's contention that the policy could not be assigned without the company's assent, the judge held that because of its agent's neglect the company is estopped to deny liability.

Noted Visitor's Lapse Forgiven

Distinguished visitors to Los Angeles should at least be given time to familiarize themselves with local traffic rules before being fined for minor violations, Municipal Judge Valentine declared in dismissing a complaint against Wilfred Pelletier, Metropolitan Opera conductor and a guest conductor of the Los Angeles Grand Opera during the recent season.

Pelletier was charged with passing another automobile on the right on the Roosevelt Highway near Malibu, on the 16th inst.

Late Forestry Head Honored

Sentiment is attached to the renaming of Pine Flats, twenty miles east and north of Mount Wilson, notice of which has just been received by Supervisor Mendenhall of Angeles National Forest. Mr. Mendenhall received word from the National Geographic Board that Pine Flats has been renamed as Charlton Flats in memory of R. H. Charlton, who for twenty years, from 1905 to 1925, was supervisor of Angeles Forest.

Mr. Charlton, who had a remarkable career in the government forestry service was injured in an automobile accident in Tennessee and died on February 13, last, at Hot Springs, Ark.

CHAMBER GIVES ELECTION VIEWS

Seventeen Propositions Get Board's Approval

Rejection of Eight Advised on City's Voters

Neutral Stand Adopted on Daylight Saving

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce urges citizens to vote against eight of the State propositions which will appear on the ballot in the general election on Tuesday, November 4, next. The board asks citizens to take affirmative action on seventeen others.

The only one of the twenty-six proposed propositions on which the board takes a neutral stand is the daylight saving measure, which is characterized by the board as "controversial and must be decided by the individual himself."

Following is the complete list of proposed propositions and the recommendations of the board concerning each of them:

NO. 1—Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1929. APPROVED. The voters have heretofore approved a total of $30,000,000 of bonds to be issued by the State, the proceeds from which have been used for the purchase of homes and farms for California War Veterans. The present measure is a further issue of $20,000,000, which would make a total of $50,000,000. The bonds heretofore issued have all been expended for homes and farms under careful supervision; and through the accumulation of interest and fees the present invested capital and surplus is in excess of $35,000,000. Sinking fund requirements have been taken care of and delinquencies held at a minimum percentage.

NO. 2—Apportioning State Taxes to Firemen's Funds. DISAPPROVED. This would provide a pension system for firemen throughout the State, to be paid out of one-half of State taxes on premiums of fire insurance companies. The recommendation is that such pension system should be set up and taken care of locally where the employees are employed and not as a State proposition.

NO. 3—Compensation of State Executive Officers. APPROVED. The Constitution at present provides for stated salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Controller, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction. The proposed amendment would leave to the Legislature the right to increase or decrease salaries of all but the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, which would remain as at present, which seems to be the proper method rather than to have salaries covered by constitutional provision. The amendment would also authorize the Legislature to abolish, if so desired, the office of Surveyor-General.

NO. 4—Taxation on Street Railways. APPROVED. Under the present Constitution electric railways are charged a tax at the rate of 5½ per cent of their gross receipts, whereas other railways are taxed [illegible] per cent. It seems only fair that electric railroads should be taxed on the same basis as other railroads in view of the fact that they are in competition with busses and automobiles for the carrying of passengers and freight.

NO. 5—State Employees Retirement [illegible]. OPPOSED. This amendment would provide for a system of pension for State employees up to salaries of [illegible] per year. The act was approved by the last Legislature and it is up to the people for an expression of their confidence in the Legislature to provide a system to cover such pensions. The Legislature now has the right to inaugurate a pension system if it so desires. It is claimed that there are many State employees too old to be efficient and it would be inhuman to discharge them. The pension system would provide for their removal without making them burdens on society. There is nothing in the amendment compelling the Legislature to pass any definite pension system, and once such a system were adopted it would require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature at a subsequent session to change the act. The board, while it recognizes the meritorious intentions of the framers of this measure, feels that it is unsatisfactory in its present indefinite form.

No. 6—Taxation of toll bridges acquired by the State. OPPOSED. Provides that toll-bridge property acquired by the State shall continue to be subject to taxes by the county or political subdivision in which it is located, during its franchise life, if the State shall continue to collect tolls, but whenever collection of tolls shall cease it shall be exempt from taxes. This was opposed on the ground that the State should not be in the toll-bridge business; such bridges are necessarily a part of our State highway system and if the State acquires such property the State should not have to pay taxes to a subdivision of the State.

No. 7—Daylight Saving Act. A neutral position was taken. The board of directors has discussed this several times, but feels that it is a peculiarly individual question and one which affects the individual principally from point of view of personal equation. It is controversial and must be decided by the individual himself.

No. 8—Exempting hospitals and sanitariums from taxation. APPROVED. Provides for the exemption from taxation, property and income of any charitable or other hospital or sanatorium not organized or conducted for private profit when the property and income are used exclusively for hospital or sanatorium purposes. It was argued in opposition to the measure that there could be abuses of such a measure, but it was felt that the exemption of certain hospitals should be considered and that the taxing bodies of the State and political subdivision could be relied upon to determine whether or not such institutions were being operated for profit.

No. 9—Legalizing San Francisco Harbor Improvement Act. APPROVED. Provides for the issue of $10,000,000 of State bonds for the improvement of San Francisco Harbor, the interest and redemption fund to be paid from the earnings of the harbor. This harbor is owned by the people of the State and not by San Francisco, and must derive its investment funds from the State. It has heretofore received the approval of the people of the State and has proved its ability to pay all interest charges and redemption of bonds. The money is to be used for the construction of piers, berths and other harbor improvements similar in equipment of those of our Los Angeles Harbor. It is to the interest of shippers out of Los Angeles Harbor that an adequate terminus in the north be properly maintained. These improvements have never cost the taxpayer of the State a cent.

No. 10—Usury Law—Initiative Petition. OPPOSED. This amendment would deprive corporations of the right to plead usury. It would also eliminate the present provision affixing a maximum charge upon loans for examination, appraisal, commissions and renewals. It would permit an amount that might be paid or charged upon the exercise of an option by the borrower if he wished to pay the indebtedness in whole or in part before maturity. Credit would not be allowed for interest prepaid, if maturity of a loan is accelerated by default.

The board of directors felt that the amendment would not work to the best interest of all concerned and therefore OPPOSED IT.

No. 19—Judiciary qualification. OPPOSED. Provides, first, that judges of Supreme Courts and other courts may not practice law in or out of court while in office. Second, provides that a Superior Court judge may be eligible to appointment or election to public office during the term to which he has been elected. The first provision is undoubtedly proper, but it is felt that the second provision would place a judge in a biased position; and since the two provisions are a part of the measure it was felt that the measure should be rejected.

No. 20—Governor's Council. APPROVED. The Governor has a Council of all his department heads who meet in various parts of the State in public session to make their reports and hear recommendations from anyone interested in any phase of the State's development. All department heads are not now included in this Council. This amendment would authorize the inclusion of other departments as the Legislature might provide. It is apparently a reasonable request and would bring department heads closer to the people.

No. 21—Reimbursement to counties from losses from State taxes. APPROVED. Provides that counties shall have reimbursement from the unappropriated money in the State Treasury for their net losses in revenues sustained during the previous biennium on account of withdrawal from local taxation of property taxed for State purposes; provided that if such unappropriated balance in the State Treasury shall be reduced to $10,000,000 no allocation of such funds shall be made to the county. Unquestionably many counties of the State are handicapped because of the operative property within the county being taxed for State purposes only, leaving the county expenses to be met by local taxation, which in many instances is not sufficient.

The board of directors believes that this amendment will, to a large extent, aid the counties which are so handicapped and need this financial assistance. The Department of Finance of the State always has the right to decide how this loss shall be determined.

No. 22—Municipal Charter Amendments. APPROVED. Would permit the submission of charter amendments to the voters at either a general election or a special election eliminating the present requirement of submitting amendments only during six months preceding next session of the Legislature. The amendment would permit the voters of the city to vote on charter amendments whenever they desire.

No. 23—Constitutional Convention. OPPOSED. The method provided for delegates to such a convention under present apportionment regulations would not be in the interest of Southern California. While it is claimed that the Constitution is now a catch-all for legislative enactments it is felt that there should be a definite basis of representation at the convention if Southern California is to get its just rights under a new Constitution.

No. 24—Absence of judicial officers from the State. APPROVED. Authorizes the Legislature to change the number of Superior Court judges. Prohibits the Legislature from granting leave of absence to any judicial officer and any such officer who absents himself from the State more than sixty consecutive days forfeits his office, but his absence may be extended by the Governor. Also authorizes the Legislature to increase or diminish the number of Superior Court judges, provided such reduction shall not affect any elected judge. There seems to be no grounds for opposing this measure.

No. 25—Suffrage or Absent Voter Act. OPPOSED. First, provides that forty days residence in a precinct instead of thirty days may be a qualification to vote. Second, authorizes the Legislature to provide for voting by those absent on account of physical disability. No objection to the first provision, but the committee believes the second provision does not add anything to our Constitution.

No. 26—Sunday Closing Law. OPPOSED. This is a recognized blue law which would make it unlawful for anyone, with certain exceptions, to conduct business on Sunday. It would prevent manufacturers opening their plants in an emergency and would probably set up on our Constitution a law that could not be effectively enforced. The opinion is that matters of this kind should be settled among those affected and not burden the Constitution with this kind of legislation.

JURY-DISTRACTING TEXTS IN COURTS PAINTED OUT

The golden texts, products of the greatest legal minds in history, painted on the walls of courtrooms in the Hall of Justice four years ago, yesterday were painted out.

It has been found that juries which are supposed to be listening to the testimony of cases, are more interested in reading the mottoes than in hearing the testimony. A conference between Judges Wood, Schauer, Crawford, McComb, Hardy, Fricke and Aggeler, resulted in an unanimous request that the mottoes be removed.

As a result the painters moved into the courtrooms and painted out the gilded words scrolled on the walls. In their place will be substituted simple architectural scrolls which are guaranteed not to be of such a startling nature that jurors will forget their duty.

PLEADINGS IN WINE CASE DUE TODAY

Four Defendants to Have Hearing on Charges of Liquor Conspiracy

Pleas of four defendants in the so-called "wine-spiking" case, involving the California Vineyard Company and nine officers and employees of the concern, are to be heard today by United States District Judge James. The company and the nine persons are accused of conspnracy to violate the national prohibition act on a large scale.

The four to appear today for entry of pleas are A. G. Frericks, local warehouse manager; J. W. Loweberg, a salesman; Thomas Stone, sales manager, and C. S. Payne, a salesman. Carl A. Futter, president of the company, and several other officers of the company are now in Chicago, where they are awaiting hearing on removal to Los Angeles for trial. Other defendants are William J. Vaughn, former president of the company; Calvin George, secretary; M. J. Futter- vice-president, and Zeno C. Futter, treasurer, all of Chicago.

According to Investigator Smith of the Prohibition Bureau, the group is accused of carrying on a nation-wide campaign to sell concentrated grape syrup, together with frozen grape juice and yeast, and to "process" the lot in order to give a wine of a high content of alcohol. The company maintains offices in Chicago and Los Angeles and a warehouse in Los Angeles, it is reported.

OF THE COMMUNITY CHEST

ERNEST A. BECKER, Jr., SAYS:

"The Community Chest is an institution which should have the whole-hearted support of every citizen of Los Angeles. It has been conclusively proved that this method of meeting the problems of the unfortunate and poor of a large city is the most efficient that has yet been devised. Yet because it is efficient does not imply that it is a soulless organization functioning in a machine-like way. Waste and lost motion have been eliminated to the end that a larger percentage of every dollar donated reaches the poor and needy than was ever before possible under the old system of indiscriminate giving.

"We are now entering an era of increased business activity. Let us fight the foes of prosperity, unemployment, disease and unrest by a generous donation to prosperity insurance — the Community Chest."
